SALT LAKE CITY SCHOOLS.

Rev. Elmer I. Goshen addressed the High school students last Wednesday morning, treating them to the most brilliant and effective talk of the year.

The gentleman took issue with Dr. Goshen, whose theory of the uselessness of men after their fortieth year, he explained. A warning note was sounded to the young people against abuse of their mental and moral faculties, as well as physical powers, in order that old age may find them well preserved. The great accomplishments of men far advanced in years were recited, as conclusive evidence that the world's history proves that men's capabilities and capacity for work have not been impaired in old age, but rather have reached their greatest strength.

The East Side High school held its banner assembly this week in honor of the returned cadets, who participated in the inaugural parade.

The following program was rendered: "Welcome," Chas. Chaffin; violin solo, Archie Cohn; soprano solo, Rena Bray; piano solo, Inez Van Sant; extract read from President Roosevelt's inaugural speech, by Russell Sande; Description of Washington's inauguration, by Laura Poulson.

The two German comedies to be given by students of the High school are entitled respectively "Der Knopf" and "Elmer Muss Heiratet," the cast of characters, there being four persons in each production, is: Edna Hemphill, Gertrude Kelly, Harold Berkely, Elmer Woolf, Lila Bradford, Jean Hayward, Vernon Samuels and Fred Hale. A French play follows the above presentation.

BRIGHAM YOUNG UNIVERSITY.

Provo, March 16.—Supt. J. M. Tanner was a visitor yesterday. He gave before the students in chapel, an inspiring address. Dr. Tanner is a great favorite among the students and his visits are always greeted with eagerness.

Last evening the Speech Improvement club spent a pleasant hour with Lewis Carroll and his nonsensical literature.

Early in June there will be opened here the Deseret summer school. It promises to be one of the best instructive opportunities that have ever been offered. Efficient instructors from the best institutions of the country will have the different branches in charge. Especial emphasis will be laid on English and moral training.

Bishop T. N. Taylor, always a welcome friend, visited on Tuesday and addressed us in our chapel exercises.

The last game of the interschool basketball league was played in the gymnasium Tuesday evening between the second year high school class and the commercial. The second year boys succeeded in carrying off the honors.

A great number of the students attended the lecture given by Mr. B. H. Roberts Tuesday evening in the tabernacle.

Prof. Osmond visited a county institute last Saturday at Heber City.

The first number of the university quarterly will be out soon. Its mission is to bring the purpose and work of the institution before the general public. This has been deemed advisable on account of the limited circulation of the regular catalogues.

Last Saturday evening an interesting game of basketball was played between structive manner on topics of interest. The visitors were taken through the college buildings by President Linford and others of the faculty, and at 1 o'clock dinner was served to the 40 guests in the college dining hall, where Miss Homer and her assistants and provided an excellent repast. Those who were present were deeply interested in what they saw at the college, and were pleased to note the advancement being made, especially in domestic and mechanic arts and laboratory work.

President and Mrs. Linford, following a custom established by them some six years ago, before the president was appointed to his present position, will this evening entertain the graduating class of 1905, which numbers about 30.

Thursday morning the chorus from Music D sang "Our Flag." These occasional selections from Prof. Durham's students are very much enjoyed.

AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE.

Logan.—Prof. Linford of the department of animal industry in the state Agricultural college of Montana visited the college on Wednesday. He had formerly been connected for many years with the Logan institution, and in his address to the students in chapel he gave many interesting comparisons, showing the agricultural resources of Montana and Utah. His many firm friends at the college were glad to welcome him back even for a short visit.

Prof. Ball and Prof. Clark held a farmers' institute Tuesday at Richmond the former speaking on organization, and the latter on dairy work.

Arrangements have nearly been definitely completed for the following tour of the dramatic club in "She Stoops to Conquer." The play will first be given at Ogden on March 20; then on April 3 the club will leave Logan to play in Smithfield, Richmond, Pocatello and Blackfoot. On April 8 two performances will be given in Salt Lake, after which the play will be taken to Provo and Nephi. On the return trip the students will stop at Brigham City, and then end the season with a performance in Logan.

Mrs. Dalinda Cotey lectured yesterday on the value of a domestic science education in home-making before the Agiaia club of Ogden. During her stay in the city she was most hospitably entertained by Mrs. George Kelley. A recent number of the Jayhawk, the college magazine, published by the students of the Kansas Agricultural college, contains a very able sketch of Mrs. Cotey's work in Utah. Her alma mater is proud of its distinguished daughter.

New officers of the Commercial club are Mr. H. E. Jensen, president; Mr. James Kearns, vice president; and Miss Charles Birch, secretary. At the last meeting Instructor Jones talked on business law.

At their conference in Salt Lake on irrigation work last Monday, Dr. Wideson and Prof. Meade arranged for Prof. McLaughlin to go to Montana for the summer, working there in connection with the Northern Pacific railway and the State experiment station, in the interests of the irrigation investigation of the United States department of agriculture. Mr. Chas. F. Crown, '03, now employed by the national department as drainage expert, is detailed to spend the summer in Utah. An irrigation expert will be sent from California to take Prof. McLaughlin's place during the season.

In their joy over the failure of the bill to merge the college and the university, the students devoted Saturday to a general celebration. One of Prof. Clark's best steers was killed, and roasted in the morning, a parade through the town was held, and the evening was given up to speeches and dancing. The faculty with a few exceptions entered into the celebration with as much zest as the students, and even though the question was not then wholly decided, the celebration showed the love of the students for the college and their admiration and respect for its able defender and president.

New contributions to the Industrial museum of which Prof. Robinson is the curator are pickling vinegars from Heinz, byproducts of cotton from the American Cotton Oil company, and specimens of chocolate from the Walter Baker company, and also from Lowmyer's.

A complete set of Balzard's works has just been added to the library, presented by the faculty of the summer school.

CEDAR CITY BRANCH NORMAL.

Cedar City, March 16.—Instructor Hansen gave a lecture before the people of Cedar City on Sunday evening. The subject, "Influence of Christianity on Civilization," was forcefully handled and was listened closely to by the large audience.

Some of the teachers have purchased a tennis outfit and a new court is being laid out for them.

At a mass meeting of the students held Wednesday, a proposition to let the Beaver branch enter the coming contest was discussed. The matter remains unsettled at this writing, but it is probable that the students will agree to let our northern friends enter, provided a joint debate be arranged for at the same time.

The various societies are making a study of parliamentary procedure. Instructor Mabey is assisting in the work.

Some good work is being done in the manual training shop under the direction of Instructor Silver. Several of the students are at work on various kinds of furniture.

An "indoor meet" is to come off Friday evening. The physical culture directors, Mr. Milne and Miss Spencer, are hard at work drilling the students.

Since "contest" has been talked of, our girls are beginning to brush up on basket ball.

Less students are withdrawing from school this spring than ever before.

between our boys and the team from the S. S. D. This is the last game of the league. Our boys wear the laurels of victory.

We expect to lay the capstone of our list of basketball ball victories when we meet the team from Wheaton, Ill. This is the team that handed out defeat to the L. D. S. boys at St. Louis last summer. The game will be pulled off March 25.

The alumni of the institution is lately receiving considerable public recognition. We now have two senators and there recently have been appointed by the governor four of our alumni to state government positions. John Dixon was appointed state board of land commissioner, Albert Glazier state bank inspector, Caleb Tanner state examiner, and John Peterson state food inspector.

Harold Smoot, son of the senator, returned yesterday from a three weeks' visit to Washington.

Tuesday morning we had some visitors from Chicago. They were Mr. E. S. Payson, wife of Mr. Payson, manager of the Emerson Piano Co., and her sister, Miss Morrell. They were given a special musical recital Tuesday afternoon by Prof. Lund.

BRIGHAM YOUNG COLLEGE.

Logan, March 17.—The recitals given in the college by Prof. S. H. Clark of the Chicago university on Monday afternoon and evening will long linger as a pleasant memory with those who were fortunate enough to be present. Prof. Clark has, of course, always been a favorite in Logan, but never has he so entirely captivated his audience as he did this time. His afternoon recital was in the nature of an interpretative and dramatic reading of Shakespeare's "Richard III," which was a most instructive as well as interesting rendition of that play. In the evening he gave a select program of a miscellaneous character, in which he displayed the wonderfully versatile powers of the reader. Every number was a gem, and was thoroughly enjoyed. The committee in charge was gratified by the attendance, which was more than sufficient to defray all expenses.

The college basketball team won second place in the state league last Saturday evening, in a hard-fought contest with the Weber Stake academy players. The game was one of the very best of the series, and every man on the floor played to win. The first half gave a close score, 10 to 9, in favor of the local team. At this point it seemed possible that the Ogden boys could win, but early in the second half the chances of the visitors vanished, some skillful work on the part of Doble, Blair and Geddes running the score for Logan up to 21, while Ogden stood at 14. The game was witnessed by a fair sized audience, most of the people remaining to enjoy a dance that was given in the gymnasium, following the game.

The young ladies of the advanced class of the domestic science department prepared and served a sumptuous supper to the Ogden basketball team and the local boys, with victrola and members of the Athletic association, after the game Saturday evening. The dining hall was tastefully decorated, the college crimson being much in evidence. Covers were laid for about 30. The "cooking 11" girls are to be congratulated on the excellent way in which they managed the delightful affair. In the absence of Miss Homer, who had placed the entire matter in their hands.

This week the college was honored by a visit from the stake presidency, and Bishops and their wives of the Hyrum and local stakes, with their wives and children. They were here on invitation of President Linford, and the devotional hour on Tuesday was given into their hands. The student body heartily greeted them and after some welcoming remarks by President Linford, the school was, for the hour, placed in charge of President William C. Parkinson, who spoke briefly on the value of good character, of honesty, sobriety and truthfulness, and then called on First Counselor Andrew J. Parkinson, Bishop John E. Rousseau of Millville, Bishop L. D. Dunn of College ward, Bishop A. A. Allen of Hyrum and others, each of whom spoke in an instructive manner on topics of interest.

The visitors were taken through the college buildings by President Linford and others of the faculty, and at 1 o'clock dinner was served to the 40 guests in the college dining hall, where Miss Homer and her assistants and provided an excellent repast. Those who were present were deeply interested in what they saw at the college, and were pleased to note the advancement being made, especially in domestic and mechanic arts and laboratory work.

President and Mrs. Linford, following a custom established by them some six years ago, before the president was appointed to his present position, will this evening entertain the graduating class of 1905, which numbers about 30.

D. M. Rickmore, a graduate of the college, who is now principal of the Wellsville schools, was a visitor on Monday, and spoke to the students in devotional.

Prof. Bullen is home again after a week spent in Salt Lake on business.

Prof. Mosiah Hall lectured before the teachers of Tooele county last Saturday.

Prof. W. M. Wolfe delivered two lectures before Lake last Friday and Saturday.

Henry H. Blood lectured before the student body of the Onedra stake academy last Friday night.

On Sunday evening Prof. Wright delivered an interesting lecture on art in the college assembly room, under auspices of the M. I. associations of the First ward.

Prof. Kemp is organizing the several classes in the school for the spring track work. He announced on Wednesday that the inter-class meet of the ably and interestingly handled for nearly two hours. At every stage Mr. Clarke demonstrated he was a master of the situation.

Last Friday week, Prof. Ezra Christensen, principal of the Weber Academy, visited the school for the entire day. He addressed the student body at devotional on "Characteristics of our Church and the Influence they are Spreading in Our Social Life."

During the principal's explanatory remarks at devotional Thursday morning as to why we use the Second ward amusement hall for our dances, the hint he dropped as to our having "more room" next year, a "dance hall of our own," was promptly and vigorously applauded by the whole school.

Elder Thomas Shreeve occupied the time at devotional last Wednesday and last addressed Prof. McKendrick's Book of Mormon class on "The Stick of Ephraim and the Stick of Judah." The lecture was excellent and brought out many valuable points that were interesting and instructing to the class.

Brother Shreeve has made an exhaustive study of the Book of Mormon, and hence, in a measure, speaks as one having authority.

Prof. S. H. Clark, last week, delivered his series of five dramatic recitals to crowded houses each time. In company with Principal McKay, he visited the Fourth ward Sabbath school. In his short address to the school on "Faith Without Works is Dead," he expressed his pleasure at the "Works" that supplemented the faith in our Sabbath schools. In a subsequent conversation he gave much encouragement to the Stake board's methods in class work.

An account of our last league game of basketball which was played in the Lester Park Pavilion with the L. D. S. University team, last Friday night, will appear in next Saturday's issue. We had to send this to press before the result of the game was known; suffice it to say, however, a good many "rooters" came up with the L. D. S. boys, Friday, and were met at the depot by the Academy brass band and a delegation of students.

Senator McKay, a member of the board, was a visitor at faculty meeting Thursday afternoon.

BEAVER BRANCH B. Y. U.

Beaver.—Thursday all departments of the school received visits from members of the High Council and presidency of the Beaver stake. The gentlemen were accompanied by their wives, and spent the entire day visiting classes. Both the visitors and the school very much enjoyed the day.

The regular class field-day contest came off Saturday, March 11. Only two classes, the '05 and '06 entered. The day passed off quietly, the '06 winning the largest number of points.

The class of 1905 presented a very creditable program before a large audience in Poly society Friday evening. The story of An Ye Like 11 was read and five well gotten up scenes given with the reading. Profs. Durham and Woodhouse furnished music.

Miss D. Hatch entertained her classmates, the 1905's at the close of their entertainment Friday evening.

The Dramatic company presented "Under the Gas Lights," Saturday evening. The play was very hurriedly prepared and as a result the intervals between scenes were very long, rather tiring the audience, otherwise it was very much enjoyed. The company intends to play "By Force of Impulse" in Milford Saturday next.

Instructor O. N. Kelly, and Miss Adams visited Greenville Sunday evening and gave the people a lecture and several recitations.

The athletic association has been phoning to the Branch Normal at Cedar and the High School of St. George asking to be permitted to enter the contest to be held between those schools
