OGDEN, UTAH,

BOND ELECTION VETOED.

Officials Unable to Agree on Terms of Transfer Of Water Works System.

County Cannot Legally Aid Irrigation Congress - Weber County School Finances.

The case of the state against Ed Sewell, charged with obtaining goods under false pretense, was heard before Judge Howell yesterday afternoon. The evidence introduced by the prosecution was that the defendant secured a fine $58 gold watch from J. S. Lewis & Co., under the pretense that he was going to work for the railroad company and would then pay for it. The defense admitted the buying of the watch but quite conclusively proved that Sewell had intended to pay for it. The court dismissed the action, holding that the evidence was not sufficient to warrant his being bound over to the district

WANTS DAMAGES AGAINST TRES-PASS.

An action to recover $500 judgment has been filed in the Second district court by John H. Winslow against Thomas Smart and J. W. Buckley. The complaint alleges that plaintiff is the owner of Winslow's Resort in Ogden canyon, which is a source of profit to canyon, which is a source of profit to plaintiff as a pleasure resort, that between July 8 and 20 defendants drove about 25,000 head of sheep over the said resort and permitted the sheep to remain over night on the said premises, thereby destroying the vegetation in the grove and resort, to the plaintiff's damage in the sum of $500 and costs of suit.

NO BOND ELECTION.

The proposition of a bond election on the waterwork purchase, was called off at a special session of the city council last night. The session was attended by David Eccles, Judge Dee, E. M. Allison and H. H. Spencer, principal owners of the water company. Mr. Eccles by per-mission addressed the council and en-tered an emphatic denial of statements which he said had been published in the Standard and made by members of the council and the mayor to the effect that council and the mayor to the effect that the water company was going back on its agreement. He stated that they were ready to fulfill their promises to the very letter and had always been ready to do so. They had offered a previous council practically the same proposition, as they had offered this one, and had always stood ready to part with their interest at exactly the price first quoted. This offer was $45,000 for their share in the system, the city to assume the bonds. When asked by the mayor about the taxes and the bond interest, Mri Eccles promptly explained that at the time they made this offer last March. the taxes and the bond interest had been paid, but the offer was not accepted at by the city if the offer was accepted.

The mayor also addressed the council He said the time was unpropitious for He said the time was unpropitious for floating bonds even if the citizens should vote them, and that there was a strong prospect of the people not consenting to the purchase of the system for $412,500, together with the added bond interest, taxes and hydrant rentals, and he advised that the council call the election off and set together with the election off and get together with the water company and give them per-mission to extend their water mains and also try to arrange a new schedule The council passed a resolution to that effect and referred the matter of ascertaining the wishes of the water company in regard to a new schedule, etc., to a special water committee.

WEBER COUNTY AFFAIRS.

The board of county commissioners at their regular meeting turned down the application for an appropriation to the Irrigation Congress, and the fol-lowing report of Commissioner Stanford, to whom the matter was referred, was adopted:

The board on two or more occasions has talked over the advisability of granting the application, made both verbally and in writing by the members of the committee on finance of the Irrigation Congress, wherein they ask Weber county, through its board of commissioners, to appropriate $1,000 to ald in defraying the expenses incident to said congress being held in Ogden City. Our personal and private feel-ings on this subject have been at all times in favor of granting the petition; on the other hand, legal advisers, our county attorneys being among the number, have stated that we have no authority in law to make this appropri-ation: in other words, we were advised that it would be an act in violation of Several instances have been cited in the history of the county as cases parallel to this, where the county offi-cials have been restrained from doing such or similar acts. In one instance where it was a personal affair, the county paying the expenses of the gentleman attending an irrigation congress in the east, he was afterwards required and did refund to the county treasury the amount received. We are fully aware that in the present instance the cause is a very popular one, and it has been urged that the benefits which are likely to accrue to Weber county view has been presented to us that the precedent would be a bad one. The illegality of the act would be charged as a taint upon the character and reputation of the administration in county

"From expressions made the other evening in our municipal council along similar lines of right and duty, we can but concur in the conclusions reacked. In our own administration of the finan-cial affairs of Weber county, no matter what our private sympathles may be towards any benevolent or philanthropic cause or purpose, the law must govern our conclusions in the premises. Inder all the circumstances, we there re deem it best to deny granting the appropriation asked for.

This is an off year for fruit in Kane and Carfield counties, as the frosts of May killed off nearly everything in the fruit line in both, and the people feel somewhat discouraged over the out-

In other years the fruit is abundant and of fine quality, and if some means could be devised, by the use of smudge fires or otherwise as practised regularly in California, whereby the damage by frost could be averted, fruit could be regularly grown in abundance and made a source of considerable revenue
