Colorado and Utah Champions Met

In Theater for Final Contest.

L. D. S. TEAM WILL GO EAST.

Playing With Colorado Shows That Utah Boys Are in the Front Rank Of Basket-ball Teams.

The game of basketball between the Colorado and Utah champions tonight will be a rare battle. The Colorado boys are determined to take this game. They were barely defeated at the first game and lost by a scratch in Logan, while they were forced to quit the game at Provo on account of the violence of the Provo team. They feel that while the Utah boys are their peers in the sport, luck has been slightagainst them, and that they have an even chance of righting themselves to night. They are very swift and bril-liant players, and their team work always wins applause. At the contest tonight they will do their utmost. The team of the L. D. S. U. will probably line-up tonight with Taylor sub-stituted for either Lund or Smith, as it is Taylor's turn to play. There is very little choice among these three, each of whom is a careful and effective player. Christy's wrist is nearly well, and he may be expected to get into some of his spectacular plays again this evening. Stanton feels that he ought to make some of his oldtime throws tonight. In fact, each side is confident of winning, and a close conest is expected.

The team of the Latter-day - Saints university will probably go to Cheyenne in the near future. The champion team of Wyoming desires to try conclusions with the Utah champions, and a "swing around the circle," to Cheyenne, Dens
