Dr. FOOTE, Senior,

Of 120 Lexington Avenue, New York,

Hereby cautions the public NOT to Employ or Communicate With a man styling himself "Dr. Foot, Jr." without making due inquiry.

This man came to Salt Lake City representing himself as the son of Dr. E. B. FOOTE of New York, the well known specialist, as abundantly proved by affidavits. As rumors came into Salt Lake City from Dakota and Montana from an expose made there, he changed his base and represented himself as the son of a more noted specialist in New York City than Dr. E. B. FOOTE, the well known author. Mr. JOHN F. TROW, of the well known Trow's Directory, in New York City (forty years in the directory business), Ex-Governor FRANK FULLER, of Utah, and the Hon. ABRAM WAKEMAN, for many years Postmaster in New York City, also Surveyor of the Port, gave their affidavits that there are no other doctors in New York by the name of FOOTE or FOOTE, excepting Dr. E. B. FOOTE, the the author of "Medical Common Sense," etc., and his two sons, Dr. E. B. FOOTE, Jr., and Dr. HENRY T. FOOTE. The genuine Dr. FOOTE, Jr., will hereafter always employ the initials, E. B., in designating his name. Heretofore he has been known not only at home but wherever his publications have been circulated, by the name of Dr. FOOTE, Jr. Greater care will be taken hereafter, in view of the fact that an unprincipled person has attempted to profit by his and his father's reputation.

Those desiring further and more detailed information in respect to this matter, will receive it by addressing Box 414, Salt Lake City Utah.

Persons having information of advantage to plaintiffs will kindly communicate the same to J. W. Ivey, with Sutherland & McBride, Salt Lake City.

Those desiring to consult Dr. FOOTE professionally or to order remedies should address either

Dr. E. B. FOOTE, Sr., or Dr. E. B. FOOTE, Jr., 120 Lexington Ave., New York.

Consultation Free, in person or by letter. d&s tme

EVENING NEWS.

Wednesday - October 28, 1885

A VIGOROUS REPLY TO AN ASSAILANT OF "MORMONISM."

The Daily Commercial published in Chattanooga, Tennessee, in its issue of the 19th inst., published a lengthy article signed G. C. C., in which the author without one sentence of scripture or paragraph of logic assailed and denounced "Mormonism" and the "Mormons." He claimed that the faith and practice of the Latter-day Saints constituted a great evil, to arrest the progress of which something ought to be done immediately. Just what this something ought to be he acknowledges that he does not know, but he seems to have a vague idea that freethinkers are the only ones who can do it as he intimates in the following paragraph:

"There is a host of disseminators of this infamy called Mormonism coming to seduce the youth and the credulous of our Sunny South. What can we do? I don't know. Christianity can't do anything, for what proves it proves Mormonism. Free thought alone can stem the torrent. Will the freethinkers undertake the task of disseminating as antidote for the poison these elders are injecting into the minds and consciences of our people? No, freethought is not organized, and so the flood gates are thrown wide open to this moral leprosy."

Two days after the publication of the letter referred to, one of the Elders now laboring in Tennessee replied as follows:

The columns of Monday's Commercial contained an article over the signature of G. C. C. upon the much-vexed question of Mormonism, in which statements are made that are calculated to do injury to a much abused and universally misunderstood people.

Permit me in all kindness and with the very best of feeling toward the writer, to place some of these matters in their proper light, and in part, at least, correct the erroneous impressions liable to be made.

First—Let me say that I appreciate to its fullest extent the kindly spirit manifest and the evident wish to see fair play, giving to all the privilege of freedom of worship and of conscience—a boon of most inestimable worth, and one that Mormon people, through the experience of half a century, in being traduced and vilified, whipped, scourged and driven, robbed, plundered, imprisoned and slain, have learned to place an almost priceless value upon.

Stern experience has taught us the lesson that man is very prone to try to force and compel the human mind to accept the popular view of a question, or one that has been rendered respectable through age and tradition.

I will overlook the covert sneer contained in the idea of holding one up as the "overseer" of the Southern Mission, and simply ask, Would the writer as readily apply the same term to the presiding elder or bishop of any other denomination?

Is there anything particularly startling in the assertion that our Elders are meeting with

as they are also doing in almost every other part of the habitable globe? Did G. C. C. imagine because a few of our brethren and a few innocent and defenseless women have been incarcerated in a loathsome dungeon by a brutal judge, through the action of an unconstitutional law, that Mormonism was dead? If so, he has read history to little advantage.

Crowned heroes and heroines they are, in our estimation, whose names shall be taught to our children as the very personification of liberty itself.

Some consolation is sought to be afforded in the idea that those we convert can be spared, and that their neighbors are gladly rid of them; if this be so, why all this fuss? Why not aid us in our endeavor to rid the community of such an objectionable class of citizens?

This comfort is based upon two charges,

IGNORANCE AND LUST.

For argument sake let us admit the ignorance, and take it for granted that all Mormon converts come under the same general head, and are equally ignorant when they emigrate.

Now for results. The educational statistics of the tenth census contain the following figures:

The number of persons to the hundred, in the Territory of Utah, who cannot read, ten years old and over, is not quite 3½ per cent., while the number in the State of Tennessee is 18 per cent. Mind you this does not include the colored population but the whites alone. If our converts are so ignorant at the time of conversion, by what process is this marvelous change wrought? Why, our percentage of illiteracy is as low as it is in Massachusetts, and much lower than in many of the leading States of the Union. If we can take these ignorant people and educate them up to the best standard to be found in the United States, are not we doing them good service?

That G. C. C. is mistaken, I know by personal experience, and know that very rarely any one joins the church who cannot read and write. They are not the kid-gloved, paper-collared, patent leather-booted dudes that are getting to be so common, but one of them, in opening up a country, or laying the foundations of a great movement, is worth an even cord of the others.

Now as to lust. Imagine a man leaving Chattanooga passing through Cincinnati, St. Louis and Kansas City, and going to some of the rural districts of Utah for the purpose of seeking an opportunity to gratify the baser passions of his fallen nature! With all the opportunities presented in every great center of Christianity, to make this long journey, with its fatigues and losses, is only rivalled by the story of Thomson's foal colt.

No more virtuous people dwell on the footstool of the Father than the Mormon people. Statistics attest it, facts prove it, and our bitterest enemies, who know us, acknowledge it.

G. C. C. proposes not to denounce us or call us ugly names, but to quote the record, and then goes from firstly to fifthly.

Let us examine the record. He calls a delusion, and Joseph Smith an immoral crank. What is this but denunciation and ugly names? The froth of mere assertion. Where did he get his information? I have carefully read and examined the book in question, and utterly fail to find either fraud or stupidity in it, but have been led to observe very much of the latter, in ignorant comments on it. As to Joseph Smith, I am at the defiance of the world to prove him either immoral or a crank. Bring on your proof or don't make charges. He next attacks polygamy, and leaves me in doubt as to whether he is ignorant of the law, of the great free State of Tennessee, that forbids me to answer him, and makes it a penal offense to do so, or whether, knowing that my hands are tied behind me, he hits me, on the principle that he has me where I can do him no injury. If he is ignorant of the law, a little charity exercised toward other equally unfortunate people would be very becoming, but if informed of the law I have no comments to make.

THE BOOK OF MORMON

In paragraph three he asserts that we teach that Joseph Smith is a God. I have lived with the Mormon people for eighteen years and have never heard any such doctrine taught, am led to believe that it is only a part of the mass of stuff poured into the ears of credulous travelers by professional hackmen, who drive tourists about Salt Lake City and laugh at the gullibility of the ordinary mortal sight-seeing among the Mormons. As to the fourth accusation, what there can be so awful in the fact that we delight and love our wives so well that we desire their society and companionship in the world to come, as well as this, is passing strange, and these children that are "an heritage from the Lord," and the law "that the man is not without the woman in the Lord, nor the woman without the man," has a meaning to the Latter-day Saints.

The fifth accusation is so comically absurd that if it were not for the seriousness with which it is presented one would almost conclude that it was the joke of an end man in some very ordinary minstrel show. The idea that the white cloth laid on the face of the dead wife must be lifted by the husband before he can see God! This is so near sacrilege that I hesitate to comment on it. Suffice it to say that no such doctrine is taught or believed among the Mormon people, and I must confess, to no little chagrin and mortification, that my friend should have allowed such nonsense to creep into his article. Let us change the subject. It is pitiable to get down to this.

Relative to free speech. We open our church doors to all denominations, or those of no denomination, and we have had Methodists, Baptists, Catholics, Infidels, Pagans, and a great variety of all classes speak from our public rostrum, and if G. C. C. has a man that he thinks can show us the error of our ways, Christian or Infidel, Deist or Atheist, Jew or Pagan, I will guarantee him the use of the Tabernacle at Salt Lake, and in addition to that, the use of four hundred other church buildings with a seating capacity of from 300 to 3,000, and good treatment while he sojourns with us. No danger of mobs or mob violence; not even traduced nor vilified, but treated as sensible, intelligent people should treat each other. Now, come on with your strong reasons, and show us the error of our ways.

Let me say, in conclusion, that if one of our Elders can be found who has despoiled woman of her virtue, we will willingly turn him over to the mercies of the law, as being sunk so low in the scale of human existence as to be unworthy the fellowship of a true Latter-day Saint. He can have no sympathy from us, for to him there is no forgiveness in this world nor in the world to come. Out of 350 Elders, who in the past ten years have labored in the south, but one has fallen by the way. Having broken his vows and covenants of chastity, made in holy places, he to-day reaps the reward of his sin in being a vagabond and wanderer on the face of the earth, forsaken by his family, excluded from the church, with its doors immovably closed against him, and the seal of a common condemnation from all Israel resting upon him.

The genius and spirit of the religious faith of the Latter-day Saints tends to purity of morals, liberty of conscience and freedom of thought, all of which the world will yet acknowledge.

Industrial Switzerland.

Switzerland more than any other European country is working to improve the methods of manufacture as well as the quality of product, and recent cantonal and national laws are helping very much to that end. Schools and associations for the improvement and promotion of industrial enterprises have been multiplied. Much money is expended for these purposes; the benefits thereof are, however, really harvested by the purchasers or consumers of these manufactured articles. In the manufacture of embroideries and linen articles, in regard to their beauty and durability, Switzerland is unquestionably ahead of any other country in Europe.

The same may be said of the silk industry. The embroideries are made mostly in the cantons of St. Gall and Appenzell, both by machines and by hand. Hand-made embroideries and laces, once of the highest value, are now giving way to the machine-made, and the competition between the two is rapidly bringing prices down. The silk industry has obtained a wondrous growth. In the Canton Zurich and localities tributary to it 38,000 silk looms are in use, of which 3,000 are driven by steam power. Sixty-one thousand Swiss are occupied in the work. The ribbon industry at Basle is said to occupy about 6,300 looms, with about 12,000 workmen.

Since 1882 the export from Switzerland to the United States of watches has suffered a steady decline. The reason therefor is not because the Swiss watches are less good now than formerly (they still maintain "a good report"), but because of the rapid development of the same branch of industry in the United States during the past eight or ten years. American watches, in beauty and quality, successfully compete with Swiss and Jurgensen watches, not only in the United States, but also in Europe, and even in Australia. The advantage the Swiss watch manufacturer has over his American colleague is the cheapness of labor. The advantage which the latter has over the former is that he, with his perfect tools and machinery, is able to produce a larger number of watches during a given period of time than his Swiss colleague, for the latter has much of his work done by hand labor.

In 1883 Switzerland exported $7,000,000 worth of cheese to outside countries, of which $800,000 worth came to the United States.—Cincinnati Enquirer.
