THE University of Deseret closed its twenty-two students have been in attendance during the term. On Monday at 9 a. m., the second term begins.

An abominable .nud-hole exists on First South Street, between 4th and 5th West. Robert Ure, of Bountiful, was pitched out of his wagon while passing there a few days ago, and stalled wagons are a common eye-sore from the same cause.

AT yesterday's little biaze in the Exponent office building, as the rag-tag and bob-tail element were rushing up Squire Wells' lane, a man asked excitedly: "What's the matter? Is it a fire?" No," exclaimed a satirical wag, "them's deputy marshals tryin' to serve their subpoenas."

ALL witnesses for the prosecution in the case af the People vs. Hewlett, the two cases of the United States vs. Peterson, and in the cases of the U. S. against Henegar and Fowler; and all witnesses in the Clawson case not in the box, were this morning excused till further notice. This is practically a continuance of all other polygamy cases for the term.

OFFICERS of the 15th Ward Y. M. M. I. A. for the winter season of 1884-5: President, W. C. Burton; Counselors, F. W. Morgan and T. Lewis; Secretary; B. F. LOCAL NEWS.

Fire Alarm .- The fire alarm sounded shortly after two o'clck to-day. John Pitts place, in the Sixth Ward, was on fire, and the Brigade started for the scene of the fire at once. Owing to the lateness of the hour we are unable to give any details in relation to the damage.

He is swindling people by representing himself to be an agent for Butterick's paper patterns, and obtaining money in advance, for an outfit of patterns, etc., to be subsequently delivered. He came here from the south and has victimised people in Provo, American Fork, Payson, Sandy, this city, Ogden, Echo, and Park City. ADDRESS. BY THE PROPLE'S TERRITORIAL CFN-

TRAE COMMITTEE. To the People of Utah Territory:

The election to be held November 4th, 1884, for Delegate to the Forty-ninth Congress, is one of unusual importance and political significance to the people of Utah.

At no time since the organization of the Territorial government has there existed stronger reasons for an unequivocal manifestation of the full strength and influence of the People's Pany. The friends of free government find themselves to-day, as in years past, opposed by an unscrupulous revolutionary faction, composed, it is true, of an insignificant minority of our population, yet seeking by the establishing of Legislative Commission to subvert and abolish the forms of free government and wrest from the people the last semblance of political liberty. That faction whose only achievement in the past has been to seek by misrepresentation and slander to blight the fair face of Btah with a pestilence worse than death, now has the unblushingly effrontery to invoke your suffrages for a candidate who stands upon a platform dedicated to the proposition that you are unworthy the boon of suffrage. A candidate who as to its merits. He was challenged seeks by the vote of his fellow citizens to obtain power to deprive them of the right to vote is certainly an anomaly in American politics, and the idea is pscallarly characteristic of the minority taction in this Territory. The election of 1882 for Delegate to Congress was rendered conspicuous by its being the first under the operation of the Edmunds law, and notwithstanding the disfrauchisement of a large portion of the People's Party, the | thought from your mind. were then drawn from the box: W. L. Pickard, L. Ordner, M. Thomas, A Podlech, Gustave Schulte. They were mmediately excused on the ground that they had formed an unqualified ae defendant.

Six minutes past 10 o'clock was inlicated by the dial in the Federal Court room this morning, as Marshal Ireland pronounced the traditional "Hear ye, hear ye;" and the tribunal of the Third Judicial District was announced to be in session. The nine jurors obtained yesterday were called and found to be present, and drawings were then made from the open venire of twenty-four names issued last evening, and made returnable at 10 .m. to-day. The panel was first challenged by the defense on the same grounds as the open venire of yesterday, with the additional ground that the second lopen venire was still out when this third open venire was issued and returned; but the challenge

Challenged for actual bias; challenge sustained and juror excused. James Anderson was excused for a similar reason. James Glendenning had not formed or expressed an opinion and was not conscious of any bias, and did not believe in polygamy or plural cohabitation. Excused on ground of non-qualifica-

Thomas Smith had heard but little and read nothing of the case, and had not formed or expressed any opinion; he said he did not even know of the late trial till the day before it went to the jury. He passed as to polygamy and cohabitation. Challenged as to non-residence and challenge overruled, Juror W. H. H. Thomas Smith. The clerk read the indictment to the ury and the trial proceeded. Miss Alice Dinwoodey was called for the prosecution and testified. Her testimony did not differ from that given by her at the first trial.

Henry Dinwoodey, being sworn, testified. The only new things advanced by the prosecution were to ask this witness whether he did not on a certain day have the defendant deed to him a piece of real estate (the 18th Ward property of the defendant) with the motive of protecting the interests daughter, his as against a second wife that defendant had; taken or was going to take? The witness admitted the property transfer, but repudiated the motive suggested. He was then asked why he never spoke to the defendant about his relationship with Lydia Spencer, and was requested to swear that he did not refrain from it because morally certain that she was his second wife. He took the informal oath and was then asked to swear that he did not admit before the Grand Jury that that was his motive in keeping silent on the matter. He signified his willingness to swear to this, and Mr. Dickson, his confessor, then desisted. Court took a recess till 2 p. m.

2 p. m. Proceedings in the Clawson case resumed with the examination of Henry Dinwoodey, who was again asked to swear that the reason he did not speak to the defendant regarding his relationship with Lydia Spencer was because he knew she was his wife. The defense objected to the question as immaterial and as tending to bring before the jury by indirection evidence which could not be reached directly. The question was withdrawn for the present, and the witness was next asked If his interest in the outcome of this case was not with the defense. He answered affirmatively. The first question was then repeated. Mr. Bennett again objected to this and likewise to the citation of evidence alleged to have been given by the witness before the grand jury, as it was an improper line of procedure, tending to prejudice the de-fendant's cause in the eyes of the jury. The rules of evidence, he maintained, should be strictly observ-ed, particularly in a case like this, sur-rounded as it was by unusual heat and excitement, and the procedure st-tempted was only allowable in cases of impeachment of witnesses. Mr. Dickson, in reply, held that they were strictly within the rules of eyidence and were entitled to the broadest latitude where, as in this case, a witness was hostile to the prosecution. They had a right, he claimed, to reach evidence by indirection, as by asking a witness if he did not remember testifying differently before another tribunow did, if it was the intention to refresh the witness' memory and follow up by further evidence connected with

The Court held that the procedure the prosecution was allowable and the witness was pe which he did to the effect that his silence respecting the derendant's relationship with Lydia was not due to his knowing that she was his wife. He was next asked if he knew yet where his wife, Mrs. Annie Dinwood was, and answered that he did not; he was also asked if he did not know she was biding away to avoid being subpœnned. He disclaimed this also Excused.

Excused.

A girl living at Mrs. Annie Dinwoodey's, was next sworn.

"I have never seen Lydia Spencer. do not know that there were nights during the time defendant and his wife lived at Mrs. Dinwoodey's, when he did not stop there; I do not remembe declining to stay all night with Miss Clays, on the ground that I had to stay with Florence in her husbandly absence.
