pistribution of Pension Money Prevents Wall Street from Making a Panic-How the Claims Come.

New York, Feb. 10 .- A special dispatch to the Times from Washington says: Nothing like the flood of private penion bills, which is being poured in on this Congress, has ever been known before in American history. Within two months after the opening of the session s many bills have been introduced as are usually offered in a whole session, ad the flood is increasing instead of minishing. in this respect this Congress will weak all records. The pension comsittees are simply staggered under the reases of business. There has also sen an increase in the number of bills produced to amend the record of desetters, so as to enable them to get tee of the whole, and the clerk read the first bill. Mr. Taibert arose leisurely while the bill was being put through the legislative stages, the adoption of committee amendments, engrossment, third reading and final passage, and ad-dressed the chair. He was completely ignored. Another bill was passed, all in the space of a minute, with Mr. Talbert still clamoring for recognition. A third bill was passed in the same way.

By this time the whole Democratic side was aroused. A dozen members were on their feet. Mr. Talbert, thoroughly angered, started down the main aisle, shouting "Mr. Chairman! Mr. Chairman!" as he approached. He reached the area in front of the Speaker's rostrum, all the while roaring out his denunciation of the chairman's arbitrary course, before the chairman ondescended to recognize him. The Democrats all about were also asserting their disapproval. The Re-publicans seemed to enjoy the storm the chairman's course had which raised.

Mr. Talbert rapidly cooled down after he had been recognized, and ex-plained in a brief speech that the presence of a quorum and completely vin-dicated his position. He had no feel-ings against the men who served on the federal side of the Civil war, but he was opposed to loose, reckless, unconstitutional methods. He suggested that the House set aside a day each month for pension legislation and discontinue the night sessions. Mr. Sims (Dem., Tenn.), who is in-terested in Southern war claims, made some caustic remarks in criticism of the Republican leaders for sidetrack-ing those "just obligations" of the government in favor of pension bills. The committee then proceeded with a consideration of pension bills, and thirty-five were favorably acted upon. At 10:30 the House adjourned.

Gentlemen: Replying to your request for a few lines regarding the Oxygenor, I take pleasure in stating my own experience. One dislikes to be humbugged by some one of the numerous fake vendors into buying his worthless drugs and wares, therefore when first introduced to an Oxygenor one eyes it very dublously and gives its curative agency the benefit of a large skepticism. Candidly, at first I regarded twenty-five dollars of vastly more value than an Oxygenor, but when life had become to be a burden on account of continued sickness, when nothing gave re-lief, then I began to consider this unique product of medical her, then I began to consider this unique product of medical science. It was brought to me and explained as nothing more nor less than an instrument to flood the human system with pure oxygen. Being a little conversant with nature's laws, I am aware that oxygen is an antidote for the poison engendered by the dif-ferent disease germs. I decided to test its efficiency.
