VOLUMINOUS WRAP OF PONY SKIN CLOTH.

The shaping of this coat is such that, while voluminous, there is no suggestion of bulkiness in its rippling skirt folds or the full Japanese sleeves. The material is one of the finest of fur cloth. Wide bands of chenille and silk band outline the arm's-eye and the fronts, while black and white silk passementerie trace the inside fronts, lined with white satin. The sleeves are three-quarters length and finished with a full of heavy lace.

DEBUTANTE'S MOURNING.

Mourning costume and veiled hat worn by a debutante for a parent. The dress, a simple creation of chiffon with a touch of dead black applique in the yoke is the dressiest gown that she may affect during the first period of mourning. The full skirt is shirred at the waistline to the simple bodice. Clusters of shirring break the long straight lines of the skirt above and below the knees, and the sleeves and blouse are shirred. The hat is a becoming shape of black corded silk bound with crepe and trimmed with a huge bow of the same. A flat pleated veil hangs from the right bandeau to well below the hips.

A great many people brighten their polished floors by wiping them, once or twice a month, with a cloth dipped in milk.

A better way is to use Ivory Soap and luke-warm water. Apply with a soft cloth. Use very little water. Wipe dry with another soft cloth. By following this method, you clean your floors as well as brighten them.

In Women's World.

Mrs. Hobart Chatfield-Taylor is one of the most interesting women in Chicago, says: It is conceded on all sides that she might take up the reins when Mrs. Palmer lets them fall. She is one of the beauties among Chicago society women, with a beauty which lies more in poise and bearing than in mere facial feature. She is tall and finely modeled, with tastes which are artistic and artistic. Several years ago she started Chicago by establishing "The Rose Blumery"—she was Rose Farwell before her marriage—which is housed in the Fine Arts building now, and from that shop come forth many really good examples of the hand-bound book. Hobart Chatfield-Taylor is himself a writer, the author of some society novels, and of one serious work, only recently issued, concerning Mollers. The Chatfield-Taylors live in Lake Forest, "the

WHY FLANNELS SHRINK.

The following things account for the shrinking of woolen clothes:

- 1—Soap has been rubbed on them instead of suds.
- 2—They have been washed or rinsed in water too hot or too cold.
- 3—They have been allowed to lie about wet, instead of being hung up to dry.
- 4—They have been dried too slowly.
- 5—They have been dried so close to an open fire that they steamed.
- 6—They have been ironed while wet with a very hot iron.

RECIPE FOR SOAP JELLY.

To make good soap jelly, take as much soap as will be required, and cut it down to shreds, says the Delineator. Put it into a saucepan, cover it with hot or cold water, and let the soap melt slowly, even the fire until it is quite clear and without lumps.

Do not fill the saucepan too full, as soap is much inclined to boil over. The soap may be put into a fat instead of a saucepan and melted in the oven. Any scraps of soap may be used up to this way. It is better to make soap jelly fresh each week, as it loses its strength if kept many days.

Remember that the odor and taste of soap will cling very tenaciously to anything with which it comes in contact, so that the knife and board on which it was cut should be washed thoroughly to be kept for that purpose only.

EVAPORATED APPLES MAKE GOOD JELLY.

If the supply of preserves, etc., runs short during the winter, a clear, beautiful jelly may be made from evaporated apples, says the Delineator for January. Take two pounds of the fruit; pick it over, wash it carefully, and put it on to boil with enough water to cover. Let it cook until done, adding a little hot water from time to time as may be necessary; then strain, and stir in the sugar which must previously have been heated in the oven. The proportions are two-thirds of a cupful of sugar to each cupful of liquid. When the sugar has become thoroughly dissolved, strain again, and pour into glasses to harden. This jelly is equal to that made from the fresh fruit.
