

committee appointed on the previous evening, presented the following resolutions, which were adopted—

"Resolved, That we adopt, for the destruction of the codling moth, the plan suggested in the article published in the DESERET NEWS of February 11th, 1875, as affording the best method at present in our possession.

"Resolved, That a united, intelligent and unremitting effort is indispensable to stop the further ravages of the moth.

"Resolved, That the bishop of each ward or settlement appoint a man to take the oversight of the work, and that he appoint one or more persons on each block, as he may deem necessary, to assist him; whose business it shall be to give the people all needed information and see that the work is prosecuted with earnestness and vigor.

"Resolved, That the Horticultural Society of Salt Lake City are requested to publish, from time to time, all information they may derive from any source, which will in any degree aid in the promotion of the fruit-growing and fruit-protecting industries of the Territory."

On Thursday evening a resolution was adopted by the meeting that persons writing articles on the destruction of the moth, designed for publication, should first send their communications to the Horticultural Society of this City, for approval or disapproval.

MORMON PROSELYTISM.

THE Pittsburgh Leader of March 22, commenting upon the recent baptism of the tribe of 150 Sheebit Indians at St. George, says—

"This is not quite such a wholesale conversion as that recorded by us the other day, wherein fifty thousand Prussian Unitarians were brought into the Orthodox fold of the Greek church in twenty-four hours by a prompt and effective administration of the knout, but it is nevertheless the most wholesale piece of missionary success that has been recorded for a long time. It transcends the Russian precedent in the fact that these Sheebits came voluntarily to baptism, and it transcends the successes of our evangelical mission, in that it is sweepingly successful among the very race that our Protestant churches find the hardest to bring under gospel influences—namely, the North American Indians.

"We are rather curious to know whether our religious people of this vicinity will be more inclined to rejoice or to mourn over this Mormon conversion of Indians. We should very much like to see some of our religious weeklies take up the case and discuss it from their standpoint. We suspect there are many Christians who would think that it were better for the Indians to remain as they are than to be perverted to the ——— gospel as it is in Joseph Smith. We are very sure, however, that this is a mistaken view. The Mormon gospel is * * * not so frightful as many people think it. At the worst it is not worse in its social and priestly dispensations, including polygamy, than that of Moses. Nay, as it has not slavery in its code, which Moses had, it is that much more advanced. Certainly, compared with the social and religious life of the savages which invest it, Mormonism is the sun of civilization itself. It holds to all the cardinal doctrines on which our churches lay so much stress—belief in the Trinity, in the atonement, in justification by faith, in the whole Bible, and especially in Christ; and if to these it has added a good many new revelations, they all have Scriptural precedent.

* * * While in industry, honesty, frugality, desire to learn and improve, and adaptability to civilized influences, the Mormons will compare favorably with any people.

"We therefore look upon the conversion of Indians to Mormonism as an unalloyed good, a decided advance, the conversion of nomad, useless savages to a useful life, the first step toward making 'Indians not taxed' good citizens. And we see no reason why the government should not as well encourage the Mormon propaganda in this direction as that of the Presbyterians, Catholics, Methodists and Quakers, in their labors for the conversion and elevation of the red men."

A VALUABLE DISCOVERY—Landrum, of the firm of Landrum & Rodgers, breeders and importers of pure bred Angora goats and Cotswold sheep, presented us a few days ago with a piece of the pelt of an Angora goat, which had been dyed a beautiful black by the firm of McCracken & Welch, of San Jose. This is the first success of a black dye on a goat or fur skin in America, without injury to the skin or fur. Hundreds of dyers and even thousands have tried it. Seal skins are sent to England to be dyed, and returned to America with a duty of $4, besides freights or interests. This dye stands washing with the strongest soap without fading in the least. It has not yet been tested whether time will change it in a hot sunshine, but it is a brilliant jet black, and we think it will stand all the tests of weather and sun. Mr. McCracken in an old goat breeder, and well skilled in the business. This late discovery will make a demand for all the Angora pelts of this coast, for robes and furs to ship East to an unlimited market.—Watsonville (Cal.) Pajaronian, March 27th.

DIED.

At Monroe, Sevier Co., Feb. 23, SARAH wife of Dennison L. Harris and daughter of James and Eleanor Wilson.

Deceased was born at Shelbyville, Bedford County, Tennessee, Sept. 20, 1824; baptized near Adam-on-di-Ahman when about thirteen years of age; suffered cruel hardships with the saints in their expulsion from Missouri; gathered with the saints to these valleys in 1852; was a great sufferer at intervals, for the past ten years, from dyspepsia, aggravated by her trying age, and finally dropped asleep as calmly as an infant in its mother's arms, without a pang. She was a most exemplary wife and mother, and very highly esteemed by an extensive and numerous circle of friends. She left a husband and six children.—COM.

At Grantsville, Tooele Co., March 31, of diphtheria, EMERY, infant son of Charles W. and Mary H. Bailey, aged 1 year, 2 months and 15 days.

A dotting father's fondest hope,
A loving mother's dearest joy,
Are quickly rent in twain by Death,
Who robbed us of our darling boy.

But God who governs from above,
Looked down upon our child with love,
Then took him to his holy care,
To shield him till we meet him there.

At Franklin, Idaho, April 3rd, ENOCH BROADBENT.

Deceased was born at Kexby, Lincolnshire, England, May 5th, 1812; was baptized in August, 1849, by Elder Jos. E. Taylor, now sexton of Salt Lake City; left England in December, 1850, and arrived in these mountains in 1852; was the son of John and Sarah Broadbent. He left a wife and eight children; was much respected by his acquaintances.—COM.

Ayer's CHERRY PECTORAL!

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

THE few compositions, which have won the confidence of mankind and become household words, among not only one but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one ever secured so wide a reputation, or maintained it so long, as Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. It has been known to the public about forty years, by a long continued series of marvellous cures, that have won for it a confidence in its virtues, never equalled by any other medicine. It still makes the most effectual cures of Coughs, Colds, Consumption, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed the CHERRY PECTORAL has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, that is well founded, if the remedy be taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords by its timely use in sudden attacks.

Ayer's Hair Vigor, FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

To its Natural Vitality and Color.

ADVANCING years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray, and either of them incline it to shed prematurely. AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, by long and extensive use, has proven that it stops the falling of the hair immediately; often renews the growth, and always surely restores its color, when faded or gray. It stimulates the nutritive organs to healthy activity, and preserves both the hair and its beauty. Thus brassy, weak, or sickly hair becomes glossy, pliable and strengthened; lost hair regrows with lively expression; falling hair is checked and established; thin hair thickens, and faded or gray hair resume their original color. Its operation is sure and harmless. It cures dandruff, heals all humors, and keeps the scalp cool, clean and soft—under which conditions diseases of the scalp are impossible.

As a dressing for ladies' hair, the VIGOR is praised for its grateful and agreeable perfume, and valued for the soft lustre and richness of tone it imparts.
