

FINANCE AND MINING

Business Men are Very Anxious Regarding the President's Message.

WOOD STANDING OF UTAH BANKS.

High Gold Strike Reported—Work at the Mines—Merchandise Matters.

There has lately been a time when the President's message has been looked for with as great anxiety in Utah as was the case today. Among business men generally there has been expressed an intense longing to know what position President Cleveland would assume on the financial question, and "the message count" was the leading inquiry of the day.

The question of opinion was that the two leading issues would be dealt with as follows:

1. The tariff, the uncertainty regarding which has unsettled business generally.

2. The silver question.

Upon these questions a leader-ship, who, by the way, is equanimous in opinion. One expressed himself: "I believe the President will come out squarely with me, and I also believe that the worst agitation in the West, so well as the depressed state of business in the East, has given him to understand the true situation of affairs. I am satisfied that his recommendations will be so favorable as to be warmly commended in the West. It is my opinion that he will give assurance on the tariff question to the extent that existing conditions will not be materially interfered with, until the private financial disturbances are thoroughly quelled down. This will remove the cause of almost all our troubles, and will give confidence to a great measure. I am sure that he will recommend a program of policy on the silver question that will be warmly commended in this section. I feel that the President's message will sound his keynote."

The issue suggested in the last sentence was entertained by quite a number of experienced men, through the precise method which the message would suggest was a matter beyond conjecture.

UTAH BANKS AHEAD.

A Tribune Washington special of August 31st says: "Utah's national banks have the largest per cent of assets of any banks in the West, if not in the entire country. Their reports show their reserves to be an average of 35 per cent, which is about 2 per cent above the banks in the average."

NEW GOLD EXPLORATION.

Park City Record. An incident occurred last week that has led to the foundation for a gold excitement that will be the history of the city and the gold producing sections of Utah, in the West, away in the shade, and according to present indications the news will be spread to the public at no distant day. It seems that a friend of James McNamee, who has been prospecting in the northeastern quarter of Utah for the ore, stumbled on a small ledge of mineral rich quartz vein. He has since struck several pieces of it and after making the place as he would have to trouble in finding it again, he came to Park City and showed the rock to Jim McNamee. The latter happened to be called upon, pronounced it precious and very rich, valuing it at $100,000 to the lot. He thought the rock was low, showed it to his neighbor John H. Reynolds, who provided an outfit of men, tools and other supplies, and McNamee and a friend left for the new find prepared to take and open up the vein and mine the ore.

An examination of the find located out on a sandy dune, and another party, owned by Jim Payne, an old timer in the city, were sent fitted out with tools on the trail of McNamee, and the latter party are making preparations to go to the site of the vein. It is said that there is anything in the rock discovery, it will not be long before this section will be a general mining point for the new gold vein. The location of the supposed mine is in this vicinity, rather to the north, which it is supposed to be either in northeastern Utah or in western Colorado. The discovery of the vein is a question as to the value of the ore brought in, the only doubt being whether it will be a rich vein or a poor one, and that will not be known.
