grave would cover all the others within a few years. The claim made by some papers that this state has broken its compact with the general govern-ment is, in the light of facts, ridiculous, and even mendacious. The Enabling Act, by which the state was admitted specificially stipulates as a condition of the compact with the people of Utah "that polygamous or plural marriages are forever prohibited;" and so they have been. The testimony introduced

MRS. CARTENSEN DEAD.

Mrs. Karen Cartensen, one of Og-den's best known and most highly re-spected residents, died last night at the family residence, 2669 Monroe ave-nue, of cerebral hemorinage, from which she has been suffering for some weeks. The deceased was a native of Denmark and 57 years of age. She came to Utah in 1864, settling in Ogden, where she has resided ever since. She leaves five children, viz., Mrs. Thomas H. Ballantyne, Mrs. Joseph C. Pingree, Misses Louise and Florence Cartensen and Joseph Cartensen, all of Ogden, and Mrs. E. N. Jenkins of Salt Lake. Her remains will be kept till Sunday, March 20, in accordance with her expressed wish, on which day the funeral will probably take place. Mrs. Car-tensen was a good Latter-day Saint, and her death is keenly felt by a wide circle of relatives and friends.

so far before the committee has had no bearing whatever upon this prohibi-tion. Utah kept the compact. The pro-testants against Smoot have effectual-ly demonstrated that fact, however dis-

ly demonstrated that fact, however dis-tasteful to them it may be. That a distinction was drawn be-tween polygamy and polygamous co-habitation in the constitutional con-vention, and by the prominent Gen-tiles at that, is well known and can be proved readily, as can be seen right here. Take a look at the constitu-tional convention proceedings, com-mencing on page 1736. Hon. C. S. Varlan, a leading Gentile member of the convention, introduced the follow-ing as an amendment to Section 2 of the schedule, and it is now a part of our Constitution: "The act of the governor and the legislative assembly of the territory of Utah, entitled 'An act to punish polyg-amy and other kindred offenses ap-proved Feb. 4, 1892,' in so far as the same defines and imposes penalties for polygamy, is hereby declared to be in force in the state of Utah."

The act referred to imposed a penalty for polygamous cohabitation, known to the law as unlawful cohabitation. Why was that territorial statute modified, if it was not the intention of the leading Gentiles in the convention to leave, the old cases of polygamous families alone? Femempolygamous families alone? Eenem-ber, this amendment was offered by C. S. Varian, former United States district attorney for Utah, a man who had been vigilant and determined in prosecuting a large number of un-lawful cohabitation cases, and who had full knowledge of what this modi-fication meant. He was backed up in this by Judge C. C. Goodwin, then editor of the Salt Lake Tribune, by present Senator Thomas Kearns, by

Is a dignified body like the senate of the United States going to unseat a senator for associating with men that are guilty of a misdemeanor by violating what is virtually a dead law? We think not. How many dead laws we think not. How many dead laws are there upon the statute books of the New England states? Why not unseat some other senators for the same reason? It is farcical to suppose that the senate will establish such a precedent.

The cross-examination was confined almost entirely to bringing out Mr, Critchlow's views on the acts of others and the thoughts of others. After this procedure had continued for nearly an hour Senator McComas objected and called attention to the fact that the character of the testimony could not influence the committee in any manner. Mr. Van Cott then addressed the com-Mr. van cott then addressed the com-mittee directly in regard to the candi-dacy of Reed Smoot and drew from the witness the fact that Mr. Smoot had announced himself as a candidate for the senate before 1902. ture?

"I believe he did. He received votes and so did I. The minority only had three votes and they were passed around as a compliment."

Mr. Critchlow's attention was called to the nominations for members of the Legislature and the fact that he participated in the convention and had moved to make certain nominations unanimous. "I did move to make them unanimous," said the witness. "We, that is, the candidates who were defeated, and I made the motion as a matter of cour-

"Did not you know that it meant Reed Smoot for senator?' 'Yes, sir."

"Did yeu go on the stump that fall in support of the Republican ticket?" Mr. Critchlow, when his attention was called to the fact, said he believed be had made to the fact, said he believed he had made a speech at Springville. The witness was questioned in re-gard to the sentiment for and against Reed Smoot for senator and said so far as he was concerned he had no objection to Smoot personally, but opposed him on the ground he was a gen-eral authority of the Church. He ad-mitted that at the time he had moved to make unanimous the nomination of certain persons for members of the Legislature, that it was generally known that Mr. Smoot was to be made an Apostle.

To ascertain the difference between the influence exercised by the "Mor-mon" Church over general authorities and laymen was the object of the in-quiry by Mr. Hopkins and Mr. Mc-Comas, and the answers of the witness indicated that the matters of the Church were so adjusted that he might be compelled to obey the behests of the Church and that the wishes of the high authorities may be enforced by the "reserve force" in politics, which the Church is said to maintain, Mr. Critchlow resumed his testimony under cross-examination after the recess. In examination concerning the Thatcher episode it was brought out that Thatcher was in the same status
