

FLOATING FRAGMENTS.

President A. O. Snout is up from Provo.

The City Council will meet at 7 o'clock to-night.

A barrel of money makes a hog in a society.

There's always room for one more in the hay-field.

Coal men are familiar with the weight that are dark.

The immigrants arrived last evening, in good shape.

This morning we received a friendly visit from Mayor D. H. Peery, of Ogden.

Mrs. Platon and her daughter Sarah have arrived from their visit to England.

Regrets for what "might have been" are proverbially idle. Don't indulge in them.

Bishop Thomas R. Cutler returned on Sunday from New York, having been on an Eastern purchasing trip for the Lehi Co-operative Institution.

The prejudice against adulterated drugs of cold water to fever patients, whose bodies need to be supplied with moisture so rapidly undergoing waste, is gradually disappearing.

There is reason to believe that many cases of dangerous and fatal diseases are gradually engendered, annually by the habit of sleeping in small, unventilated rooms than have occurred from a cholera atmosphere.

On account of the comparative scarcity of some kinds of fruit, tomatoes are becoming more popular every day. They answer for a substitute, are easily grown, and have not few enemies. For these reasons they can be produced in large quantities and at a price that will enable all to use them to the full satisfaction of their appetites.

LOCAL AND OTHER MATTERS.

High Council.—The High Council will meet in the Social Hall, on Thursday, September 20th, at 7 p.m. A full attendance is desired.

WM. W. TAYLOR, Clerk.

No Tax.—A meeting of the taxpayers of the Sixth school district was held last evening to take into consideration the question of levying a tax for school purposes. The negative vote carried, by a considerable majority.

From Mantle.—Brother W. H. Folson, architect of the Mantle Temple, is in town. He expects the parapet walls to be completed about the middle of October, and the laying of the metal roof will be begun at or about that time.

Can be Heard Of.—A girl named Caroline Downs, from Tipton, Derbyshire, arrived with the immigrants last night. Inquiries have been made for her by persons living in Utah. She can be heard of at Mrs. McDuff's, near the Hot Springs, 19th Ward.

Returned.—This morning Mr. W. F. Nealen, with Mr. E. P. Teasdel, returned from an eastern purchasing trip for the Eagle House. He was absent seven weeks, visited New York, Boston and Chicago and bought largely in all classes of general merchandise. He had a pleasant and prosperous trip.

A Strong Argument.—The People's Committee of Ogden, on the subject of a new railroad depot in that town, assert that during the last two years, the railroad freight business, including the receiving and outflow, done with the Ogden merchants amounts to $12,000,000, placing the rate at a dollar a hundred pounds, which is esteemed to be a fair basis for the calculation. This is a strong plea for accession to their request.

Immigrants Arrived.—The immigrants arrived in this city last evening at 9:35 o'clock. The company was met, in behalf of the Presiding Bishopric, at Ogden by Bishop R. T. Burton. Quite a large number of people were at the depot in this city awaiting their arrival, and in a very brief time all were in the hands of kind-hearted relatives and friends, or in the care of persons appointed by the Bishops to look after their comfort and convenience. Inside of an hour after the train reached the city not an immigrant was to be seen in the neighborhood of the depot. The company had a prosperous journey throughout.

A Dangerous Boy.—Yesterday a lady informed us that people living in the neighborhood of Egg's Row are frequently much annoyed by the operations of a boy named Willie Padlock and other lads of a similar age who are his companions. She stated that he went so far as to present a pistol at her little daughter and threatened to shoot her. A gentleman who happened to be near interpreted, he might have carried out his murderous threat. The lad has been in quite a number of disreputable affairs, and appears incorrigible. He is a fit subject for a house of correction, if there was such an institution in existence here.

Bicycling.—There was a meeting of the Salt Lake Bicycle Club last evening, at which a committee on races was appointed, consisting of Captain Davis and Messrs. Pierce and Woods. The regular gold and silver medal races and such others as the committee may decide upon, will take place upon the Washington Square track about the 3rd of next month. There will be a decided change in the programme, and it is expected that some of the Laraine Club will be present and help to make the occasion more interesting than usual.

Mr. C. S. Greenbaum, of the Laraine Bicycle Club, had the misfortune to break his backbone on his way to this city, but it will be repaired to-day at the Utah Central shop. When he returns to Laraine he intends to have his present backbone taken out and a new one plate one put in.

In the Sugar Factory.—In a many with the E. L. Clark, a friend of ours, visited the sugar factory of Mr. Arthur Stagner, of Farmington, the other day. The machinery was all in active operation upon the products of some 45 acres of sorghum, mostly of the Early Amber variety.

The mammoth crusher or mill requires a seven horse power, its product being about six gallons per minute, and it does its work so effectively that the stalks are dry enough on their exit to be used for fuel. It is interesting to watch the juice as it flows toward the diffuser, where by the injection of steam it is freed from refuse matter and prepared for the 16 foot evaporators, two of which bubble with each charlie in varying degree, indicating the progress made.

From these the syrup is transferred to the steam boiler. The simple turning of a small mechanical contrivance instantly makes a foaming boil, and if applied a moment too long would soon cause such ebullition as to waste it all over the sides. The heat being applied in the form of steam, there is no fear of burning, and thus the delicate taste of sorghum is effectually preserved.

When the syrup reaches the proper consistency it is transferred to large shallow vats, where the process of granulation is developed.

Some 350 gallons were in this condition at the time of the visit as the product of a quarter (one hour) of the cane now ready for the mill. After the granulation is sufficiently advanced it is passed into the centrifugal, close at hand, by an attachment. The 15-horse power engine gives it motion, it runs at the rate of 1,400 revolutions per minute, and will clear from liquid or syrup fifty pounds of bright yellow sugar every three minutes.

One hundred and fifty bags of 100 pounds each is the expected product of this small factory, and evidently much more could be done if experience provided a base, so that surrounding farmers could feel assured of a marketable crop. There are in the field and works a baker's dozen of employees. Mr. Horace, son of A. Stagner, seemed to be in charge and to his intelligent explanation the writer is indebted for details. The whole arrangement is somewhat crude as yet, but means and time will make all the processes nearly automatic, and so save much labor and consequent expense. In looking on, the writer wished that the indefatigable Bishop Madsen, of Gunnison, for his 25 acres of cane, which was nearly ready two weeks ago, had a duplicate of the machinery before him.

There is room for query as to the pecuniary result of manufacturing a simple brown or yellow sugar, with present tastes, but there can be no doubt in regard to the production of really fine syrup, and if this can be put upon the market in good shape, every consumer would doubtless prefer the pure, home-made article to the medicated glucose, which, under the name of syrup is found in all our stores.

Success to the manufacture of either or both articles. Public patronage should meet the struggling home endeavor everywhere, until all our valleys are made the bustling marts of home industries, and our territory one of teeming export instead of the population being consumers of so many products from afar.

Preparing for Conference.—Yesterday we had an allusion to the singing of home composed music by the Tabernacle Choir. At the suggestion of President Taylor, Conductor Beesley has been making ample preparations for having the exercises entirely of that class at the approaching General Conference. Copies of the music-book recently compiled by Brother Beesley have been sent to choristers of nine of the towns of Utah, and they are actively rehearsing the selections it is intended to render. These singers in the outlying towns will amalgamate with the Tabernacle Choir proper at Conference, the whole constituting a band of well trained voices two hundred strong. The musical portion of the worshipping exercises at the great gatherings of the Latter-day Saints are always a delightful feature of such assemblies, and judging from the nature of the preparations in progress those of the ensuing Conference will be even more than usually interesting.

An Ingenious Theory.—An idea exchange claims that most of the cases where money is reported to have been taken from the pockets of men by burglars while they are asleep are frauds. It theorizes thus:

"A man goes home in the small hours full of liquor and tumbles into bed, and while he yet snores in the morning his injured wife cautiously enters, goes to the door, and takes what he has left, bolts the bed-room window, leaves it up, tears away the screen, and returns to the marital couch, conscious of being so much abused. The husband, after sleeping off his drunken stupor, gets up, takes in the situation, searches for and finds muffled tracks under the window, and then bristles down town and tries to organize a safety committee to run the burglars out of the place. The wife, meanwhile, puts the money she thus gets hold of where it will do the most good for the family.

There isn't much poetry about a theory of this nature, but it may be pretty near the mark in some instances.

The Children's Fair.—The following gentlemen have sent prizes to be competed for by the exhibitors at the children's fair, which will open to-morrow, at 9 o'clock, at President Young's school-house, immediately north of Eagle Gate: James Dwyer, David James, Spencer Clawson, W. H. Rowe, T. G. Webster, B. W. Seay, John C. Outler, D. O. Calder, E. J. Swain & Co., Thomas W. Jennings, Frank Jennings, J. B. Glass, Little & Roundy, Henry Dinwoodey and H. B. Clawson. The premiums will be awarded by a committee selected for the purpose. Perhaps there are some others who would like to contribute to so worthy an object. Specimens are arriving and being placed in position by the committee of arrangement, under the direction of Sister B. C. Clawson.

Disclaimer.—On F. M. A. last night appeared in our columns under the head of "dumbbony to be drowned," a vendor of cosmetics, who was described as a dangerous person. A woman who sells a cosmetic called to-day, and being of slender build, was afraid that she might be taken for the individual referred to. She assures us that she does not engage in the pursuits specially condemned in the article. We insert this disclaimer at her request.

Swiss and German Wanted.—We find this in the Bear Lake Democrat:

We understand there are several Swiss and German emigrants expected in a few days. They are coming with the company that sailed from Liverpool on August 28. We are pleased to hear of this, and hope that many more will continue to come to Bear Lake Valley. We want both mechanics and laborers, as it is almost impossible to hire either at present. The emigration will not only benefit the older settlers but it will be a great benefit to the emigrants themselves, for they can find no place in the mountains where they can do better, nor sooner become independent, so far as the necessities of life are concerned, than in this valley. We hope that our Swiss and German brethren and sisters, and all emigrants who may come here will receive a hearty welcome by the citizens, and that all will lend a helping hand in finding them homes and employment.

"Mormon Panorama."—A goodly number of people witnessed Brother C. A. Christensen's first exhibition of his improved "Mormon Panorama" in the 13th Ward Assembly Room last night. The subjects treated upon are in themselves very instructive and interesting, as they portray some of the most important scenes of Church History, and necessarily work upon the tender feelings of an intelligent audience. There is however some deficiency in Brother Christensen's voice as a lecturer, and he would greatly add to the interest of his exhibitions by engaging some one to travel with him who could speak the English language more clearly and effectively. The paintings are well executed and a credit to the artist. Everybody, young and old, ought to go and see the "Mormon Panorama." The exhibition will be repeated to-night at the same place.

Salt Lake Basin.—An interesting picture by Mr. Carl Anderson, of Ogden, is now at the Basin. It is a scene at Kahua, on the Sandwich Islands, showing a spot well known to the "Mormon" missionaries, and giving a fair idea of the peculiar tones of nature in that particular land, the foliage being particularly good, but the other coloring a trifle too raw. The old "Mormon" meeting house stands out in bold relief, in its quaint and dilapidated lack of architecture, and appears to be situated in one of the loveliest spots to be found. Close to the sea and almost in the mountains, the old house of worship seems to be so completely alone as to make one wonder who could be the worshippers. It has just the feeling about it to set a painter to work. Mr. Anderson has made it a study to get the colors as nearly natural as possible, but one can hardly realize that the ocean is so coldly and so intensely blue. It attracts much attention on account of the novelty of the subject and the striking characteristics of feature.
