

ruption and robbery, in which one of his clients has been engaged. Mr. Bowles has unpleasant recollections, probably, concerning one of Mr. Field's clients—James Fisk, Jr.—who had him arrested, on one occasion for publishing "a gross libel" upon him; how much influence that transaction has had in prompting him to abuse Mr. Field for being Fisk's counsel he does not state, but the readers of his articles and letters we presume, can easily draw their own inferences.

NEW YORK must be a nice place for editors to live in, if the report be true, that the present editor of the New York Times, having become persuaded that his life is in serious danger, wears a suit of mail under his clothes and carries two loaded revolvers in his pockets. The reason for this alarm, said to be entertained by this brother of the quill, is that he has incurred the ire of the "Tammany roughs," through something in his columns reflecting discreditably upon the management of Tammany Hall, and he is possessed of the notion that his life is in danger from their attacks, and has adopted these measures for self-protection.

The editor of the Sun thinks the gentleman's fears are totally unfounded, for he is unknown to those he terms the Tammany roughs; and if he were not so, they are believers in the freedom of the press, and if the editor of the Times got into trouble on account of any statements in his columns they would be his supporters and friends.

Whichever view is the correct one the state of mind which impels a man to shield himself in secret armor and to carry loaded pistols is anything but pleasant, for next to the existence of real danger, the constant dread of it is about the worst thing imaginable.

THE scarcity of children and the decline of households in the East is a common topic of discussion in the newspapers, and statistics demonstrate, that, were it not for foreign emigration, the number of the population in some localities would speedily diminish. The condition of things in Great Britain is very different, and more natural and healthy. In every large city and town of the kingdom the building of dwellinghouses constantly goes on, but yet, occupants are constantly found to fill them. The secret of this is furnished by the London Daily News, which says that the population is continually increasing, despite, death and emigration, by the five hundred marriages which, according to registrars' returns, daily take place in the land. Nearly two hundred thousand marriages a year is a pretty good sign that the people of Old England are not in the least likely to die out soon.

A RECENT number of a Pittsburgh, Pa. paper relates a distressing case of a young man named Husted, about 23 years of age, who, while working on a farm, near Lincoln Station, West Pennsylvania road, was bitten by a snake, and, on the same day, was attacked and bitten by a dog. Subsequently he was seized with fits, during which he writhed in horrible contortions, and would whine and bark like a dog, the symptoms being strongly indicative of hydrophobia. These attacks gradually grew more and more virulent, until it required several men to hold him, to prevent him doing himself bodily injury; and finally, towards the close of last month, he had to be secured with ropes to a board, covered with pads, and in this state he was lodged in Passavan's Hospital, Pittsburgh, where everything that medical skill could devise was being done to relieve his sufferings.

THE latest attempt at aerial navigation, which has so long perplexed inventors and scientific men, and in which little or no progress has been made since the days of the Bros. Gondolier, who invented balloons nearly a century ago, was made early last month at San Francisco, with a flying machine, invented and manufactured by a resident of that place. The motive power is steam, and on the first attempt an ascent of fifty feet was made, the distance traveled being about a block. The descent was then effected and the boiler replenished, when another ascent of two hundred feet was successfully accomplished. In these first experiments the machine was held and guided by persons on the ground, by ropes, but the machinery worked with the utmost satisfaction; and the inventor is sanguine that he has, at last, found the solution to the problem of navigating the air. He calls his invention "The America."

LOCAL AND OTHER MATTERS.

GETTING BETTER.—Benjamin Edwards, the young man, who had his feet cut off a short time since, is rapidly attaining to convalescence. Judge Elias Smith, at whose residence he is, is doing all in his power for his comfort and well-doing.

NEW ZEALAND.—Elder Henry Allington, writing from Karori, New Zealand, Nov. 30th, 1870, says that the work of God in that region is progressing slowly; a few baptisms had recently taken place. Elder Robert Beauchamp, of Salt Lake City, now on a mission in that part of the world, had labored a month at Karori, and the feeling expressed by outsiders was that he had done more good in that short time than the united labors of all the sectarian ministers there had effected for years.

In Christmas week Elder Beauchamp was expected from Australia, when it was the intention to hold the first Conference of the Church ever held in New Zealand.

PAROWAN.—CO-OPERATIVE TANNERY AND SHOE COMPANY.—Elder W. C. McGregor, writing from Parowan on the 1st instant, says:

"We have established a Co-operative Tannery and Shoe Company, with a capital of $4,000, and are supplying the community with more durable kind of boots and shoes than the imported article, and at the same price.

The Female Relief Society of this place gave a grand dinner and ball on the 6th ult.; also another dinner and ball on the 13th ult., that day being the twentieth anniversary of the settlement of Parowan. The terms of admission to the dinner and ball on each day was, that each man attending should labor with his team one day in hauling building rock from the mountains to the spot on the lot where the Society intend building. The move was very popular, many doing much more than was required, and judges say there is now plenty of rock on the ground to build a large and commodious house, such as the Society wants. The ground for the house was furnished gratis to the Society by Charles Y. Webb, Sister Phoebe Benson, the President of the Society, in connection with her sisters, are ever watchful to assist the needy. Success to the F. R. Societies! they are a great blessing among the people, and will yet be a far greater.

The Harmonic Society gave their second concert on the 27th ult., under the direction of Elder Durham; it was a complete success. The programme was choice and entertaining. Professor Durham presided at the cabinet organ."

Correspondence.

FILLMORE CITY, Millard County.

Editor Deseret News:—After writing you from Spanish Fork we visited Elder George Myers, who went to Zurich, Switzerland, in 1852, and baptized 147 persons. He was imprisoned and finally cast out of the place. While in that region he took a fancy to grape culture, which has resulted in a fine graspery here from which after selling many grapes he has made, the past year 100 gallons of excellent wine.

Tuesday evening, 24th, we held meeting in Payson; good attention and attendance; passed the evening very agreeably.

A co-operative herd and herd ground, with dairy and farm attached, is likely to prove a great success here, both for convenience and financially. There are some expectations of attaching their co-operative store, which is doing a good business, to the co-operative farm, dairy and herd, running all under one firm. The city of Benjamin, in this vicinity, is attracting considerable attention. Finding at Spanish Fork, that a large stream running to waste could be turned, at a vast expense, to water a good tract of land at a long range, it has been successfully accomplished, resulting in a good prospect for Benjamin, with good surroundings of farming and haylands. It lies about north of Payson towards Utah Lake.

On the 25th, we passed down Juab Valley to Mona, and held meeting at 2 p.m., and also at 7 the same evening. A large congregation assembled at Nephi, having been notified by telegraph. Nephi is a prosperous city of 1,500 inhabitants. Co-operation is doing its perfect work here. Bishop Bigler boasts of having at least sixty marriagable young ladies in his Bishopric.

During the evening of the 26th, we held meeting at Levan, presided over by Samuel Pitchforth. It is a beautiful locality, but scarce of water; they expect to organize into a Co-operative farming body, thereby using the water where and when most required.

Friday, 27th, we passed over twenty-eight miles of country, well deserving the name of the Sevier, which we crossed on a good bridge, it being about the centre of our Territory north and south. Here we found the Northern mail six hours behind schedule time, the roads being very heavy and muddy. We held meeting at Scipio, Round Valley, which I visited one year ago last November, then forty families, now about seventy-five. Near here we saw a fine flock of one thousand head of sheep, a co-operative herd. On Saturday evening, 28th, we held a meeting at Holden, Cedar Springs, fourteen miles from Scipio in Pauvan Valley, here there is also an increase of families and some very fine brick houses. A co-operative farm was quite satisfactorily carried on last year, and is to be more general this year.

Sunday, 29th, we passed through three or four inches of snow, which fell last night and this morning, to Fillmore City, 165 miles from Salt Lake City. We attended meeting in the forenoon, and a Sabbath School of 250 souls at 2 p.m., superintended by Platt D. Lyman. It has a library of 70 volumes. We had an excellent meeting in the evening, having spent a happy day in Fillmore.

Yours truly, E. STEVENSON.

HEBER CITY, U. T., January 31, 1871.

Editor Deseret News:—Sir: The town of Heber is situated about 30 miles (air line) southeast of your city, in the Timpanoga Uab, (Provo Valley) on the east side of the Timpanoga Noquint, (Provo river).

It is about twelve years since the first sod was broken here. There are now over 8,000 acres inclosed, including hay land and pasture. 122 votes were polled at the last election; 52 births, 24 baptisms, 4 weddings and 7 deaths during the year '70. A co-operative store is in full blast, conducted on the "live-and-let-live" principle, paying 24 per cent per annum. A Tithing office, 24x40, built of red sandstone, two stories high, with grainary for 2,000 bushels, and basement capacity for 4,000 bushels, is just completed, and would do credit to older and less remote settlements. Two very commodious school houses, built of the same material, testify to the interest felt in education. Three schools are now being taught, with an average daily attendance of 200 pupils. Two Sabbath schools are well attended and efficiently taught. Free entertainments are given on Tuesday evening of each week by a combination of the pupils of the several schools, consisting of short lectures, essays, readings, recitations, declamations, songs, &c., and the interest felt in them is manifested in the house being filled to overflowing. Yesterday in the afternoon the directors of the 1st district Sunday school, favored the pupils with a terpsichorean entertainment, and the occasion was one of unusual interest. The throngs of healthy, brightfaced, happy children speak favorably of the peculiar institution of Utah.

The winter, though unusually severe during the first month, has since been very favorable. The ground is partially bare of snow, and stock on the range do very well. The thermometer, during the present month, ranging from 15 to 38. The weather is very calm and much like the opening of spring, (not "Old Stormy March.") The citizens, taking advantage of the fine weather, are engaged in hauling rock, preparing for building and improving, though the town contains many buildings superior to any town of the same population in Utah. (No bragging.) May God bless all the towns and cities of Utah and the righteous therein. M. J. S.

THE RESURRECTIONIST plies his avocation briskly in Cincinnati—the dead paupers buried at the expense of the city in the various potter's fields being his ordinary prey. The medical fraternity pay the wretches engaged in this business twenty dollars for each "stiff'un" brought to them, and under the impetus of this prospective reward the body-snatchers are stirred to unusual activity in procuring subjects for dissection. There is in Cincinnati a man, one Cunningham, familiarly known as "Old Cunny," who has devoted his life time to robbing the grave. He has grown gray in the work. He sallies forth at night on his nefarious enterprise, riding in a spring wagon and accompanied by his assistants, two stalwart negroes. Woe to that dead pauper, lately become a tenant of the sod, upon whose grave this human hyena should stumble in his midnight adventures.

Died.

At Levan, Juab County, Utah, on the 18th ult., of old age, Christian Christiansen, sen., aged 89 years, 9 months and 11 days.

Father Christiansen was a native of Denmark, and was born April 7th, 1790, at Dolby, in the parish of Wiborg. He was an able school teacher for thirty-five years, and Deacon of the Lutheran Church in his native Parish for fifteen years, during which time, he was much respected, being noted for his great piety.

On the 10th of June, 1852, he was baptized a member of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints by Elder Christian Christiansen, jun., his youngest son, who was the first Elder ordained in Denmark, under the hands of Elder E. Snow.

Father Christiansen was ordained a High Priest by Elder John Fosgreen, and emigrated from Denmark, in company with his son, in the Fall of 1852, arriving in Salt Lake Valley, Sept., 1853. He resided in Salt Lake City until the move, when he settled at Nephi, in the Fall of 1859. He moved to Fort Ephraim, Sanpete County, where he remained until the Fall of 1869, when he removed to Levan. On the 30th of April 1870, he was ordained by Elder E. Snow a Patriarch. His first wife, mother of his children, died in Salt Lake City in the spring of 1859. He now leaves behind him, a wife, three sons and one daughter. His eldest son resides in Denmark, the other of his children are in Utah, and attended his funeral, which took place at Levan on Saturday Jan. 21st, and was one of the largest ever attended in this county, many of his friends coming from Sanpete County, and also from Nephi.

Father Christiansen, enjoyed the use of all his faculties until the last moment, giving full instructions about his funeral, best his children and friends, requesting them not to mourn at his death for he was going to join his wife and friends and was anxious to be released from his body that he might preach to his friends behind the veil. His end was peace, for he lived and died a man of God and a patriarch in Israel.—COMMUNICATED BY S. P.
