

do their duty properly. Besides, who knows but some fine morning or other, I may succeed in catching the white sparrow?"

Days and weeks passed on. The farmer adhered to his resolution, but he soon forgot the white sparrow, and only looked after his cattle and his corn fields. Soon everything around him wore a flourishing aspect, and men began to observe that Herr Ruckwart (Backward) now well deserved to be called Herr Vorwart (Forward.)

In due course of time his old friend again came to spend the day with him, and inquired in a humorous tone,

"Well, my fine fellow, how are you getting on now? Have you succeeded in catching a glimpse of the white sparrow?"

The farmer only replied to this question by a smile, and then, holding out his hand to his old friend, he said,

"God bless you, Herder! you have saved me and my family from ruin."

Often, in after years, when Herr Ruckwart was a prosperous man, respected by his neighbors, and beloved by his well ordered household, he was wont to relate this history of his early life, and thus by degrees, the saying passed into a proverb—"He that would thrive, must the white sparrow see."

—It is estimated that the late Queen of Madagascar, in the course of her reign, caused 100,000 men to be put to death.
