Myth of the Magnolia.

Story of Startups' Liquid Magnolias, the world renowned Flower Perfumed Candy.

One morn a rose with smiling lips, From deep slumber awakens...

Up from the dell, with fragrant wing, And honey heavy laden...

A package then, of ferns was made, With fragrant fingers pressed...

Then sweet magnolia kissed the box, And there the trade mark rests...

They crystallized like glittering gems, And formed therein a cell...

With nectar filled, for queens to sip, And gods might taste as well...

PROVO. DISTRICT COURT ORDERS.

Demurrers Overruled—Payson Exchange Savings Bank vs Henry et al.

Provo, Oct. 7.—The following orders have been made in the Fourth district court:

Payson Exchange Savings bank vs. Patrick T. Henry and C. H. Bradley; on motion of A. B. Morgan, attorney for plaintiff, an order was made interpleading Jacob Evans as a defendant in the garnishment in the cause.

Arthur N. Taylor vs. William D. Wilson; demurrer overruled; 30 days granted defendant in which to answer.

Alex Ellis vs. J. C. Wilson; demurrer overruled and defendant given 20 days to answer.

Life Underwriters' association vs. George W. Craig; demurrer overruled; 60 days given to answer.

Mrs. Wilbur F. Hulls and daughter vs. the Electric Supply and Fixture company wherein the alleged crime was committed. In fact, it was the Hulls who first spread the alarm that some one was being murdered in the store.

Immediately following the tragedy the Hulls disappeared from Ogden, and a short time ago they were located in a Nevada town. Their testimony was considered of sufficient importance to cause two postponements of the Beers inquest, and at that time the prosecuting officers declared that they were unable to locate the witnesses.

GRANGER BROUGHT BACK.
