SPECIAL BUSINESS NOTICES.

To the Citizens of Salt Lake City.

The small pox of Ogden City has proved to be of a very malignant confluent character.

All persons suspected of having been recently exposed to the disease should be immediately placed in quarantine.

Railroad conductors and train hands in general are respectfully requested to watch their trains closely, that no infected individual be brought to this city and allowed to mix with the public.

Disinfectants should be profusely used in every passenger car, box car and caboose, that are constantly on transit between this city and Ogden.

A kettle of burning tar should be kept in each car sufficiently long to permeate every interstice and crevice with the fumes thereof, at least three times a week.

Carbolic acid and water, 20 per cent. solution, should be sprinkled freely over the floors and platforms of every car, every day.

I trust that all railroad officials and citizens throughout the city and county will take all possible preventive measures to keep away the dreaded scourge from their midst.

Respectfully,

SEYMOUR B. YOUNG, M.D.,
Quarantine Physician for Salt Lake City. d 50 4

LOCAL AND OTHER MATTERS.

Fined.—A fellow giving the name of [illegible] was fined $10 this morning, by Justice Pyper, for getting drunk and refusing to pay for it.

Peace Disturbers.—Last night two young fellows, Barney Lovi and Charley Carlson, made a disturbance on the Scandinavian meeting. They assembled and abused the doorkeeper and created considerable noise and confusion. A warrant was issued to-day for their arrest.

Stealing Case.—Saturday afternoon William Garrison was fined $50 and sentenced to imprisonment for fifteen days, for stealing a set of harness from Mr. Oliver Ross, of the 6th Ward. It has been ascertained that the owner of the harness was Mr. Alfred Best, which was an error.

To-Night.—William Clegg, the Springville poet, with many of whose effusions the public are familiar, will give an entertainment in the Fourteenth Ward Assembly Rooms this evening at 7.30 o'clock, at which he will recite a number of original pieces, humorous and sentimental. We hope he will be greeted by a full house.

Confirmed.—The Supreme Court of Utah has affirmed the judgment of the First District Court, in the case of Wallace Wilkerson, convicted and condemned to death, for murder. We understand it is intended to take the case on appeal, to the Supreme Court of the United States.

A Convenient Article.—The most convenient gas burner we have ever seen is at Z. C. M. I., and was brought from the east by Mr. Spencer Clawson. By means of a wire attached the gas can be turned down as low as the speck of a jet, protected from extinguishment by an outer globe. By an instant, by the same wire, the flame can be turned to its full height. Its advantages are that it saves time, trouble and gas.

Distribution of Gifts.—There was an interesting time at the Thirteenth Ward Sunday school, yesterday, when a distribution of gifts took place in the presence of a number of visitors. The school is under the superintendency of Elder William Taylor, and is in excellent condition. After the opening exercises, Elder Hamburg, by invitation, made a few interesting remarks upon religion and education. The prizes were then distributed by the twelve gentlemen and eleven ladies present to the 215 bright, intelligent pupils.

A brief and fatherly address was delivered by Bishop E. D. Woolley, when the proceedings closed, every body appearing to be satisfied that an interesting and profitable time had been enjoyed.

The Lecture.—Prof. Maeser's lecture, at the 14th Ward Assembly rooms, on Saturday evening, was attended by a fine, intelligent and appreciative audience. It was an intellectual treat. The gentleman contended that individuals who had battled with error and strong for the truth and right had obtained much of their strength and encouragement that sustained them in the contest from "Voices from the Future," to them anticipation points to a time when unborn generations would eulogize the correctness of their positions by the universal acknowledgment of the soundness of the principles then enunciated. The lecturer illustrated his subject with interesting anecdotes, and beautiful figures of speech. Toward the conclusion he told the young people that they could let the glowing reflections of truth point to the highest possible political platform of moral and intellectual excellence, and nothing could stretch beyond what is the privilege and right of attainment. But if worldly matters pre-dominating be with physical pleasures, the most eminent ones are [illegible] by the weakest patients, and labor, taking step by step until the fearful chasm upon the extreme [illegible].

At the close a vote of thanks was returned Prof. Maeser for his excellent lecture, and to Bishop Thomas Taylor for the free use of the hall and lights.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

COUNCIL.

January 21st, 1877.

The Council met at the regular hour, two p. m.

The Council was notified that the House concurred in increasing the number of daily minutes to 100; also that a motion of Mr. Fisher's, for 200 copies of members, officers and standing committees of both Houses, had passed the House.

The Council concurred.

A communication from James Dwyer, tendering the courtesies of his book store, and the use of his works of reference to the Council, was received and read.

Councilor Thurber moved the thanks of the Council to Mr. James Dwyer for the above courtesy; carried.

Councilor Snow announced the demise, last August, of Hon. Brigham Young, and moved the appointment of a committee to act with a House committee, to draft resolutions of respect; carried.

The President appointed Councilors Snow and Thatcher said committee.

HOUSE.

W. G. Smith, member for the Counties of Davis and Morgan, was sworn in.

Letters were received from C. J. Hollister and J. B. McKean, Esqrs., acknowledging the freedom of the House.

Mr. Pace presented a petition from J. W. Hooden and 67 others, praying for legislation for the protection of fish in the Utah Lake; referred to the committee on agriculture.

Mr. Rockwood presented the report of the Z. C. Fish Association; read and referred to the committee on agriculture and 200 copies ordered to be printed.

Messages were received from the Council, to the effect that they concurred with Mr. Fisher's motion for printing standing committees, etc., and that Councilors Snow and Thatcher were appointed a committee to report resolutions expressive of the sense of the Legislative Assembly on the demise of the late Hon. Brigham Young, and asking for a like committee from the House, to act in the premises.

Messrs. Carrington, Preston and Pace were appointed as such committee.

The financial reports of Beaver, Utah and Rich Counties were handed in and referred.

Theatre.—A good house on Saturday evening. The audience, especially that part in the upper circles, were upressions in their applause of the startling incidents of the drama of "Si Slocum," the fills ancoung [illegible] the Frames and the performances of the trained dog Jack. It is rare that all who take part in a play are as well up to the mark as were those who appeared on Saturday evening. They appeared to advantage without exception.

To-morrow and Wednesday evenings Madame Rentz' Female Minstrels and Mabel Santley's London Burlesque Troupe will appear, with magnificent costumes, in a variety entertainment which has received many marked encomiums from the press. A matinee will be given on Wednesday. See advt.

Harpers'.—Harpers' illustrated magazine contains to its February number: Along our Jersey Shore, with 24 illustrations; The Fiscal Conspiracy, with nine illustrations; A Return, a poem, with one illustration; Punished Enough, a story, with two illustrations; The Dunmow Flitch, 1877, with four illustrations; Joseph Mallord William Turner, with nineteen illustrations; Macleod of Dare, with one illustration; The Return of the Native; The Turkish Wars with the Hospitaler; A Glimpse at Some of our Charities, Part I; Nobody's Business, a story; A Painter on Painting; Editor's Easy Chair, Literary Record, Scientific Record, Historical Record and Drawer.

Yacht Club Ball.—Next Friday evening, the annual re-union of the Salt Lake Yacht Club will take place in Emporium Hall, when a grand ball will be given at which the members of the club will appear in uniform. A very pleasant time is anticipated. The News acknowledges a courteous invitation. The committee of arrangements is composed of Commodore D. L. Davis, Vice-Commodore J. M. Barratt, and Treasurer L. A. Cummings.

U. S. DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE.

Division in charge of Exhibits of American Agriculture Products for the Paris Exposition of 1878.

WASHINGTON, D. C.
January 15th, 1878.

In pursuance of the authority vested in him by act of Congress, approved December 15, 1877, the Commissioner of Agriculture has undertaken "to collect and prepare as far as practicable, and with as little delay as possible, suitable specimens of the agricultural productions of the several States and Territories of the Union for exhibition at the Paris Exposition."

He therefore proposes to accept, from any source, specimens of native fertilizing materials, of vegetable products of every description, capable of ready preservation and exhibition, and of materials manufactured from such products. This will include intermediate products of the methods of manufacture, which may be so arranged as to show, as far as is possible by means of them, the processes employed. The classification of materials adopted by the Department is as follows:

FIRST. Native fertilizing materials.

A. Mineral. South Carolina phosphates, (raw and ground) gypsum, green sand, marl, salt, ashes, lime.

B. Vegetable. Sea weeds, peat or muck.

C. Animal. Bat guanos, bones, refuse from sugar refineries (bone-black, scum), refuse from abattoirs (dried blood), oil works (seed cake, flesh and bone cracklin, fish guano).

SECOND. Raw materials of the States and Territories, to be prepared with reference to the peculiarity of growth of each locality.

A. Cereals. Wheat, rye, maize, buckwheat, oats, barley, rice.

B. Fibres. Animal and vegetable; wool, silk, cotton, hemp, flax, jute, ramie, palmetto, straw, sea-weed, marsh grasses, grass, silver, yucca.

C. Sugars. Sugar cane, sorghum, beets, maple sugar, sugar corn.

D. Tobacco and Hops.

E. Seeds. A. Cultivated for fodder; clover, timothy, blue grass.

B. Cultivated for oil; cotton seed, flax seed, castor beans, ground nuts.

C. Cultivated for vegetables used for food, and for other purposes; beans, peas, cabbage, tomatoes, etc.

F. Fodder. Preserved for feeding cattle.

G. Broom Corn, and other products grown for manufacture of brushes.

H. Fruits and Vegetables, capable of preservation, or models of them in wax or plaster of Paris, colored in oil.

I. Woods of forest trees.

J. Barks, leaves and whole plants, used for tanning and dyeing.

K. Vegetable materials used in pharmacy and medicine.

THIRD. Materials raw and manufactured, to be especially arranged to illustrate the methods of utilization and manufacture of agricultural products. In this section each product will be accompanied by the materials that may be manufactured from it, and specimens taken from the different stages of the process of manufacture, to be so arranged as to show the steps through which the said material must pass to make the finished product. It will embrace the following:

I. Vegetable materials manufactured for food for human consumption.

1. Cereal products, flour, meal, farina, hominy, grits.

2 Preserved Fruits, by drying, hermetically sealing, packing in sugar and syrups, packing in brandy.

3 Saccharine products, cane sugar, beet-root sugar, sorghum sugar, maple sugar, and sugar from sweet corn.

4. Products of Fermentation of vegetable materials.

A. Acetous fermentation vinegar.

B. Vinous fermentation wine from fruits; beer, ale, and porter from cereals.

C. Distillates from fermented vegetable materials; brandy from fermented fruits; whiskey from fermented cereals; rum from fermented molasses and other refuse from manufacture of sugar.

II. Vegetable materials prepared for food for animal consumption.

Meal from corn and other grains; refuse from various manufactories, of cake, refuse from flouring and hominy mills, distilleries, etc. Dried and preserved fodder, hay, whole grains, corn, oats, etc.

III. Vegetable materials not used for foods, but utilized in the arts.

1. Starch from wheat, corn, potatoes, rice, roots.

A. By the fermentation method.

B. By means of special solvents.

2. Fibrous materials utilized by spinning and weaving. Wool and its products; silk and its products; cotton, hemp, flax, jute, ramie.

3. Fibrous materials utilized in the manufacture of paper. Cotton and cotton waste, linen and linen waste, straw, from various sources, jute, Palmetto, yucca, pita, aloe.

4. Tobacco; chewing, smoking, snuff. Hops.

5. Tanning materials, bark, raw, ground and ground; oak, hemlock, willow, pine, yellow birch, larch, sweet gum. Extracts of barks. Leaves and plants, sumac, polygonum amphibium, Epedra antisyphilitica, sweet fern. Woods, mesquite and osage orange.

6. Dyeing Materials, quercitron and sumac, coleus leaves, indigo.

7. Resins and products of distillation of resinous products. From pines, turpentine, rosin, tar, pitch. Resins secreted subsequent to puncture of insects, and materials of like character.

8. Woods arranged with reference to their botanical position and economic value.

9. Products of dry distillation of wood. Pyroligneous acid, tar, acid and acetates.

10. Vegetable Oils. A. Extracted by pressure, from cotton seed, castor bean, flax seed, and peanuts.

B. By distillation; from peppermint, horsemint, spearmint, cedar, erigeron, pennyroyal, wintergreen, sereh, petit grain, sassafras, wormseed, wormwood, wild sage, tansy, hemlock, golden rod, cherry-laurel, etc.

II. Vegetable products employed in pharmacy and medicine. Dried plants and parts of plants, and extracts made from them; active proximate principles.

FOURTH. Plans of methods of farming, irrigation, fruit culture, etc.

FIFTH. Working models of machinery and apparatus employed in the utilization of agricultural products.

The conditions under which specimens for this collection will be received, are as follows:

1. All specimens must be the very best of their kind. They must be carefully labeled and securely packed, and must be accompanied with a clear and concise statement of their origin, mode of production, and method of preparation.

2. The quantity of each specimen must be sufficient to clearly show the quality and physical properties of the product, and, with the exception of very costly materials, must be sufficient to fill a vessel of one gallon capacity, and need not exceed that amount unless otherwise particularly specified. For cereals and other field seeds the quantity of each specimen must not be less than half a bushel, when entered for competition.

3. Contributors to the collections of this Department will receive due credit on the labels of the specimens when exhibited, and in reports made by this Department. They may, if they so desire, enter their contributions for competition and prize. For this purpose they must comply with the following instruction:

"Under the French Regulations and those which the Commissioner General has issued in conformity with them, it is necessary that all exhibits for competition be entered in the names of the exhibitors. Each of the latter must sign an application (blank form herein enclosed) as their names will be carried through the books and go to the judges."

4. At the close of the Exposition the contributions will be disposed of according to the desire of the contributor, that is, they will be returned to the Department for preservation and permanent exhibition, returned to the contributors, or disposed of in Paris.

5. Expenses of transportation to this city must be prepaid by contributors, but for packages of the weight of which will not exceed the limit allowed by law for mailable matter (four pounds), the Department will furnish, on application, postage to repay expenses of transmission through the mails. After the arrival of goods at this point, the Department will take entire charge of them until their return to this country.

6. The Exposition will be opened on May 1, and it is therefore necessary that all material for exhibition shall be delivered here before February 15. Parties desirous to contribute material should therefore communicate the fact at once, in order to avoid further delay.

7. Shipping cards for packages to be sent to this Department, will be furnished on application.
