Handiwork From Kindergarten
And Training School on Exhibition.

RAPID ADVANCES ARE MADE.

Persons of Institution Visit Lion House
And Examine Work of Children
—Articles Cut From Wood.

An excellent display of handiwork from the kindergarten and training school of the Latter-day Saints' University may be seen in room 20 of the Lion House building on east South Temple street. It is quite a pretentious exhibit, a strong and additional illustration of the rapid advances made in practical effort by the young generation of this city. The public schools and the State University training school have shown what they can do, and now the growing L. D. S. university is making a showing that compares very favorably with anything hitherto shown here. The many friends and patrons of the institution are visiting the Lion House and looking with pleasure at the sample of the good work being done in the kindergarten and training school.

WHAT LITTLE TOTS DO.

The work is all arranged about the room on tables and along the walls. In the first place there is the handiwork of the little children of from 2 to 4 years of age. This includes representations of baskets, and minor articles used about the house cut out of paper and cleverly folded and put together, with some show toward the monumental as well as the decorative and useful. There are also various objects cut and fashioned from wood, and a locomotive made of spools and painted black is something not to be overlooked; also common articles made from clay and fashioned with the hand alone. A pretty feature is a work made from footprints and was resembling chairs, house frames, etc., and a special attraction includes quite an array of sewing work on cards, cuttings of paper in a wide variety of objects, colored and plain, cut out and arranged in a successful one is made in the line of design for carpets and wall papers, plain and in colors, showing an unmistakable talent in these little children from which some profitable practical result will at some time come. Water colors and inks are used here to marked advantage. The children show in addition, box work and cardboard work that speaks well for their powers of construction.

TRAINING DISPLAY.

The display by the training department is to the line of marked development. The efforts are very creditable, well worthy of careful inspection. A special department is given in the exhibit to tracings and light designs drawn on time; that is, given in seconds for execution, the results given in so short a time are highly satisfactory. There is modeling in clay, as in the kindergarten, and a more advanced work, and part of the clay work is deftly colored. Then there is quite an array of wood work in the shape of blocks grouped to represent various structural objects displayed in a very interesting architectural talent. Beyond are grouped cuttings in profile from white and black papers, decidedly true to nature, and then other objects of wood, boxes, baskets, and a wide array of straw-made goods well showing the high standard of work in this branch of instruction. One article, a large jardiniere, is particularly worthy of attention. These articles are plain and in colors, the coloring being artistically done.

SPECIAL FEATURE.

A special feature is the model of a park made from sand, with tilling to represent railroad tracks, with a miniature locomotive stationed thereon. This includes a lake with boats, and a grove of trees made from sprigs of various kinds. There are also wall paper and carpet designs of much merit, a wide array of paper foldings and parquetry work, sewing work on cards, and many designs in colored paper arrangements betokening talents that may be cultivated to advantage. The work is all free hand, and pupils are taught to use the eye and judgment. The instructor in the kindergarten and training school is Miss Rebecca Morris, sister of ex-Mayor R. P. Morris of this city. She has had several years' given special study to this branch of education, which included a course at Columbia university, New York. Miss Morris is a talented young woman, as the results of her instruction amply evidence, and the L. D. S. university is evidence.

Heart Weakness

The action of the heart depends upon the heart nerves and muscles. When from any cause they become weak or exhausted, and fail to furnish sufficient power, the heart flutters, palpitates, skips beats; and in its effort to keep up its work, causes pain and distress, such as smothering spells, short breath, fainting, pain around heart, arm and shoulders. The circulation is impeded, and the entire system suffers from lack of nourishment.

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure makes a heart strong and vigorous by strengthening these nerves and muscles.

"I had palpitation and pain around my heart, and the doctors said it was heart disease. I don't believe it now, for after taking six bottles of Dr. Miles' Heart Cure, three bottles of the Nervine Liver Pills I am entirely cured, and feel better than I have for five years, and it is all due to these remedies. I want you to know that your medicine cured me. I relieved me from the pain in my chest was gone, and I kept on feeling better even after I quit taking it." JOHN H. STEPHAN, Beading, Mich.

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure is sold by your druggist, who will guarantee that the first bottle will benefit. If it fails he will refund your money.

MANUAL TRAINING WORK.

The work of the manual training department is unquestionably the best yet given in this city, of that class. Under the direction of Prof. L. A. Klenke, the boys have made remarkable progress, and it is well worth the while of citizens generally who are at all interested in seeing how the constructive talent can be developed in a boy, to call at the Lion House and look over the display. Five rooms are filled with work in wood, metal, and other materials. One room is given up to the lath and band and cross cut saws and mortising machine, with the electric motor, and two good sized rooms are filled with work in benches and other appliances of the work, and parts of these with two additional apartments are utilized for arrangement of the articles exhibited.

TAUGHT TO "DO."

The boys are taught, it would seem, about everything in the line of skilled carpentry, joiner and cabinet work, wood carving and turning, and to a degree forging and fashioning in metals. The display of wood turning is very complete, including a wide array of articles to be used for many purposes, noticeably a "Neville post," the work being remarkably accurate, as where parts are made to fit with nicety, with no cuttings in the line of work. Then the bookcase work is something remarkable, several being large enough to nearly cover the side of a room, and showing a skill in detail and general handiwork that could hardly be expected in students. A specially constructed bench, beautifully finished is shown, made by the students under the immediate supervision of the instructor. It is equipped with a special device for different lengths of work in hand, on which a patent is to be obtained.

MOST COMPLETE.

The scroll work and specimens of carving are complete and pleasing, giving evidences of encouraging talent, and cover a large assortment of useful articles, particularly in the way of boxes in different kinds of woods. Numerous specimens of polished woods are exhibited, oak, mahogany, pine, fir, spruce, cedar, maple, cherry, etc., and the students are taught to study the peculiarities in handling of all the woods obtainable in this country. A cabinet full of miniature furniture is shown and worthy of special mention, strict attention paid to detail and accuracy. The most pretentious exhibit is the model of a dwelling in cedar and pine, large enough to reach to the ceiling of the apartment, and complete in all the details of house building. In this, the student is taught to calculate the strain of materials, the most suitable locations for different kinds of wood, the proper use of materials and architectural features. This specimen of student handiwork is something remarkable. Chains and fire place equipment and fittings are shown in the way of metal working, and the principles of blacksmithing and iron working generally are well taught here.

In one room there are 10 carpenter's tables, well equipped; in another two tables, and in a third tables are set up so arranged that 22 students can work there at once. It is understood that the conveniences will be increased at an early day, and the opportunities for practical and effective work made more complete.

WESTERN MARKET LETTER.

Special Correspondence.

Stock Yards, Kas., Mo., May 21.—The offerings from the far off territory were very light last week, but included among those that did come were several loads of choice fat Colorado steers and calves, which were sold at steady to strong prices. The steers sold at $5.10 and $5.15, and the calves brought $4.75, other western heifers at $3.65, and some western steers at $4.70, which was 10 cents higher than the previous week. Some panhandle steers brought $4.25 and some horned western steers sold to the killers at $4.55. Twenty-three thousand cattle came in the first two days of last week, after which but very few came in as the total for the week only footed up 33,400 head, a decrease of 1,000 from the previous week. The heavy run Tuesday, upwards of 14,000 cattle, caused a decline of 10 cents, which was recovered by the close of the week. Had the run been evenly distributed, the market would have been steady all week. Nothing from the west came in after Monday, the sales made after that day being the commonest steers held over. The run today is 9,000 head, but the market is handicapped by a heavy run at Chicago, 31,000. Light and handy weight steers are steady with last week's close, good heavy steers slow and weak, plain ones 10c lower. Top $5.50

Miss Anna Grant entertained the members of the cast of "Sweet Lavender," together with a few others at her home last night after the performance at the L. D. S. university, the rooms being decorated with snowballs and a delicious supper served. About a dozen guests enjoyed the affair.

"SWEET LAVENDER."

Charming Presentation of This Drama By L. D. S. Seniors Last Evening.

Every seat was taken and hundreds were standing in Barratt Hall last evening, and it was an attentive audience that witnessed, with many tokens of approval the presentation of Piner's domestic drama "Sweet Lavender," by members of the graduating class of the Latter-day Saints' University. The sketch is a pretty one, and the characters of the play were well sustained. Perhaps the most notable was the part of Pheny, a harpist, by David Cummings. This student, in a perfectly natural and unassuming manner, sustained with credit his role throughout. Occasionally, however, a too rapid style of utterance obscured some of the passages in this part, but altogether Mr. Cummings' acting was highly creditable. Next, perhaps, was the part of Clement Hale, the hero of the piece, by R. W. Young, Jr. This youth makes a dashing lover and looked as well as acted the important role which he had to sustain. Dignity, earnestness, and naturalness were likewise manifest in his case, and it must be added that this part, too, was occasionally marred by a delivery too rapid to be easily followed. There was nothing hurried or embarrassed in the parts presented by either of these young men, the rapidity of speech being characteristic of the natural delivery of both. This defect, however, would scarcely have been apparent had not the nature of the stage, which somewhat hems in the actors, emphasized the fault to which allusion is made.

The part of the heroine of the piece, "Lavender," taken by Miss Edith Grant, was presented in a manner that suited very well the character itself and the circumstances of the plot. The part of this sweet, quiet, demure, and sensible girl, was very appropriately portrayed, perhaps somewhat too modestly. The part of Ruth Holt, housekeeper and landlady, was sustained with ease, vivacity, and perfect propriety, by Miss Marie Thomas. Miss Lucetta Jones' portrayal of the widow, Mrs. Bulger, half-dresser and wig-maker, was a piece of very clever impersonation and lent to the play a good deal of its real humor. Minnie, her daughter, was charmingly represented by Miss Mabel Van Fleet, who did not seem to have to act her part at all.

Of the other characters, Dr. Delaney, a fashionable physician of Irish persuasion, by Mr. Clyde Lindsay, and Horace Brown, a young American, by Frank Cummings, were cleverly presented throughout, and had the unusual merit of such distinctness that the audience seemed to lose none of their sayings. Mr. Bulger, half-dresser and wig-maker, was a part capably taken by Mr. Mervin Bennion. This character was unique, highly specialized, and not overdone, as is too usual in the case of the clown. Eugene Hammond as Wedderburn, did very well, in a difficult role, as did also Thaddeus Hammond in the lighter part of Mr. Maw, solicitor. Altogether the young people deserve sincere congratulations upon their maiden effort. They did what is unusual for amateurs in choosing so refined and sensible a drama as "Lavender," and what was still more unusual in an amateur performance in presenting it without extravagance.

PROTECT PROPRIETARY MEDICINES.

Did ever occur to you that proprietary medicines are a blessing to mankind generally? The good ones have long continued sale; the poor ones have short life and soon leave the market. It would be to depend entirely upon physicians and druggists it would be expensive and very inconvenient at times, especially in the country and at night when neither could be conveniently reached. For nearly forty years Boschee's German Syrup has been used in many families, and thousands of lives of adults and children have been saved by its use, when it was impossible to reach a physician. German Syrup is the best household remedy for cough, colds, throat and lung troubles. It quickly relieves the hacking cough, loosens the phlegm, and brings sound and refreshing sleep. Twenty-five and seventy-five cents. Get a copy of Green's Prize Almanac. At all druggists.

MERCURY A DECEPTIVE TREATMENT

Mercury and potash are very deceptive treatments and the blood poison sufferer who depends on them for a cure is sure to be disappointed. These minerals will remove the external symptoms and shut the disease up in the system for a while, but the trouble will surely return and the loathsome symptoms of sore mouth and throat, copper-colored spots, falling hair, sores and ulcers etc., will be accompanied by the disastrous effects of the treatment. The continued use of these strong minerals will completely ruin the health and weaken the system to such an extent that the original disease often becomes incurable and sometimes fatal. Mercury and potash eat out the delicate lining of the stomach and bowels, destroy the gastric juices, producing chronic dyspepsia, cause mercurial rheumatism, salivation, and where they are taken in large quantities cause necrosis or decay of the bones. S. S. S. is the only remedy that can cure Contagious Blood Poison surely and safely. This remedy of nature, made entirely of roots, herbs and barks, antidotes and destroys the powerful virus of the disease and by purifying the blood of every particle of the poison and enriching and strengthening this vital fluid it removes every symptom and leaves the body in a strong, healthy condition. When the blood has been purified with S. S. S. the cure is complete, and not one vestige of the poison is left for future outbreaks. Do not waste valuable time, and damage your health with the mineral treatment, but cure your case with S. S. S., an absolutely safe remedy. We offer a reward of $1,000 for proof that S. S. S. contains a particle of mineral. Book with instructions for self treatment and medical advice without charge. THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., ATLANTA, GA.
