In a Dilemma.-It is related that a member of the grand jury applied for release from his official duties last week, claiming that he had an offer of employment at Bingham, which he was anxious to avail himself of; and as he couldn't serve two masters at the same time, naturally preferred the one that paid the best and gave promise of the longest term. Of course his application was denied, and but for the fact that the court itself occupied and still occupies a position as peculiar as that of the juror, the denial would have been altogether proper; but the applicant for release doubtless regards it as heldg several removes from a loke when he can't get anything from those who detain him, and they won't let him go to a place where the funds are always ready-especially in are grading up with Kentucky whip, view of the fact that the citizen cannot and Norman stallions, and hope for live on loyalty and love, and butchers, bakers and tailors won't try to.

Wasatch County .- From President A. Hatch, of the Wasatch Stake, we learn that the crops in that region are heavier this year than ever before, and the grain of excellent quality, as there bard, Bartlett, Spencer & Co., of Chic has been no frost yet to injure it. The farmers find themselves under the necessity of building more granaries in which to store away the unusual quantity of their cereal products, and the Co-operative Store and Grist Mill Co., have their granaries filled to overflowing: indeed the latter have on hand 5,000 bushels of wheat of last year's crop yet.

Horses, horned stock and sheep in that region have done unusually well this year. There are two companies of Heber City residents who have their stock on White River, east of Green River, in Colorado, where they have a very fine range and the animals thrive well, but the market for cattle in that region has declined considerably of late, so that there is not so much encouragement for stock-growers as there has been. They have a very fine band of horses out there, which they big results.

The people of Heber City have organized a company with a view to con. panied by legal assistance, when it is
