

Idaho News From Her Main Cities and Towns.

RAILROAD WORK BEGINS APRIL 1.

Contracts Approved at the Annual Meeting of Stockholders of the San Francisco, Idaho & Montana Railway—Caldwell, it is Announced, is to be the Snake River Terminal of the First Division of the New Line.

Special Correspondence.
Caldwell, Jan. 4.—The contract for the construction of the 210 miles of the San Francisco, Idaho & Montana railway, from Caldwell, on the Short Line, to Winnemucca, on the Southern Pacific, was authorized this week by the annual meeting of the stockholders of the railroad company, and was later formally executed.

This contract, says the Statesman, was given to the Pacific Development company, the construction company that has been formed by the men who are interested in the railway company, and it is planned to have the line from Caldwell to Winnemucca started by April 1, 1906, as soon as the winter has broken and the materials, for which orders have been in for several months, have arrived.

It is expected that division of the company's line will be completed and ready for operation by April 1, 1907, it being the purpose to have the work rushed through the coming year, if possible.

A bond issue of $5,000,000 was authorized by the stockholders. This has already been placed through the development company and will provide funds for the construction of the Caldwell-Winnemucca line, with a balance of about $1,500,000 to be spent in closing options on certain right-of-way purchases in California and terminating on San Francisco bay.

OFFICERS OF COMPANY.
The stockholders re-elected the former board of directors, and this board, at a meeting immediately following the other, chose the following officers:

President, William Peyton Mason of Minneapolis.
First vice president, C. F. Fleming of Minneapolis.

Second vice president, J. A. McGowan of Boise.
Secretary, G. T. Propper of Boise.

Treasurer, W. E. Foran of Boise.
Arrangements were made by the stockholders' meeting preparatory to increasing the board of directors of the company from five to seven members.

The first section of the road to be built is that from Caldwell, or the Snake River valley, as it has before been designated, to a connection with the Southern Pacific at Winnemucca.

This line, however, or a considerable portion of it, is designed ultimately only as a branch to the main line of the road from San Francisco bay to Butte. The junction point, Mason City, so called after the president of the company, is situated at old Camp McDermitt.

IDAHO ROUTE NOT SETTLED.
The route across the state of Idaho, President Mason, in speaking of the future of the company, is quoted by the Statesman as saying, "is not yet determined, and may not be for a year. The engineers have not yet worked out two routes, one up the Payette valley, and the other up the Boise. It is settled, however, that we will run from Butte to the Big Hole pass over the Bitter Root range, and from Caldwell to San Francisco."

Between the Big Hole pass and Caldwell, however, the route is quite problematical. Good mining regions are encountered both routes. By going up the Payette we will tap the big pine forests, which would be missing the other way, but there are some advantages to the Boise valley route over the other.

The big disadvantage of the route up the valley, however, is the engineering difficulties in crossing the Payette mountains. Some tunneling would be necessary, we don't know yet how much, and the road would cost a fabulous sum for a distance of 10 miles or such a matter. It would be somewhat shorter than the other route, after it was constructed.

A PRODUCTIVE ROUTE.
"Nowhere on our whole route is there a single mile that will not be productive of tonnage as soon as it is developed. There is no place in the world in the world is there a region so rich in natural resources and so promising in its future, taken as a whole, as the section of country to be traversed by our railroad."

To say nothing of the mines that will be developed along our route, just let me mention one very important region that will be developed by our Winnemucca line. That is the Paradise valley in Nevada. There is a big tract of fine land there that, I believe, has not been developed in any of the west. It is only necessary to sink a pipe a few feet in the ground and the water spurts out by artesian pressure many feet above the surface.

It is expected that active work on the construction of the new road will begin within the next three months. Contracts for construction material and equipment, which were made some time ago, were approved by the annual meeting. Delivery under these contracts is limited so that by April 1 construction can be begun from both ends of the line at once.

The construction company is to have full control of the townships and station locations on the route. It will doubtless do the actual construction by means of sub-contractors, of which it will have supervision.

BURLEY TAKES LAY-OFF DURING COLD WEATHER.
Special Correspondence.
Burley, Jan. 4.—There is not much doing in town lately, owing to the continued cold weather. Some little building is going on, but as soon as the weather moderates some work will be resumed on some of the larger buildings, among which will be the Reed Inn and the large warehouse to be built for the Snake River Implement company.

A great amount of ice is being put up for use next summer. Messrs. Shovel and Guyon are filling their large ice house, which will hold about 400 tons.

The Latter-day Saints of this little branch have built a neat little chapel, which, when completed, will cost about $1,000. It is so far completed that Sabbath school and afternoon services are held each Sunday.

Christmas and New Year's afternoons a dance was held in the Latter-day Saints' church for the benefit of the little ones. Next Thursday evening a social will be held in the church for the purpose of raising good money to buy a sacrament set. A fine program is arranged.

The one hundredth anniversary of the Prophet Joseph Smith's birth was celebrated with appropriate exercises by the Saints.

Many people of this vicinity took advantage of the low rates offered by the Oregon Short Line Railway and hied themselves to spend the holidays with relatives and friends.

Miss Maggie Guyman has so far recovered from her late illness that she will be able to continue her studies at the Cassia State academy when it opens next week.

John Mallard passed through Burley on his way to Oak City today.

Taylor & Sons of Elba have opened a branch house here. They have leased one of the store rooms in the opera house block and are storing it up with provisions, hay and grain.

Messrs. C. L. Haight, F. A. Webb, W. D. Kitchens and Walter Long attended the monthly priesthood meeting at Oak City Friday.

George Koch, who recently moved here from San Luis valley, Colo., has moved his family to his ranch about 15 miles up the river.

MONTPELIER WAS ON ITS BEST BEHAVIOR.
Special Correspondence.
Montpelier, Idaho, Jan. 2.—The holidays passed off very quietly and pleasantly with an apparent improvement in good behavior on the part of the rowdy element. There were also fewer cases of drunkenness than usual upon these occasions.

The holiday parties and exercises were well attended. The charity committee under the direction of the Bishopric ministered to the poor and unfortunate. The merchants and business men contributed very liberally for the occasion, and large quantities of groceries and other necessities were distributed.

On Friday afternoon, Dec. 29, 1905, the Bishopric society gave a social at the home of Bishop W. W. Clark, to which were invited all of the widows and those bereaved of their life's companions. Some 40 were in attendance. Teams were provided to convey them from their homes to the Bishop's residence and

BORAH'S TRIBUTE TO STEUNENBERG

Oration Delivered at the Funeral of Idaho's Martyred Former Governor at Caldwell on Tuesday—Some Strong Points of the Character of the Deceased Executive Sketched With a Master Hand—Duty of the State in the Present Emergency Dwelt Upon With Forceful Emphasis.

Following is the oration delivered by W. E. Borah at the funeral of ex-Governor Steunenberg at Caldwell Tuesday afternoon:

"Idaho consecrates her soil today with all that is mortal of her first martyr. In contrition and anguish our young state lingers for a time beside his open grave, not alone that honor may be given to the dead, but that the citizenship and courage of the living may be stirred by the inspiration of his steadfast soul. Those who count the cost when duty calls will never know his worth. But those who in this world of self-interest and expediency have amid all duty's commanding voice and haughty at all hazards to obey, will realize that Idaho puls beneath the sod today her most illustrious son."

"Frank Steunenberg was of the rarest type of manhood. Open, sincere, modest and unassuming—he was in his purposes and plans as inflexible as his honor itself. Rugged in body, resolute in mind, almost massive in the strength of his convictions—he was of the granite heart. In all my acquaintance I have never known one more unusually gifted in moral will power. In moments when he seemed to yield he had simply ceased to argue, that all his silent, invincible force might be gathered for the final effort. By these splendid qualities he endeared himself to his adopted state and spread his fame and standing abroad. There is no place in Idaho today where affection protects the home, where love and thrift shield life and property but they will recount his strong and manly virtues, his fearlessness and incorruptible manhood, his singularly brave and upright heart."

"But there was another side to his nature—the one which makes our grief so unexpressed now. How full and rich, how unselfish and complete his friendship which he gave of so generously to all. This man of unending will, of great determination, was in the quiet of his friends as faithful and considerate as a woman. His countless acts of friendship, his unceasing will, of great determination, was in the quiet of his friends as faithful and considerate as a woman. His countless acts of friendship, his unceasing will, of great determination, was in the quiet of his friends as faithful and considerate as a woman."

"The construction company is to have full control of the townships and station locations on the route. It will doubtless do the actual construction by means of sub-contractors, of which it will have supervision."

WESTON HAS GOLD STRIKE AND BIG RABBIT HUNT.
Special Correspondence.
Weston, Idaho, Jan. 4.—The holidays have passed off very pleasantly. Dancing parties, social gatherings and sleigh riding were quite extensively indulged in, and no unhappy results marred the peace and quiet of this little village.

The postoffice was transferred to Preston Bros. store today, with Thos. Preston as postmaster, to take the place of John Maughan, Sen., resigned.

Two expert nimrods of Weston are selecting their mighty ones to indulge in contest to see who can burn the most powder and slaughter the most hunsies. A free dance to the winners the result, Thursday, Jan. 4, the eventful day.

The surplus hay is being bought up and held by prospective contractors who expect the L. L. Highway to be washed to completion in the early spring.

James Christiansen one of Weston's hustling young men, has caused some little excitement here by showing among his friends some gold bearing nuggets weighing $85 per ton, found near the Utah and Nevada line, about two miles from the S. P. R. R. track.

REST MADE EASY
Out of Jersey's state prison at Trenton, last week, came Libbie Garrabrant, who when a girl in 1891 was sentenced to be hanged, and then was committed to prison for life through the clemency of the state.

The crime for which Libbie Garrabrant spent the best part of her life in prison was the murder of Ransom F. Burroughs in Paterson in 1871, by sprinkling arsenic over a dish of rice pudding which he ate.

The couple lived together as man and wife, and on his refusal to keep his promise to marry her, she determined to kill him.

That Libbie Garrabrant is now a free woman is due to the unceasing efforts of Miss Mary Philbrook, a well-known practicing attorney of Newark, N. J.

The Garrabrant woman is living with relatives in Paterson.

Can't rest at night with a bad back. A lame, a weak or an aching one. Doan's Kidney Pills are for bad backs.

They cure every form of kidney ills. From common backache to diabetes. They are endorsed by Salt Lake City people.

Mrs. John M. Child, wife of John M. Child, retired, of 35 North Fifth West street, says: "My back ached so that I could not sit still without placing my arm across my loins and leaning against it for the slight relief this makeshift or position afforded. If I awoke at night I dreaded to change position for I knew the moment I attempted to turn agony followed. I had little confidence in Doan's Kidney Pills when they first came to my notice, for I had tried plasters and kidney remedies unsatisfactorily without receiving any satisfaction, so when a box of the preparation procured at the J. Hill Drug company's store brought relief and a continuation of the treatment was followed by the greatest improvement in my condition, it is little wonder that I very emphatically endorse the remedy."

saving balm, and is gone—died before we are seen the tears of coming joy—waiting not for reward, lingering not for praise. The world at large, the state, has lost a splendid manly man, a patriot, a civil soldier without a stain upon his armor. But there are those who feel that they have also lost a friend, perhaps never to be replaced.

"But in the midst of this awful tragedy, let us strive to be just. This crime, when fastened upon its author will place him or them beyond the pale of human forgiveness or pity. Therefore let us not place it unjustly or upon suspicion. Let us not believe that it is the crime of any class or any portion of our citizens or that it finds sympathy with anyone other than the actual perpetrator. Let us hope that when the mystery yields up its secret it will be found that it is some one irresponsible toward all others, actuated by that strange fanaticism and mendacity which the lawbreaker bears toward the brave and upright and loyal, who has alone committed the awful deed. Oh, if men, high and low, rich and poor, would only learn obedience to the law, if they could only measure the worth and value of this, the rarest jewel in the crown of liberty."

"But let it not be forgotten in a day or a year that the demands of the law must be satisfied—violated with impunity never. Wherever the offense is surely located, whoever it may effect, and he fastened upon, there will be neither compromise nor cowardice. Idaho will not permit this humiliated to be ameliorated by time or wiped out by influence. The citizen who from this hour does not become the untiring searcher for the author of this crime carries already in his heart the germs of treason. He is not a part of us—the commonwealth disowns him. Idaho today offers to the nation the inspiring character of her great governor, and from this hour will claim recognition whenever fame gathers to the scroll the names of those who sacrificed all for the civic integrity of our constitutions. But in the months or years to come we will give to our sister states the proof that his example was not in vain—justice will bring to bar the cowardly assassin, and Idaho will in part pay to the memory of her dead her immeasurable debt of gratitude. No man wending his way to his home and loved ones, peering through darkness and storm into the lighted windows where cheer and welcome await his coming, will dare to forget that it is small lots so that there might possibly be enough to go around. Samuel C. Parkinson of this place for years has made it a custom to kill a beef and some sheep prior to Christmas and then distribute the meat among the widows, aged and poor. This year he changed his custom and purchased 15 tons of coal from the car-

SUGAR CITY IS TO BE INCORPORATED.
Special Correspondence.
SUGAR CITY, Ida., Jan. 5.—A meeting of the citizens of Sugar was held Tuesday evening to consider the advisability of forming a village corporation. The sentiment almost to a man was in favor of the proposition, and at once steps were taken to petition the county commissioners to grant the incorporation. The limits of the village will be that of the township plat, viz: one-half miles north and south by a mile east and west. The proposed town board will be Thos. Austin, David Hodge, Ephraim Ricks, Fred Schwendman, and Jacob J. Smith.

BEEF AND COAL FOR THE FRANKLIN POOR.
Special Correspondence.
FRANKLIN, Ida., Jan. 4.—The coal famine continues here and the fact that there is also a scarcity of wood makes it uncommonly hard to keep warm under any conditions during this prevailing cold snap. NEWS OF WEEK FROM POCA TELLO

Man Undertakes to Murder a Bartender Because He Could Not Get a Free Drink—Boys and a Second-Hand Dealer in Trouble Over the Old Story of Stolen Junk and Brass—Citizen's Floral Tribute to Steunenberg.

Special Correspondence.
POCA TELLO, Ida., Jan. 5.—That another murder was committed this week to the list of recent crimes of this nature is due to the prompt action of Officer Barney McGoway and the assistance of a bystander. It appears that a fellow giving his name as A. C. Martin had been loitering in the Resort saloon all yesterday forenoon, and just before dinner he approached the bartender and requested a free drink. The bartender quietly informed the gentleman that he was not as charitably disposed as his smiling countenance might lead one to believe, whereupon hot words ensued, and Martin went out with a vow to "get even."

Procuring a gun he started again for the saloon, to execute his threat, but just outside he was met by a friend, who, hearing his foolish threats, and observing his nervous condition, engaged him in conversation until Officer McGoway arrived, who, reaching his hand to the fellow's back pocket drew therefrom an ugly-looking 4-caliber gun, and immediately marched him off to the city jail. Witnesses of the event are positive the fellow intended to commit murder, but it has not been decided as yet what charge shall be preferred against him.

JUVENILE THIEVES.
Sheriff Harvey arrested a number of young boys last night for stealing brass from the Oregon Short Line, and just before dawn he arrested a batch tonight. So much stealing of brass and other metal has been going on of late that the company is determined to prosecute all cases to the full extent of the law.

In this connection D. Y. Miller was yesterday bound over to the district court by Judge White on the charge of receiving stolen property, and his bond fixed at $1500, which he promptly furnished.
