LAST NIGHT'S DISPATCHES

EASTERN.

Returned.

PHILADELPHIA, 27. — The first regiment of National Guards returned to-day from the coal regions.

Jury Disagreed.

CHARLESTON, S. C., 27. — The trial of the first of the eight indictments against the News and Courier for libel ended, to-day, in the disagreement of the jury, standing 11 for acquittal, 1 for conviction; the other indictments will probably never be tried.

Minister from the Netherlands.

WASHINGTON, 27.—The Chevalier Von Pestil, was, to-day, introduced to the President by the Secretary of State, and delivered his credentials as minister resident from those States.

Assumed Command.

OMAHA, 27.—General Crook assumed command of the Department of the Platte to-day.

The Missouri river is falling rapidly.

Horses and Cattle Dying.

MEMPHIS, 27.—The planters are suffering great loss in horses, mules and cattle, from the ravages of the buffalo gnats; it is estimated that within the past ten days $100,000 worth of stock has been killed by them within a radius of one hundred miles.

Banquet to Schurz.

NEW YORK, 27.—A dinner was given this evening to ex Senator Carl Schurz, by a number of prominent citizens here, prior to his departure for Europe on Thursday next. The banquet room was decorated with the American and German flags, while a band discoursed music during the evening. Hon. Wm. M. Evarts presided; at his right sat the guest of the evening, the Hon. Carl Schurz. There were about 200 present, among whom was ex-chamberlain Lane, Charles Francis Adams, Jr., Peter Cooper, S. B. Chittenden, John J. Cisco, Parke Godwin, D. A. Wells, ex-Attorney General Barlow, Howard Potter, Cyrus W. Field, Murat Halstead, Prof. Butts, Charles Butler, Whitelaw Reid, Dr. Hammond and others. After partaking of the repast Mr. Evarts called the assembly to order, and in eloquent words conveyed the complements of those present to the distinguished guest, and thanked him for his great public services. In conclusion he called on all present to fill their glasses and drink to the health of Carl Schurz, wishing him a prosperous voyage, a happy summer and a safe return.

Mr. Schurz arose and in reply said that to some a good name as a citizen is a thing desirable. "I may claim one thing, I have at least tried to do my duty, but certain disagreements of sentiment occurred between me and my party before I left the Senate. I started early in life an earnest and devoted man, and attached myself to the republican party, and served it faithfully till and after the civil war and its logical results were perfectly safe. After the war it then seemed that the time had come for taking other great problems in hand for solution. It was necessary to secure for the new order of things that favorable public opinion which is indispensable, by a wise course of conciliation and policy. It was necessary to strike down the spirit of rapacity which arose during the war, and threatened to destroy the grand old institution of our government. It was necessary to restore once more to the country a sound currency, and to lighten and regulate the burdens swaying over the people from revenue and taxation. That these evils existed no one denied, and no one denies to-day. I fondly hoped that the party to which I belonged would take these problems in hand and deal with them, but you, as well as I, know that these problems are still unsolved, and indeed retrograde movements have been made. Some earnest attempts were made in 1872 to take a middle course, but they failed. This should not cause discouragement, because the best lessons were to be learned from failure. We have two political parties to-day, but neither satisfies the people. I shall admit that in both parties there are good men, and in this and that state some good things has been done by either one or the other party, but it is like a man coming to two roads, asking which he shall take, and a person saying to him, 'stranger, you may take either, but if you do you will wish you had taken the other?' The independent voters were in the main good citizens, who wished to serve their parties by the best method, and I am convinced that the mass of independent voters is strong enough to give the victory to either party; and the independent party is too great to fritter power away." But it was the duty of the men composing it to use their power for the common good. It was too early to give advice in regard to the next Presidential election, but initiatory steps should be taken by the men composing it, to bring its power to a focus. Let it be by the organization of committees or otherwise, so that when the time came they could say to the parties what the Independents wanted. "I believe great good can be brought about in this way, and what a great blessing it will be to have a full grown statesman in the Presidential chair." The next year we would celebrate the 100th anniversary of independence; might it not only be known as the year of a proud memorial, but of strong and independent action. In conclusion the speaker returned thanks for the reception given to him. Letters of regret were read by the chairman from Wm. Cullen Bryant and Jas. Russell Lowell. The following toasts were disposed of—"The Press," Parke Godwin, "The Centennial Year," D. A. Wells, "Reform," C. F. Adams, "The West," Murat Halsted.

Funeral of Mayor Barratt.

ST. LOUIS, 27.—The funeral of Mayor Barratt took place to-day; it was the largest ever known. The procession consisted of about 300 policemen, four military companies, a large number of carriages, Gen. Sherman and part of his staff, the city council, Catholic societies, and the fire department, engines and hose. The carriages were heavily draped. The line of march was held to the late residence of the deceased, where the body lay in state. Brief services were held. The body was taken to St. John's church, where mass was celebrated. The church was draped and decorated with immortelles, white rose buds, &c. The body was then taken to Calvary cemetery and interred.

$100,000 Fire.

WATERTOWN, N. Y., 27.—A fire this morning at Herman, burned the whole of the business portion of the town except a hotel, boot and shoe store and grocery; the loss is placed at $100,000, insured $53,000. Several persons were seriously injured.

FOREIGN.

GREAT BRITAIN.

Another Swimming Match.

LONDON, 27. — Paul Boynton makes another attempt to swim the Channel; he will enter the water at Cape Grisnez, on the French coast, and will push for Dover; the day appointed is May 27.

SPAIN.

Will Salute the German Flag.

SANTANDER, 27.—The last act of the settlement of the Gustav affair will be the saluting by the Spanish fortification at Guetaria, of the German flag. The German squadron has gone to Guetaria, the scene of the outrage, to receive the salute agreed on.

FRANCE.

France and the Centennial.

PARIS, 27. — M. De Lafayette, president of the French commission for the Philadelphia exhibition, states that encouraging letters have been received from all the ports of France, and many deputations from the metal manufacturers, and the principal wine growers of the Gironde and the merchants of Lyons have visited the commission and promised active co-operation.

Disreputable Advertising Circulars.

But the effect of the miscellaneous advertising circulars now so freely flooding the country is a serious evil to contend with. Comparatively few really immoral advertisements creep into the newspapers. But the harm effected through the privacy of the circular is so great as to demand the careful attention of good people. Hundreds of cases come to light every year in which evils of the worst description are shown to have resulted from these circulars sent privately to young persons of both sexes. In almost every instance, these circulars were of such a nature that their contents, if put in the form of a newspaper advertisement, would not have been received by the publishers of any journal with the least pretension to respectability; the evil thereof lies entirely with this abominable circular system of advertising, and in this connection one can hardly refuse a tribute of gratitude to the frank and open columns of the newspapers, which, while they are ready to disseminate a knowledge of all the ornamental, useful, desirable or necessary objects of the advertiser, are closed to the pernicious announcements of men who care considerably less for the souls or bodies of their fellow man than for the financial condition of their own unworthy pockets. As for their personal souls, they have so little of the article that no injury could possibly accrue to them—they were sold as the devil's commodity about the first time these gentlemen constructed their first "strictly confidential circular." — Rowell's Reporter.

"Falling Water" is the pretty name of an Indian maiden up in Chippewa county, but she chews tobacco and wears an old pair of army pants, with horn buttons on them.—Milwaukee News.
