

SECOND DAY OF SHOCKLEY TRIAL.

There Were no Jurors Selected During This Morning's Session in District Court.

SEVEN HAVE BEEN SELECTED.

Thirty-Three Talemans Have Been Examined by Counsel for Both Sides To Date.

MAN WHO CONVICTED ROSE IN IT.

Member of Car Crew Took More Interest in Today's Proceedings Than He Did Yesterday.

George D. Nebeker, Granger, Walter L. Price, Salt Lake City, J. W. Anderson, Salt Lake City, Frank C. Howe, Murray, John H. Bowden, Taylorsville, J. J. H. Latimer, Mill Creek, Thomas Haskford, Union.

There were no jurors secured at this morning's session of the Shockley murder trial, which is on before Judge Moore in the criminal division of the district court. Better luck attended the efforts of the attorneys in the case yesterday afternoon when seven of the necessary twelve jurors were secured to try the case. The names of the jurors thus far secured appear above.

Eighteen jurors were examined by the defense and the state yesterday. Of that number, seven were acceptable to both sides and were sworn in, nine were challenged for cause by the defense on the ground of implied bias and were excused by the court, one was excused upon the first peremptory challenge by the state and one was excused upon the first peremptory challenge by the defense.

At this morning's session of court 15 jurors were called to the box for examination, and of that number 11 were challenged for cause by the defense and one by the state. One of the jurors excused, James T. Clabey, did not believe in capital punishment. Juror J. J. H. Latimer, who was accepted yesterday, was a juror in the Rose murder trial. The examination of three of the jurors called today had not been completed by Attorney Smith when the court adjourned for the noon recess. The attorney for the defense used his second peremptory challenge this morning and excused William Healy. Shockley appeared to take more interest in the proceedings today than he did yesterday and paid close attention to the questions put to the jurors by the attorneys and to the answers to the same. Unless the attorneys have a run of luck like they did yesterday afternoon, it is not probable that the jury will be completed today.

FIRE FREAKS.

Vice President Thorp of Fire Proof Door Co. Tells Some Experiences.

Vice President Walter H. Thorp of the Fire Proof Door company of Minneapolis, and a graduate of Michigan university, '96, is a guest at the Kenyon, en route to Los Angeles. Mr. Thorp says business in his line is being accelerated not only by the growing scarcity of lumber, but by the fact that recent extensive fires in big commercial centers show that fire proof doors are a decided advantage. Mr. Thorp visited the scene of the Baltimore fire, and noticed that in the big fire proof buildings, the wooden doors were burned up as clean as if they had been so much paper. He also noted some remarkable cracks of the fire. In one big structure, a bronze vase was melted flat while only a few feet away a paper drawing in a wooden frame was not even scorched. In another office a door was burned out, leaving only the melted lock on the floor, while behind a partition perhaps three feet distant, a roll of toilet paper remained unburned. In a third office, the incandescent bulbs in the electric candelabra showed no signs of fire and could have been used, while everything else in the room was consumed.

He was confident that the secretary of war would not be a chief clerk to register the decrees of the general staff, but will rise above it and be the secretary of war and these men will be subject to him.

WAS EFFECTED SEPT. 8, 1903.

St. Louis, April 5.—Suit to set aside the $20,000,000 consolidation of the Missouri Electric Light and Power company, the Union Electric Light and Power company and the Citizens' Electric Light and Power company, now constituent corporations of the North American Electric company of Philadelphia alleging that the merger was effected by fraud and was instituted by Morgan Jones of Denver, in the United States circuit court today. Through his attorneys he asks the court: First—To declare the merger illegal. Second—That an injunction be forthwith issued to restrain the officers of the consolidated companies from further use of the funds.

The army organ's correspondent at Lioa Yang forwards a description of Gen. Kuropatkin's headquarters as follows:

KUROPATKIN'S HEADQUARTERS.

"There is none of the pomp and circumstance in life here. Nothing but a round of hard work. The stone cottages built for the staff are cold and cheerless. Inside the offices we have to sit in furs despite the roaring fires but they are too busy to notice the discomfort. Every cottage resounds with the click of the typewriter drawing up details of the disposition of the troops. We have eclipsed the Germans in precision and promptitude. There is no confusion or bustle. As soon as a regiment arrives it is comfortably quartered in warm, roomy barracks, the men are well fed and rested and are then sent off to their allotted stations. There is no serious illness among the arrivals and no epidemics."

The German wireless telegraph system has been adopted at the Balkan front because the Czecho-Slovak works are too busy supplying warships with the Pophoff system to furnish apparatus for Balkan. The Novosti devotes a long editorial to show that the proposed new triple alliance (Russia, France and Great Britain) will not be for the purpose of isolating Germany.

Capt. Stepanoff, in the statement referred to in the above dispatch, said: "At the time when the Vicksburg was stationed at Chemulpo her captain held aloof, he took no part in the conference of protest preceding the fight for the simple reason that he was not invited to do so. After the fight, like the others, he sent a surgeon with a boat to the rescue. As regards his not taking Russian seamen aboard the Vicksburg, this was unnecessary and it is more than probable that Capt. Rudnikoff, commanding the Varlag, did not ask it."
