PICTURESQUE HOLE IN THE CLIFF.

The Mighty Colorado as it Appears in a Cleft of the Rocks 2,000 Feet Deep—Fossils of Creation.

A special to the Saturday "News" from Bluff City, San Juan county, was received last evening with the accompanying pictures. Considering the fact that they were taken during a rain-storm as explained by the "News" special correspondent they are quite good and most interesting, particularly in view of the fact that they are the first to reach this city direct from, or rather of, the Salt Lake City exploring expedition concerning which the public is already so well advised. Says the "News" representative:

SCOUTS ARE THE BEST.

"As you have been heretofore informed the party left here on the 13th inst. and pushed into the wild and unknown sections of this county. A heavy rain and altogether bad weather detained them longer than they expected to remain, but when they went out they did so in good shape the expedition comprising a 20-horse pack train. Three of the best cowboys in this whole region, Frank Adams, George Perkins and Freeman Neilson, accompanied them. They know the section as well as any one can, and are insured to all sorts of hardship and frontier difficulty. In securing their services the Salt Lake City got most excellent material and will receive aid that will benefit them to the utmost. When it comes to pitching camp in the right place, scaling cliffs, crossing chasms or performing any of the necessary feats the party will be called upon to perform these men will be there with the goods every hour of the day and night. Naturally every man is a horseman of highest qualification. They are also excellent marksmen and good hunters. At Scorup, as the "News" has heretofore advised its readers, is in charge of the expedition so far as acting as pilot is concerned. It is nearly a week now since the party left here and no word has come from the party since that time.

FORDING THE SAN JUAN.

"The readers of the Saturday "News" will find the pictures pertaining to this brief article of much interest, I trust. The first one is a snapshot view of the exploring party crossing a turbulent and dangerous confuence of the San Juan on their way out into the dark and unknown sections of the San Juan county. Heavy clouds were skimming across the face of the upper bed and rain was falling rapidly as Scorup led the party across the wide and rolling waters. A considerable number of San Juanites viewed the departure with interest and with a hearty good-bye to the searchers who were soon safely on the other side and out of sight. That is the last picture that was taken of them before they penetrated the wilderness where they now are amid the bleak and crest-ed wilds.

ANCIENT CLIFF HOUSE.

"Another picture in the group is of a scene in the near vicinity of Bluff City. It is taken away upon the side of a huge cliff and shows the San Juan valley down on the left, while on the right looms up large and strong, a part of an ancient cliff house, such as characterize this part of the country. The walls of a small room, now fallen entirely away, once occupied the space now seen as a hole in the rocks near the center of the picture.

CRVICE 2,000 FEET DEEP.

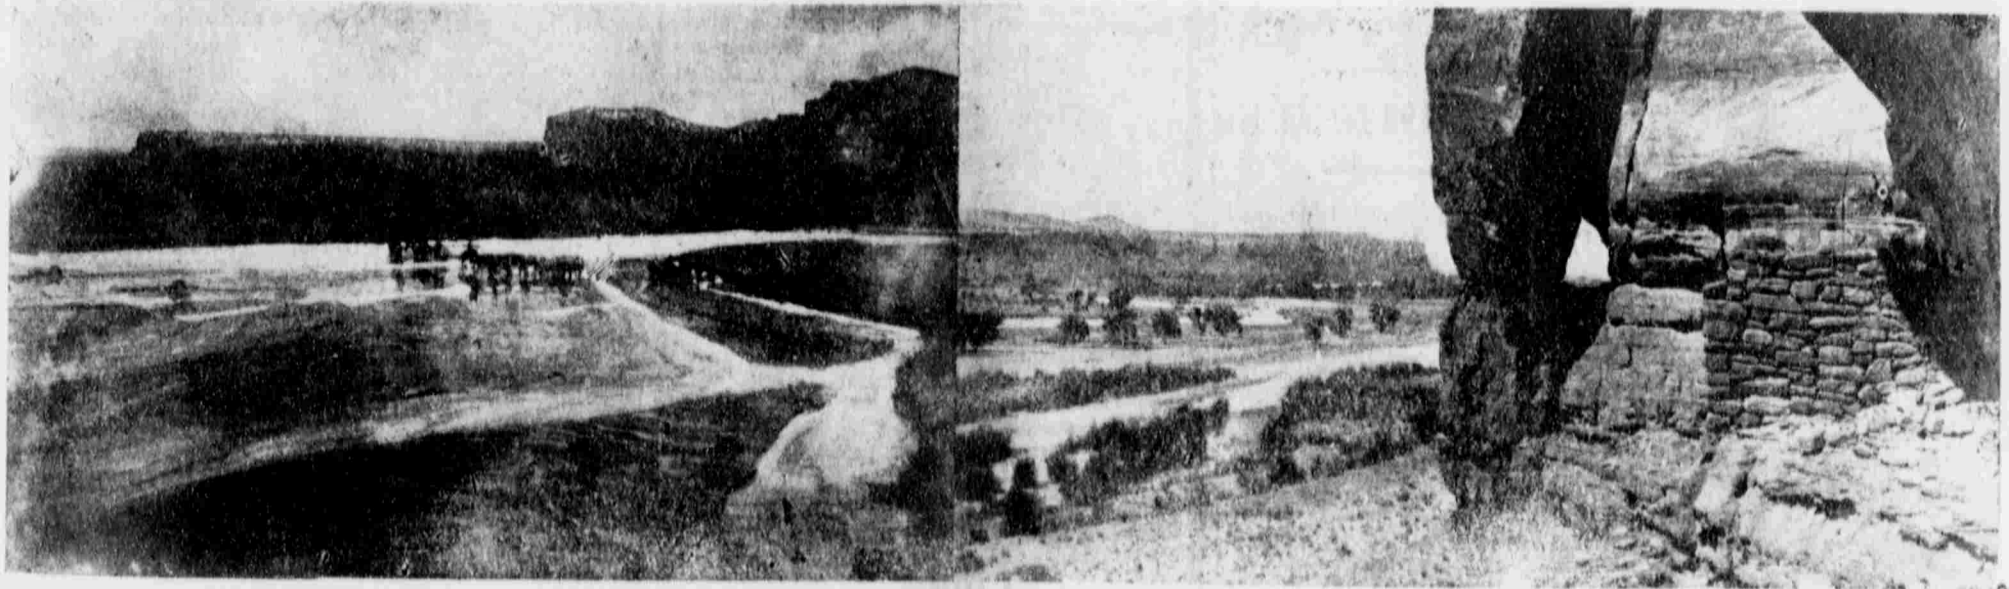

"Some 15 miles to the west of Bluff City occurs the widest, ruggedest, grandest scenery on the face of the earth so far as I know. And it grows wilder, rugged and grander the farther west one penetrates until the mighty Colorado river is reached. A glimpse of this is shown in the third and last picture taken especially for this article of the Deseret News. Far down this great crevice, which is 2,000 feet deep, the first stratified rocks occur. Here, too, occur evidences of the first forms of life on earth in a fossilized state. The remains of mighty animals extinct ages ago are here solidified and preserved in so perfect a state that they have become a part of the rocks themselves. Here also, can be read no small part of the story of the creation of our planet. And finally, here, throughout the long future, will be the greatest "class room" for students of geology that this world of ours affords."

DRAMATIC SUICIDE IN MILAN CATHEDRAL

Beautiful Viscountess of Trent Shoots Herself in Midst of Most Solemn Services.

CAUSE, DOMESTIC UNHAPPINESS

Dead Was Committed in Presence of Fifteen Thousand Worshipers—Duomo Was Reconsecrated.

New York, April 22.—In the midst of a great throng attending Good Friday services in the famous cathedral the Marchioness Marie Pallavicini, Viscountess of Trent, Austria, has committed suicide by shooting, cables the Milan correspondent of the American.

The circumstances were so intensely dramatic and extraordinary as to be unprecedented.

The suicide of the marchioness occurred at the moment of the most intense religious concentration in the great cathedral, where were gathered 15,000 Catholic worshippers. The congregation was kneeling when a shot rang out.

An Austrian priest hurried to the side of the countess and found her dying, with a wound in her forehead. Her death occurred a few moments later, while she was on the way to a hospital.

The marchioness was renowned throughout Italy for her great beauty. She was not yet 30 years of age. Domestic unhappiness following separation from her husband is supposed to have been the cause of her suicide.

The Good Friday services in the duomo are renowned throughout the world, and are second only to those of Rome. The church was filled and great crowds were gathered in front of the building and even standing upon the pedestal of the statue of Victor Emmanuel in the plaza before the cathedral.

The interior of the great edifice was draped throughout in black. The altar was stripped and the church was almost in darkness.

The procession of the stations of the cross had ended and thousands in the cathedral knelt in silence about the out the great church except the patriarch. There was no sound throughoutly distinguished breathing of the congregation. At this moment of most intense concentration the shot was heard near the tomb of St. Charles Borromeo in front of the altar.

The tense silence was shattered like a broken glass. Thousands of women rose in the pews, panic-stricken by the scream which followed the shot. Only those clustered near the tomb could realize what had happened. On the beautiful prie-dieu on which she had been kneeling at prayer lay the marchioness, blood streaming from the wound in her forehead, while the women near her screamed and frantically sought to get away from the spot.

From the altar a priest forced his way to her side and remained kneeling, administering the last rites of the church.

Other church officials hurried about through the cathedral trying to get through to leave until the building had been cleared, so that it could be reconsecrated anew.

An ambulance was called, and the marchioness was hurried to a hospital, but died on the way.

The cathedral was solemnly reconsecrated before the commencement of the evening services.

A SALOON ROBBERY.

Proprietor Shot a Bystander and Not the Holdups.

San Francisco, April 22.—Two robbers entered the saloon of John P. Brutt, on the corner of Second and Broadway streets at an early hour this morning and ordered the proprietor to throw up his hands. Brutt dropped behind the bar when the robber fired at him. Just then a laborer named Thomas Kelly, who was in the saloon, tackled one of the robbers. Brutt, who in the meantime had secured a pistol, fired at the robber, and it is believed struck Kelly, who fell fatally wounded to the floor. A second shot from Brutt's pistol missed the robbers, who broke through the door on the Broadway street side of the store and made good their escape.

The police subsequently arrested a man who was found lurking in a lumber yard two blocks away from the Brutt place, and he is held on suspicion that he was connected with the hold-up.

Two Men Are Killed in Explosion at Alta.

Jeremiah Lowney and Orin Kelly Meet Frightful Fate at the Columbus Consolidated Mine—Were Putting in Shots When There Was a Premature "Touch-Off" Before They Could Make Their Escape.

As a result of an explosion in the Columbus Consolidated mine at Alta yesterday afternoon, Jeremiah Lowney was killed outright, while Orin Kelly was so badly injured that he died while being brought down out of the canyon.

The story of the lamentable accident, as told to the "News" by Supt. A. O. Jacobson, who accompanied the remains to this city this morning, is substantially as follows:

The men were working in a winze from what is known as the Howland tunnel, and in doing so had occasion to do considerable blasting. This was done by merely putting in the shots and getting out of the way as quickly as possible. About 3:30 yesterday afternoon, while working at a depth of 65 feet, they put in 10 shots and ignited them by means of a fuse seven feet long. In some unaccountable manner the explosion occurred before they had time to make their escape, and the result was that both men met their death.

The force of the explosion must have been something terrific as it threw rocks to the surface where Engineer George Barney was at work. Mr. Barney says that just before the report he heard someone, presumably Lowney, yell for God's sake, get that rope tight.

By this was meant the rope attached to the ladder, which the men used in getting out of the way. After this remark the explosion occurred and friends hastened to the scene. Both men were at the bottom of the winze, Lowney's dead body being partly covered with debris. Kelly lay beside him bleeding from wounds over the eye and under the heart, and talking incoherently to his dead companion. As quickly as possible he was given needed attention and steps were taken to bring him to this city for proper treatment. Before that could be done, however, he passed away. Lowney had a deep gash in the head, indicating instant death.

An inquest over the remains was held at Alta last night, the jury being composed of R. E. Amburst, superintendent of the Alta-St. Louis mine; William Everett, superintendent of the South Columbus, and J. M. Harrington, superintendent of the Alta-Quincy. These gentlemen brought in a verdict that the deceased met death through a premature explosion, and exonerated the company from all blame.

The men were doing contract work at the time of the accident and were recognized as skillful miners, both having had considerable experience. They were about 35 years of age and both were single, so far as known. Lowney's family lives in Michigan, but he has a brother and sister in Butte, who were apprised today of the sad affair. Kelly lived at American Fork and had a brother, Mike, working at the Columbus Cons. at the time. Both men were members of the Butte Miners' union.

The bodies were brought to this city this morning and taken to O'Donnell's undertaking parlors, where they await arrangements for the funeral.

St. Petersburg, April 22, 7:40 a. m.—The picture which appeared in the News, the most widely circulated illustrated weekly newspaper in Russia, on April 15, of the imperial family, including the emperor, empress, the czarevitch, grand dukes and dowager empress, as lying dead in their coffins, has been reproduced on cards bearing on the reverse side the Russian national anthem.

These cards are being scattered by thousands throughout St. Petersburg and in other parts of Russia. The cards were printed abroad.

DIED ON THE CROSS.

A Fanatical Penitent Suffered Crucifixion

Trinidad, Colo., April 22.—On the cross, just as the Savior died centuries ago, a fanatical member of the Penitents is reported to have died yesterday at Torres, Las Animas county, Colo. Several Trinidad people claim to have been among the eye-witnesses, but they agreed among themselves not to talk for publication, so the details are not yet known. According to the report current here, however, the victim was nailed to a cross of his own formation and died in agony that he did not seem to feel, wrought as he was to a delirium of religious fervor. The story of the crucifixion is vouched for by Henry D. Robinson of this city, an automobile agent, who saw a crowd of Mexicans who had been eye-witnesses and were discussing the tragic scene. In the old days, so it is said, the carrying out of an actual crucifixion was not uncommon among the Penitents, but it was supposed to have been abandoned long ago. Although it is known that the practice of self-torture is still carried out among the members of the order during Holy week.

LID SHUT DOWN TIGHT IN NEW YORK.

Between 1 and 5 o'clock This Morning Not a Light Was Burning

SIDE DOORS WERE ALL SHUT.

Few Places that Attempted to Disregard Warning Were Pounded Upon by Raiders.

New York, April 22.—The sensational affray in a resort known as Toby's place about a week ago in which one man was killed and two others severely stabbed, today resulted in an almost unprecedented condition in the Tenderloin. During the hours between 1 and 5 o'clock this morning the period prescribed in the excise law, not a light was burning in any of the hundreds of places peculiar to that district. Saloons and Ranges' law hotels, rathskellers and other similar resorts which for years had not closed their side doors day or night had suspended operations completely. In every front window was a sign conspicuously displayed announcing that place had been closed on account of Good Friday. Developments of the past week, however, indicate that the holy day was taken as an excuse rather than as a reason by the proprietors of these resorts.

The "murder in Toby's place" was of such a character as to arouse unusual public attention. The cause of the affair, which has been attended by several sensational incidents, only served to draw more publicity on the conditions which have prevailed in that quarter. Finally, Police Commissioner McAdoo gave his personal attention to the Tenderloin and after a tour of the district, issued drastic orders to have the place "cleaned up." Last night was chosen as the time for a general sweep of the district by the police, however, that the order was anticipated by the resort keepers and others, for when the police started out there was little to be done. Scores of places which usually are filled with merry-making at all hours had suspended business before midnight.

The few places which the warning had not reached, or where it had been disregarded, were pounded upon by the raiders, and before morning the cells at the Tenderloin station house were packed to the limit of their capacity. Jail commissioners reaped a rich harvest from the crusade.

Further official notices show that radical steps have been taken to prevent the Russian protected cruiser Diana, interned at Saigon after the naval battle of Aug. 10, from putting to sea and resuming her active operations. The Russian government is clearly bent upon a reply, his last telegram showing that he was at a small port south of Hanoi, the capital of Tonquin.

FRENCH NEUTRALITY LAWS.

Paris, April 22.—Baron Suematsu, ex-minister of the interior of Japan, in the course of an interview with the London correspondent of the Morning Post, stated that the French laws of neutrality had not foreseen the possibility of neutrality involving 50 warships. The presence of a Russian fleet in French Indo-Chinese waters constituted a flagrant breach of neutrality. Japan could understand two or three battleships seeking temporary refuge in neutral waters in case of danger, but not international conference and no juris could tolerate an exercise for 50 warships especially when so close to the theater of war. Japan demanded of France fair play and justice, nothing more. The presence in Kamranh bay of an enemy's powerful fleet, the baron concluded, was a gross violation of the laws of neutrality.

STATEMENT FROM TOKIO.

Tokio, April 22, 1 p. m.—The navy department has issued the following statement of indisputable witnesses who personally observed, and report as follows about the Russian Second Pacific squadron in Kamranh bay:

"Two battleships with two masts and two funnels, of the Dmitri Donkoi class, the other with two masts and three funnels, were seen cruising outside of the harbor. Two four-masted merchantmen, and a one-funnel steamer were anchored outside the northern entrance of the harbor."

"Five vessels resembling battleships were anchored inside the harbor." "Two battleships with two masts and three funnels, flying admiral's flags, were anchored inside the harbor."

"Six warships, anchored in single formation, lay outside the harbor, off its southern entrance, and the admiral's flag was seen rising inside the harbor."

Although the report does not say so, it is believed that Rear Admiral Rojestvensky is using the harbor to clean his ships, to coal, adjust his torpedoes, clean his guns, prepare ammunition and receive fresh stores."

JAPANESE PRESS COMMENT.

Tokio, April 22.—The Japanese newspapers continue their unfriendly comment of the French government over the Kamranh bay incident, despite the efforts of the consular officials toward repression pending the result of negotiations.

Popular feeling is growing more intense. The government continues to withhold the correspondence with France regarding the affair.

Schwab in St. Petersburg.

St. Petersburg, April 22.—Charles M. Schwab of the Bethlehem Steel works, and Charles R. Flint of New York have arrived here.

It was announced from St. Petersburg April 20 that Mr. Schwab, accompanied by Mr. Flint, would arrive in that city today, to confer with the admiralty and the minister of finance regarding the Russian naval program, which it is understood is now practically completed, although it has not yet received the imperial approval. It is believed that some preliminary negotiations relative to the building of a ship in the United States and involving also the possible construction of big ship yards in Russia have already occurred and that Mr. Schwab has gone to St. Petersburg upon the request of the Russian authorities to discuss the subject in detail.
