TOO LATE FOR

On his return from England he was made one of the presidents of the Box-elder stake of Zion, being second coun-selor eight years, first counselor four years and president since November, 1899, when he was called to succeed Elder Rudger Clawson in that position, For nearly 17 years he was stake su-perintendent of the Y. M. M. I. A and has filled other positions of trust to the entire satisfaction of his superiors. He was a useful citizen and did much to build up the locality in which he lived.

lived. The deceased leaves a large family and a wide circle of friends. The fun-eral has not yet been arranged. Hansen came down from Salt Lake to take them into custody. Both the men have families, and are well known in the neighborhood. Oskden claims to be a relative of Mr. Shelkin, and declares the chicken stealing was mean to be a joke.

Who are to back the new bank up is not yet given out, but report says that J. E. Dooly is the moving spirit, and he will have monted local men with him. A number of old-time banking men here affect to laugh at the scheme, and at the Des-eret National bank, it is regarded rather in the light of a pleasant anlmadversion on the probabilities and im-probabilities of local finangelism; conditions that might, could, would or should happen; but far from being likely to happen.

SOMETIME Some time when all life's lessons have been learned And sun and stars forever more have set. The things which our weak judgement here has spurned-The things o'er which we grieved with lashes wet-Will flash before us out of life's dark

As stars shine most in deeper tints of And we shall see how all God's plans were right. And how what seemed reproof was love most true,

And you shall shortly know that lengthened breath Is not the sweetest gift God sends his friend,

And that sometimes the sable pall of death Conceals the fairest boon his love can send

If we could push ajar the gates of life, And stand within and all God's work-

We could interpret all this doubt and strife. And for each mystery find a key,

But not today. Then be content, poor heart: God's plans like lillies pure and white, unfold;

We must not tear the close shut leaves apart. Time will reveal the calyxes of gold. And if through patient toll we reach the land Where tired feet, with sandals loose may rest.

When we shall clearly know and un-derstand,

I think that we shall say that "God knew best,"

I first met Mr. Falkenburg in the year 1850. He visited with myself and fam-ily in our humble home in this city. I had just entered on my fraternal career with the order of Kulghts of Pythias, and so had he. The memories of that beautiful Sunday, 25 years ago, will for-ever linger with me and mine like sweet strailing of an entrancing melody. We strains of an entrancing melody. W song our tender songs; we told our sto W scraps of an entrancing merody. We sang our tender songs, we told our sto-rles of love: we clasped hands upon the Bible of our hopes: we resolved for the future and dedicated our lives to this cond

On that blessed Sunday, the thought was launched from our hearts and minds that if fraternal love could be the link which bound men together, if low solfishness could be extirpated from the hearts of men, mankind would from the hearts of men, mankind would not then live in a semi-heil, but in a world of beauty, of peace and of harmony. His record proves that he kept the compact. He believed in deads rather than creeds. His eves were never turned so skyward as to miss his neighbor's need.
