

IRRIGATIONISTS COMPLETE WORK

Adopt Important Resolution on Administration of Forest Service.

GEO. E. BARSTOW PRESIDENT

Favor Census of Standing Timber and Against Free Sugar—For International Congress.

Albuquerque, N. M., Oct. 2.—The sixteenth national irrigation congress in this city completed its work today with the adoption of the report of the committee on resolutions and the election of officers of the seventeenth congress. The officers-elect are:

President—George I. Barstow of Texas.
Vice President—H. D. Loveland of San Francisco.
Second Vice President—I. D. O'Donnell of Montana.
Secretary—B. A. Fowler of Arizona.
Foreign Secretary—B. McQueen Gray of New Mexico.

Mr. Barstow is a native of Rhode Island, but now resides at Barstow, Texas, where he has constructed extensive irrigation works. Mr. Barstow has been among the foremost workers for those great movements which have come to be known as the conservation of natural resources. He has served as an officer of several of the recent national irrigation congresses. He was president of the first national drainage congress, and attended the president's convention at Washington. He was also one of those who accompanied the president on his trip down the Mississippi in connection with the movement for deep waterways.

HON. GEO. E. BARSTOW.

Special papers remain to be read at tomorrow's session, but the only business of general interest remaining is the selection of the next meeting place. It is conceded that Spokane holds the lead in the contest, and will probably be successful.

The report of the committee on resolutions was adopted without discussion at the morning session.

FOREST SERVICE CRITICS.

After a long contest before the committee, the critics of the forestry service were satisfied with the following: "That it is the sense of this congress that such legislation should be had, in justice to the forest service and claimants to property rights within the national forests, as will provide for a review at the instance of any party affected, by a competent tribunal of controversies relating to homestead entries or forest control or regulation, arising from the interpretation or ruling of the forest service."

"That whenever large tracts of land suitable for agriculture and which are not naturally forested and which are not intended to be made forest, and which are not necessary or proper for the preservation of the forests or the water sheds or water supplies for the people, to which they have been devoted, lie within forest reserve boundary, such tracts should be restored to entry as public lands."

UTILIZATION OF STREAMS.

Another resolution bears upon the utilization of streams for the creating of electric power, and favors the removal of restrictions upon such use.

The resolution: "That the necessary rights of way and rights for construction of reservoirs and other uses of the public lands, for development of electric power, should be encouraged, and that the rights of the public should be secured, and that the power should be granted and allowed upon equal terms with similar rights granted for the direct purpose of irrigation, and that the public should be subject to the ruling of the state, should continue so long as the right to the beneficial use of the water and the power continues under state laws. And no burdensome charges or discriminations should be enacted or imposed as a result of which the development of the investment of capital therein prevented and the cost increased to the consumer."

After recommending the construction of levees and elevations, where needed, drainage works for the reclamation of swamp and overflowed lands and the general conservation of water, through reforestation and other means, the resolution continues:

CENSUS OF STANDING TIMBER.

"That a census of the standing timber in the United States should be authorized by Congress, and that the states should be urged to co-operation with the nation for the preservation and enlargement of our forest resources by adoption of uniform forest laws, and that forestry, irrigation, flood, flood protection, water storage and river regulation and control for navigation and water power should be regarded as one great interconnected subject in all legislative and executive policies."

"That power made available by national irrigation works, when once completed by pumping of other duty, be regarded as appurtenant to the land, and we urge the enactment of laws to this end."

The resolutions give sweeping endorsements to the work of the reclamation service, the forest service and the geological survey, and urge on Congress continued support and increased appropriations for all of these and stone act "to the end that the accumulation of the public lands in the hands of a few great corporations may be arrested; urge a speedy creation of the southern Appalachian and White mountain national forests; ask Congress for an adequate appropriation for the use of the hydrographic division of the geological survey, and for the extension of the practical effects of grazing and lumbering on the supply of water for irrigation and on the erosion of the soil, and that such investigation extend over the entire watersheds, both in and out of the national forests, and that such investigation be prosecuted simultaneously throughout the United States and territories of the arid and semi-arid west."

RESOLUTION ON SUGAR.

A strong resolution against free sugar included also resolutions for the creation of immigration bureaus by the western states and territories; requesting co-operation with the national conservation commission, a congressional committee of the irrigation congress being authorized; urging that the Carey act be made applicable to the territories; endorsing the movement to hold a session of the congress in Washington in 1910, to be known as an international congress on irrigation, and asking appropriations from the state and the federal government for this congress, and authorizing the present congress to appoint a committee of five, to be known as the congressional committee, charged with the duty of urging the recommendations of the organization on the congress.

A separate resolution was adopted providing for the election of a board of governors, consisting of the chairman and four other members of the executive committee and the president and congress, with full authority to act for the committee in all matters in which it has authority under the constitution, and to hold a session of the congress.

INTERNATIONAL CONGRESS.

A report of the special committee appointed at Sacramento, consisting of Clifford Pinchot, F. H. Newell, P. A. Bard of California, P. J. Kiesel of Utah and George I. Barstow of Texas, to investigate the feasibility of holding an international congress on irrigation, recommended the appointment of a committee of five to arrange for the holding of such a congress either in Washington or at the capital of one of the Latin-American republics within the next two or three years, the committee to report to the seventeenth congress.

Mr. Hearst was the donor of several handsome trophies to the industrial exposition, held in connection with the congress, and was given an ovation when he was introduced. Mr. Hearst said:

"My attention has not been directed to water so much lately as it has been to oil—and I have no letters which refer to irrigation congresses."

"This was his only reference to politics, the rest of the speech being devoted to a general discussion of irrigation and its benefits."

Mr. Hilsen was introduced and spoke for a few minutes of the work of the congress, making no reference to politics.

NAT GOODWIN GRANTED AN ABSOLUTE DIVORCE

Reno, Nev., Oct. 2.—Nat C. Goodwin, the noted actor, was granted an absolute divorce from his wife, Jessie Goodwin, known as Maxine Elliott, by Judge Pike on the ground of desertion, today.

There was no semblance of a contest on the part of the attorneys representing Mrs. Goodwin. Mrs. Goodwin's attorneys, A. J. Shores of New York city and Judge Parker of this place, did not even cross examine Goodwin or George, who were the only witnesses. Neither did they offer any testimony on the part of the fair defendant.

The decree of divorce and finding of fact had been prepared and were signed by Judge Pike before the parties interested left the courtroom, making the divorce the shortest divorce case ever heard in the district court, the whole proceeding occupying eleven minutes.

Goodwin gave his testimony in a low voice. He told how his talented wife had deserted him and was unprompted by his attorney, Judge Dodge. He told of having erected a hotel in New York city in 1901 and of being in the hotel business. He prepared apartments for himself and wife, he said, but on Mrs. Goodwin's return from Europe in September she moved into the furniture she wanted to another hotel and refused to share the suite with him. He said he went to her rooms and asked her if she intended living with him and she replied in the negative. Shortly after he left for the west, and built a home at Los Angeles and hoped that his wife would share it with him. He sent his manager, G. O. Weeden, to interview Mrs. Goodwin on the subject, but he reported failure in this. Mrs. Goodwin said according to him, Mrs. Goodwin said that she did not intend to go down there, and Goodwin knew it.

Goodwin stated he had written his wife several times, but never received answers to his letters, except when he asked for his personal effects which would be sent immediately.

In response to a question by Judge Pike, Goodwin said he was 50 years old and that he was the senior of his wife 13 years.

RAPID BUILDING.

Five Room Cottage Put Up, Painted, Plastered in Less Than 12 Hours.

Chicago, Oct. 2.—A dispatch to the Tribune from East St. Louis, Ill., says: The building of a 5-room cottage with a basement, dwelling painted, plastered and ready for occupation in less than 12 hours, is the accomplishment of an East St. Louis contractor.

Before 7 o'clock yesterday the site of the house was a vacant lot with no hint of change to be made in evidence. In an hour and a half the foundations were complete, stone and brick, the latter for chimneys, were unloaded while a basement excavation was being shoveled out. The floor joists on an hour and the interior work brought the house to the ground floor level. The masons during this time ran the roof trusses and the interior wall studs went merrily up.

By noon the roof was well under way and the interior work was completed and ready for lathers, plasterers, plumbers, gas fitters and electricians. Women in the neighborhood served

WAR GAME ON IN EARNEST AT CAMP ATASCADERO

Camp Atascadero, Cal., Oct. 3.—The war game at Camp Atascadero is on in earnest and for a week to come the hills and valleys will echo the bugle calls and tremble with the fire of artillery while 5,000 regular troops engage in skirmish, rout or battle with an imaginary army under the eyes of military umpires.

Yesterday the commanders received orders to march as if San Francisco and Los Angeles were the bases of hostile armies supported by a fleet of Port Harford. A troop of the Fifth cavalry represented the advance guard of an approaching brigade and drove back the outposts of the main army. Thereafter the entire body of troops was in action throughout the day, going through all the details of mimic warfare.
