Edwin T. Woolley Sues for Wages-Sorry Career of Crime-News Briefs.

An action has been filed in the Second district court by Edwin T. Woolley to recover $708 from the Ogden Woolen Mills company. The complaint alleges that in March of 1903, the plaintiff entered into an agreement with the company to act as the manager of the mills for a period of one year at a salary of $125 per month, but that since August last the company has failed to keep its part of the contract, but plaintiff has held himself at all times ready to fulfill his part; and that if the company does not fulfill its part it is liable. It will be remembered that the woolen mills which were own. ed by the company were totally destroyed by fire last August and have never been rebuilt. Shortly after the fire Bishop Wooley was notified that his services as manager must be dispensed with as there was nothing for him to manage, but the manager wants his wages just as though the factory had been running. The woolen mills have not been rebuilt and it is not expected will be rebuilt, hence the company has no use for a manager.

Mrs. Minnie Duncan will be sent home to Denver and her burly husband, a negro as black as the darkest night. will spend three months breaking stone at the city's stockade. The young colored woman who says she is but 16 years of age, and looks it, claims she was induced by Duncan to swear she was of age at Denver and married him, and has ever since led a life of misery and crime. He has been cruel to her and forced her to earn her own and his living in ways that are not honorable. They were taken in custody by the pofor stealing and Duncan lice for stealing and Duncan got 90 days for his recompense, while the girl was sent to the Crittenton home until she can be sent back home from the rascal who led her such a life

MUST CLEAN UP RUBBISH.

The city board of health made a round up yesterday of some of the business and residence parts of the city, and found the most of the back yards in a fairly clean condition, but in a few places they found garbage and rubbish strewn around. Where such unhealthy conditions were found the owners of the places were notified to clean up, so that the health of the pepole may be kept up. The cleaning up of all kinds of rubbish and decaying matter around homes should be given immediate attention, as spring and warm weather will soon be here and if the back yards are not in a clean condition disease germs will grow and infect the air, causing much sickness. The public should be interested enough In this matter themselves to clean up without having to be notified to do so by the city health officers.
