AMERICAN DUCHESS TO SELL ESTATE.

The Duke and Duchess of Manchester are trying to sell or let the famous Kylemore estate at Conemara, Ireland. The duchess' father, Eugene Zimmerman of Cincinnati, had thought the estate might be made self-supporting by developing the marble and slate quarries on it. But he concluded that the cost of transporting the output would be too great and, in consequence, it is said he has refused to spend any more money on it's upkeep. It is not unlikely that the beautiful castle and grounds may be rented by the king of Spain or purchased outright by James Henry Smith, the American millionaire.

KING SEEKS REVENGE ON CHILD.

It is announced in Berlin that the baby Princess, Monica Pia, the three-year-old daughter of Countess Montignoso, formerly Crown Princess Louise of Saxony, will not be taken to the Saxon court. It was arranged by the divorce settlement between Princess Louise and her husband, who is now king of Saxony, that the mother should retain the child until May, 1906 and then restore her to the then Prince Frederick. "The latter has now decided that Princess Monica shall be reared by a strict Catholic Bavarian family related to the king, and when she is old enough she will be compelled to take the veil of a nun."

The announcement has aroused popular indignation throughout Saxony and the king is bitterly criticized for "visiting the sins of the mother upon her child."

Crown Princess Louise eloped some years ago with the tutor of her children, and her marriage with the crown prince was subsequently dissolved.
