Anecdote of Miss Cushman.

Says a writer in the Dramatic News: "Harry Jarrett told me the other night about that Cushman farewell at Booth's Theater. The arrangement was that Miss Cushman should receive $500 a night, and it was distinctly agreed that the engagement should be advertised as the actress' farewell to the stage. The nights all paid well, but special efforts were put forth to make the last night an ovation. The public got wild over it, and seats sold at a tremendous premium. One hundred and fifty dollars were paid for a box. Seats were sold at $5, $7 and $10. Miss Cushman saw all this going on, and the day before the last Saturday she said to Mr. Jarrett: 'I am feeling very badly; I think I shall be sick to-morrow night—in fact, I know I shall. Haven't you got some medicine you can give me?' Jarrett thought of returning the money of an $8,000 house and trembled. He said: 'Don't you think a $1,000 check would be good medicine, and would ward off the sickness?' 'You are my savior!' exclaimed Miss Cushman; 'I knew you were a good physician.' The extra $1,000 were given her and she played. In Philadelphia, the week following, business was again immense, and when the farewell night came near, Miss Cushman said she felt ever so much like breaking down, but she thought that a repetition of the New York medicine would do her good. Jarrett & Palmer had to give her another extra $1,000.

ABOUT HINGES.—The man who invented hinges for doors was overpowered by the idea that doors were to be made to open and shut. They have of late years been used for that purpose. The object of a door in winter is to keep out the cold, and in summer to let in a draft, aside from the convenience it may have of furnishing a short cut from room to room. It is only in the big buildings occupied by lawyers, doctors, agents, etc., that one discovers how much importance is attached to a closed door. Every door has a sign on the outside asking the public to shut it, but the man behind the door realizes that not one person in ten will comply with the request. Therefore, he tacks a sign on the inside of the door reading: "Swing me back." Some folks will slowly respond, as if it were a great effort to shut a door, while others will not even see the placard. For the benefit of these last there is a sign on the wall asking: "Have you shut the door?" Some have and some haven't. Those who haven't are not looking at the wall for signs, and in order that they may receive a hint another sign is hung over the coal stove. It delicately inquires: "Why in —— didn't you shut the door?" Some men, you know, can't even see a sign on a stove, and as a last resort the owner of the office hangs out a card reading—

"Dear Sir—The door leading to the hall is on hinges. Will you please shut it before going further? And if not, why not?"

Some men return and shut the door, and some heave a sigh and then go on with their business. For such men there is no hope.—Ex.

THE LOST RING.—An amusing incident occurred at Stoke Church, Devonport, in England, the other morning. The Rev. J. De Courcelles, the curate, was officiating at a wedding, and when he asked for the ring it was missing. The bridegroom declared that the bride had it; the bride said to the contrary. The service was stopped; both turned out their pockets, and, meanwhile, the bridegroom rated the bride somewhat soundly for her alleged carelessness, while the bride persisted that she had given the ring previously to the bridegroom, and that he must have lost it. Mr. De Courcelles had no ring on, nor had any one in the church, and the bride and bridegroom departed to the church porch—the one grumbling and the other scolding—to look for the missing link. At length it struck the clerk that a small ring attached to his watch-guard, on which hung a locket, might be detached and lent for the occasion. It was very small, but it just went on the orthodox finger, and the clergyman, therefore, returned to the altar, and the two were made man and wife. Directly they were married, however, the railing commenced again, and continued until the ring was found in the bowl of a pipe that was in the man's pocket.—New York Sun.

CentennialL

World Exhibition,

MASON & HAMLIN

CABINET

ORGANS

Unanimously assigned the

"FIRST RANK

IN THE

"SEVERAL REQUISITES"

of such Instruments!

The MASON & HAMLIN ORGAN CO. have the honor to announce that the Organs of their manufacture have been unanimously assigned "the FIRST RANK in the SEVERAL REQUISITES of instruments of the class" by the Judges at the CENTENNIAL EXHIBITION at Philadelphia, 1876, and are the ONLY INSTRUMENTS OF THIS GENERAL CLASS AWARDED THIS RANK. This is after the severest competition by the best makers, before one of the most competent juries ever assembled.

They have also received the MEDAL, but, as is well known, medals of equal merit have been awarded all articles deemed worthy of recognition; so thus it will be easy for many makers to advertise that they have received "first medals."

The differences in competing articles, and their comparative excellence, are recognized in the Reports of the Judges from which the following is an extract:—

"THE MASON & HAMLIN ORGAN CO.'S exhibit of Reed Organs and Harmoniums shows instruments of the FIRST RANK IN THE SEVERAL REQUISITES OF INSTRUMENTS OF THE CLASS, viz: Smoothness and equal distribution of tone, scope of expression, resonance and singing quality, freedom and quickness in action of keys and bellows, with thoroughness of workmanship, combined with simplicity of action."

(Signed by all the Judges.)

The Mason and Hamlin Organs are thus declared to rank first, not in one or two respects only, but in the SEVERAL REQUISITES of such instruments, and they are the Only ones assigned this rank. This triumph was not unexpected, for the Mason & Hamlin Cabinet Organs have uniformly been awarded the highest honors in competitions in America, there having been scarcely six exceptions in hundreds of competitions. They were awarded highest honors and

FIRST MEDALS

PARIS, 1867; VIENNA, 1873; SANTIAGO, 1875

PHILADELPHIA, 1876;

and have thus been awarded highest honors at

at which they have been exhibited; being the Only American Organs which have ever obtained any Award at any competition with best European makers; or in any European World's Exposition!

NEW STYLES, with improvements, exhibited at the CENTENNIAL elegant new cases in great variety. Prices very lowest consistent with best material and workmanship. Organs sold for cash on installments, or rented until rent pays. Every Organ warranted to give entire satisfaction to every reasonable purchaser or THE MONEY REFUNDED. ☞ ILLUSTRATED CATALOGUES sent free.
