JOHN TAYLOR HAS A BONANZA.

Strikes an Ore Body Assaying Well in Lead and Silver.

MINE LOCATED AT FRISCO.

The Godiva at Tintic Full of Ore—Eagle and Blue Bell Strike—Miscellaneous.

That John Taylor has a bonanza at Frisco, is the word brought to this city today by A. L. Morris, on his return from a week's stay in the southern part of the State. Mr. Taylor is the man who recently sent a small shipment to this city in care of the Horn Silver, and the ones just received indicates the discovery of ore in his property running 17 per cent lead and 35 ounces silver to the ton. The ore was encountered in sinking on the vein from an incline at a depth of 11 feet, and its values bespeak for the mine a most promising future. The Taylor ground is in the San Francisco district, in close proximity to the Martha Washington, on which, Mr. Morris states, the miners are working vigorously with turbish drills, and expect to make a shipment very shortly.

The Horn Silver, that old producer which has just paid a dividend of $20,000, making its total to date the sum of $1,220,000, resumed work yesterday, says Mr. Morris, after a week's holiday. The old mine is looking well and will doubtless remain on the shipping list for a good many years to come. The Horn Silver Tunnel is being quietly developed by its owners, and has a nice streak of ore which goes about thirty ounces silver and twenty-five per cent lead, while on the Washington in the same vicinity, the miners have taken up work in a new place and are now drifting for the upper vein.

In the Beaver Lake district Mr. Morris reports considerable assessment work during the past year, this leaving [illegible] no room for "jumpers." The Skylark, managed by T. D. Everett, has a nice streak of ore in the tunnel which gives promise of increasing in size and rendering the property quite valuable. There is a good feeling in that section over the building of the Utah & Pacific road, which is now within three miles of shipping-place. The foreman of construction, says Mr. Morris, came up yesterday and is now in the city looking for more men.

GODIVA FULL OF ORE.

Pronounced One of the Best Mines in Tintic—Tetro Development.

A gentleman just in from Tintic is authority for the statement that the Godiva mine, about which very little is published, has ore in all its parts, and is as big a property, perhaps, as any within the boundaries of that district. While the mine is among the youngsters of that camp, it has shown wonderful developments of late, and by those who know, is looked upon as a second Grand Central.

The Tetro, says the same gentleman, is a coming bonanza, which, although not yet in possession of the desired ore body, has every indication of making a big strike almost any day. The development of this mine has been peculiar in many respects, as on different occasions they have struck what seemed to be the ore body, but which, however, failed to pan out when put to the necessary test. That it is a good property, however, the gentleman expresses not the least doubt.

Eagle and Blue Bell Strike.

From the Eagle and Blue Bell at Tintic comes the pleasing information that [illegible] a strike from the inside shaft at a depth of 80 feet, the ore body has made its appearance, assays of which give 1.2 ounces gold or a value of $24 to the ton. In developing this property it was not expected that the ore would be encountered at a less depth than 125 feet, and the discovery at this time has greatly encouraged those interested in the property. No drifting will be done yet, however, the company preferring to sink to greater depth before taking up a course of thorough exploration. As a result of the strike, the stock hangs high, a wonderful advance having been made within the past 48 hours.

To Work Saltpeter Claims.

Otto Hudson was busily engaged today preparing articles for the incorporation of what is to be known as the Utah Saltpeter company, with a capital stock of $75,000, divided into 300,000 shares. This company will be composed of men prominent in mining and railroad circles, and will work claims a mile and a half southeast of Mill Creek, at a point a short distance north of Neff's canyon. The claims are looked upon as valuable property and produce from 16 to 38 per cent saltpeter, and it is the intention of the company, when organized, to push work on them and speedily place the product on the market, to satisfy the existing demand.

Have No Use for Mines.

Ralph Guthrie, one of the most active members of the stock exchange, returned last evening from a ten days' sojourn in southern Kansas and Indian Territory, where he visited friends and relatives. He reports business conditions prosperous in that locality. The people, says he, have plenty of money as a result of good crops and stiff prices for cattle and hogs, and, generally speaking, they are imbued with a better feeling than has been manifest in that section for several years. The Kansans have no use for mines or mining stocks, says Mr. Guthrie, preferring to stay with the farm and make husbandry their chief, and in fact, sole occupation. While away Ralph had the pleasure of enjoying a few days' delightful summer weather, immediately followed by a drop of 30 degrees in ten hours. He is glad to be back, as, he says, he was beginning to get stuck on the country.

Daly-West to Resume.

The management of the Daly-West has, the Park Record learns from an unquestionable source, decided to start the mine up with a full force of men at once—that is, within the next week or ten days. In other words, the long-deferred reconciliation between the incorporation and those who refused to go in with their half of the property has been practically adjusted and the meeting to be held on the thirty-first of January will simply be a legal ratification of the agreement which has already been reached.

Mining at Three-Mile.

[Brigham City Bugler.]

Messrs. Crowther and Housley, owners of the promising mines in Three Mile Creek canyon, three miles south of Brigham, are rather elated the past few days over a strike they made in one of their claims. Samples of the ore which run well in silver, copper, lead and a showing of gold, have been sent down for assay, but the returns have not yet been received. Mr. Crowther told a Bugler reporter that this is the best showing they have had from their claims which they have been working for years. They are so much encouraged that they will vigorously prosecute the work all winter.

Big Sale of Utah Mining Stocks.

The Boston Herald reports the sale in that city, in a single day, of 10,000 shares of stock in the Bingham Gold and Copper company, at $5 a share, and adds:

"This beats all records to date, and shows the clamor for anything corporate, when gentlemen of unquestioned reputation are connected with it. There will be placed in the treasury $50,000, together with 10,000 shares of stock. The property is in close proximity with the Highland Boy of the Utah Consolidated."

Enlightening its readers upon the values contained in the property of the Bingham Gold and Copper company, the same journal says:

"The ore averages 16.7 per cent copper, 5 ounces silver and $4.20 gold. The ore in the shaft runs from 6 to 31 per cent copper. A sample of the dump which comprises all the ore from both dumps assayed November 29th last 21.1 per cent copper, 11.7 ounces silver and $16 gold. For organization purposes the board of directors consists of John W. Weeks, J. A. Coram, O. E. Weller, William Doyle and O. P. Posey, the latter gentleman to be the manager."

TODAY ON THE STOCK EXCHANGE.

The Year Opened With a Good Degree of Activity.

STOCKS FAIRLY STRONG.

Eagle and Blue Bell Was a Particular Favorite and Received Royal Recognition.

The opening of another year on the stock exchange, was not the signal for unparalleled activity, but, as a whole, the brokers did well considering circumstances and pounded out a record of 41,600 shares sold, with a selling value of $18,282.74. The day found stocks in fairly good condition, and when the call closed, the market had a good tone and breathed a tendency to increased business in the near future.

Alex took the initiative in the trading and was dealt in at $1.10, with this figure marking the closing bid. Four Aces was the next called upon for transfers and did business at 16 cents, while at the close this price remained, there being many in the pit willing to take it at the figure quoted. Galena stood firm, and was dealt in at 55 and 56½ cents, and Lower Mammoth was in good demand, this security finding ready takers at 48 and 49 cents. In Northern Light there was a fair volume of business around 52 cents, and in other transfers in this class of stocks, Sacramento was handled and gave out 1,100 shares, most of which changed hands below the 50-cent mark.

Bullion-Beck Tunnel, one of the first in the unlisted class, was freely dealt in at 7½ cents, and had a closing bid a trifle below this figure. Dalton gave out 1,000 shares at 2½ cents, after which Dexter responded at $2.25, and Eagle and Blue Bell recorded transfers at a new figure, the stock changing hands between $2.15 and $2.20. The demand for Golden Eagle was partly satisfied between 4¾ and 5 cents, while those after Homestake were forced to pay from 6¾ to 7½ cents for the stock. Joe Bowers Extension was recognized at a weak figure, and Little Pittsburg, Sunbeam, Sea Swan, Star Consolidated, and Tetro, each responded liberally to the trading, transfers being made around the regulation quotations. Joe [illegible], once a popular favorite, had its best bid at 18 cents.

The closing figures were as follows:

A raid on the American Steel and Wire shares resulted in reaching many stop loss orders which forced the common down four points, and the preferred 2½. Supporting orders were distributed at the low level, and a rally ensued of 1¼ and 2 points respectively. The general market sagged steadily, pressure being quite pronounced against the standard stocks and high priced industrials.

The bond market showed a good tone on light trading.
