

FLOATING FRAGMENTS.

Yesterday was the opening day of the Utah Fair.

Funeral of Mrs. Conrad at two o'clock to-morrow.

Still the question continues to be asked—Who is U. J. Wenner?

Col. Godfrey, of the Utah Commission, has returned from his visit east.

Daniel Rochat to-night, at the Opera House, by the Union Square Company.

Four inches of snow fell in and around Butte on Monday. The surrounding country suddenly assumed the appearance of midwinter.

The preceding genius of the Gem Tent advertised that he dispenses of large tin type lithographs for 50 cents. Former price one dollar.

Four of the Commissioners took a walk around the northeast portion of our city yesterday and enjoyed the fine views obtainable from that elevated locality.

A corps of engineers and laborers have arrived at Glendale, Ariz., and immediately proceeded to disburse the $25,000 appropriated by Congress for the improvement of the Yellowstone River.

Lightning struck a Nevada man the other day while he was swearing it would, however, take a mighty smart stroke of lightning to hit a Nevada man when he is not swearing.

A phenologist says that "large ears indicate patience and agility." When investigating an animal with large ears, however, it may be well to remember that the patience is in front and the agility behind.

If there is a lad among the immigrants—who understands milking cows and attending to horses—in want of a situation, he can be informed where to apply on calling at this office. One from 15 to 17 years old preferred.

Despite of contrary assertions maliciously circulated, we are smallpox is almost entirely extinct in Weber County, there being only two cases, under rigid quarantine and under good medical attendance, and efficient nurses.—Ogden Herald.

A frightful suicide occurred at Reno, Nev., last Sunday. Joseph Perretto, aged 23, locked himself in a room, mounted a chair and placed the muzzle of a shotgun against his head, which he succeeded in exploding by reaching the trigger with the ramrod. The discharge tore one side of the head off, producing immediate death. He was of unusual mind.

LOCAL AND OTHER MATTERS.

Arrived.—The immigrants at 2.30 p.m. to-day.

For Goose Creek.—To-day Apostles F. M. Lyman and J. H. Smith, President H. J. Grant, of Tooele Stake, and Bishop Burridge, of St. Johns, left on a visit to the settlements on Goose Creek.

Y. L. M. I. A.—The members of the love association are respectfully invited to meet at the 15th Ward Assembly Hall to-morrow (Friday) at 1.30 p.m. to attend the funeral of Companion Clara V. Conrad.

Laying the Corner Stone.—The ceremony of laying the corner stone of the new Salt Lake Academy building will take place at half past ten o'clock on Saturday morning. Hon. P. H. Emerson will deliver the address.

Change of Time.—We are requested to state that the time for commencement of the funeral services over the remains of the late respected Mrs. Clara V. Conrad has been changed to two o'clock p.m. to-morrow.

Runaway.—There was a runaway on First West Street, to-day. The wagon, partially loaded with shingles and lumber, collided with a tree. The vehicle and harness were broken, and the horses, which got loose, scampered off, but were subsequently caught.

Wanted at Home.—Hyrum Edwards, of the 11th Ward, who left his city a week ago last Saturday, is wanted at home immediately, as his brother is in a dying condition. Persons knowing his whereabouts will oblige his parents by drawing his attention to this notice.

In Wedlock.—Elsewhere will be found an announcement of the marriage of Mr. Frederic B. Chandler, of Belleville, New Jersey, and Miss Agnes Shearman of this city, the ceremony being performed by Bishop Tuttle. The handsome and intelligent bride is the daughter of her townswoman and old acquaintance Mr. Wm. H. Shearman, of the firm of Godde, Pitts & Co. The newly married couple have our best wishes for their happiness and prosperity.

Soda.—On the 7th inst. the Oregon Short Line was completed to Soda Springs, and now tourists will be able to reach this famous resort by rail. This will result in the rapid building up of one of the most wonderful watering places in the world.

To reach the Springs by rail from Salt Lake, the traveler would take the U. C. to Ogden, and the U. P. to Granger, some 50 miles beyond Evanston, the terminus of the Oregon Short Line.

Loganites who visit the Springs will continue to make the trip in the old delightful way, by team, at least for some years to come.—Utah Journal.

"Old Shipmates."—The New York Tribune said, about the place that will be played at the Salt Lake Theatre on the 26th and 27th insts:

The rage for theatrical exhibitions seems to be subsiding. There were two failures last week. The success, among all the places that have been tried here this year, is "Old Shipmates," by Mr. Robert G. Morris, produced at Haverly's Theatre on Fourteenth Street. This is a simple, straightforward, unpretentious, coherent composition, dealing with a moral tone, genial in feeling, and illustrative of a character that combines some of the elements of Cap'n Cuttle and Ham with the active shrewdness of an American sailor. Mr. Frank McCandless is its representative.

Mormon Emigrants.

A COLONY OF HARDY CITIZENS FOR SONORA.

A party of Mormon emigrants passed through the city yesterday, on their way to find a camping ground somewhere in southeastern Arizona, northwestern Sonora or northwestern Chihuahua. The party included 23 people in all, including eight women. They are under the leadership of Bishop McDonald, the acting president of the wandering State of Zion. They left Salt River Valley on Aug. 29th, and made a march every day until they reached St. David. There the party was somewhat recruited by members of that settlement. It is their intention to penetrate Salinas Springs Valley, and follow it southward, entering Sonora and exploring the farming lands of that region. The present intention is to plant settlements in Salinas Springs Valley, and in every available spot as far south and east as the Janas River Chihuahua. They held several religious meetings in St. David before coming here, and will endeavor to enlighten the people on the Book of Mormon as they go along. Among the party there were eight or ten who have belonged to the Church for the past 25 or 30 years. Neither were the party strangers to this country, as Lieut. Col. Merrill of St. David, Edward Bunker, of Lincoln County, Nevada, and Henry Standish, of Utah, were in Col. Cook's famous expedition that left Salt River Valley in 1849, and passed here on their way to Mexico in 1847. The same parties went to Salt Lake City in 1848. Benjamin P. Johnson was also among the party. Mr. Johnson was in company with Orson Pratt and Orson Hyde, on top of the Uintah mountains, in 1847, when the broad, fertile valleys of Salt Lake were first beheld by the wandering followers of Brigham Young. The emigrants report the Salt River valley settlements in a very flourishing condition. Fruits and flowers grow in the same abundance as in southern California, and the climate is delightful in the extreme.

A Curious "Crank."—For some time past a curious character has made periodical calls at the City Hall. He has been under the influence of a hallucination. He informed the Chief of Police that he was amazed that a class of men in the community had not been seized and played in derange view. The individuals he alluded to were ventriloquists who threw the sound of their voices around creating loud noises that were so disconcerting as to roughly jar upon his musical soul.

This morning he made his appearance at the Hall with a look of deep concern upon his strongly marked features and in his sparkling black eyes. He found the City Marshal to whom he presented a slip of paper with the following ominous words endorsed on the back—"Referred to the City Marshal." He said he had been to the Commission and was well pleased with that august body. Ten thousand dollars was the amount he wanted, a modest sum, and as the Marshal would see by the endorsement, the matter had been referred to him for payment. That officer said he failed to perceive it exactly in that light, but referred Mr. Boden—to this being the man's name—to Watermaster Wilken. The latter was applied to for the insignificant sum, when he in turn referred the applicant to the deputy recorder and so on, but all who were appealed to appeared to be deficient of the necessary small change to meet the modest demand.

Mr. Boden departed thinking evidently that he had got among an ungenerous and impecunious crowd, and is probably still searching for some one who will hand over that ten thousand dollars. He is about thirty-three years old, quick in his movements. His face is of the rugged order, strongly marked, the nose coming mildly down for some distance and pushing suddenly outward near the point. There is a sharp unnatural light in his bright black eyes, indicating at once the absence of mental balance.

The False Friend.—"The False Friend" drew a full house last evening. The handsome little Opera House was crowded. The piece was put upon the stage in splendid style, the scenery being appropriate and that in the prologue beautiful and artistic. The acting was superb. Every character was sustained with pleasing fidelity, and the interest was worked up to a pitch of intensity that frequently held the audience to their seats until they applauded. The excellent points in the play, and its performance, however, were well appreciated and enjoyed.

The death scene of Lady Ogden was strikingly realistic, and the face of Mrs. E. J. Phillips, who took the part, was indeed as the face of a corpse. The old steward Andrew, by Mr. J. H. Stoddard, was a careful piece of acting of rare merit. Miss Maud Harrison made a character of the scolding Rebecca, and was ably and comically supported by Mr. Owen Fawcett as Courtwell. Miss E. Willis and Miss Nellie Wetherell as the two sisters, with Mr. John Parrelle as the amorous old General Stanley, made heaps of fun. The leading characters of the play were sustained by Messrs. F. D. Belleville and J. E. Whiting and Miss Eleanor Carey, who left nothing to be desired. It was another triumph for the Union Square Company.

Th-night the famous French play of "Daniel Rochat" will be presented, one of the very best in the repertoire of a company that has never been excelled on the boards of this city.

A Visit to Sanpete.—Sister Eliza R. Snow Smith returned last evening from her visit to Sanpete, looking bright and feeling well. She attended the Ladies' Conference of Sanpete Stake, held at Mount Pleasant, also one of the Primary Associations of the Stake. Both were interesting and well attended. She visited besides the settlement already named, Wales, Moroni, Fairview, Indianola and Spring City and held, in all, eleven meetings. The Lamanite (Indian) sisters at Indianola sent two quilts to the Deseret Hospital.

Personal.—We had a pleasant call to-day from W. R. Palmer, Esq., a member of the English bar, who has been spending a few days in this city on his way to the Pacific Coast. He is quite surprised with what he has seen and heard at Salt Lake, and will go away with views very much changed in relation to "a people everywhere spoken against" without cause.

The Additional Troops.—The two companies of the Ninth Infantry, said to have been sent here in anticipation of a "Mormon outbreak" during the approaching November election, arrived by last night's train, and at once went into quarters at Fort Douglas. Anybody expecting an outbreak on the part of the "Mormons" at the election, which the People's Party can easily carry, must either be troubled with ignorance or insanity, but there is no objection anywhere or by anybody to the locating of additional troops at the Fort.

Going to the other Side.—This afternoon Mr. Henry McEwan, foreman of the News composing department, was called to Provo on a sad errand. He received a telegram informing him that his father, Elder Henry McEwan, Sen., was not only dangerously ill, but rapidly sinking, so he proceeded on the first train to the parental bedside. The veteran whose lamp of life was, at last accounts, expiring, is an old and faithful member of the Church, being one of those who embraced the Gospel when it was first carried to the city of Edinburgh, Scotland, by the late Apostle Orson Pratt.

Rubbish.—Bill Nye's Boomerang, speaking of the immigrants who got in to-day, says: "The Mormons will probably work in a good many of these people at the coming election in Utah." Nye probably intended this as a joke on the non-"Mormon" registrars and election officers generally. The Boomerang will consist of statements of transparent impossibilities. In the matter of genuine humor it is being left in the rear by the "Missing Link." Nye's style is a miserable imitation of that of "Ell Perkins," with an addition of the element of spitefulness and a total absence of generous sentiment.

A Demented Man.—This morning an unfortunate young man named Walter Porcher was before Justice Spiers. Yesterday morning he was found by the police officers in a semi-nude condition. It appears he is subject to spells of temporary insanity, and got into that condition night before last, while waiting upon a sick man. His mental aberrations have usually been caused by drinking, but he stated this morning that he had not indulged that habit for several days before being arrested, and that he had no knowledge of what had occurred until he regained consciousness in jail.

Some time since while temporarily insane, Porcher took a couple of large pieces of canvases daubed over indiscriminately with bright colors, to an establishment in town, said they were fine paintings he had executed after the style of Turner, in 15 minutes, and wished them appropriately framed. Porcher is a painter by trade.

He was discharged from custody.

TO BOYS AND GIRLS.

And all persons out of employment who wish to learn something by which they can always be useful to themselves and others depending upon their labors.

Every boy and girl in Zion should be learning some trade or profession. Book-keepers out of employment should take steps to acquire a knowledge of telegraphy, which would often enable them to obtain employment. There is quite an increasing demand for telegraphers, and it is from a knowledge of this fact that I am induced to offer increased facilities for those wishing to learn. It is also an accomplishment that is desirable to understand and being easy to learn—much easier than many suppose—it would be well for those having an hour to spare three days in the week, to take hold at once, while a new class or two is being organized. It might be some improvement to adopt a few telegraphic signals in sounding fire alarms for the information of the public as to location of fire, which would be soon understood by the public, especially those who took an interest in the information. Telegraphy in classes can be taught for ten cents per lesson. Give the boys and girls a chance. It is easily acquired and useful to all.

Respectfully, H. J. HILL, Deseret Telegraph Office, P. O. Box 227. d260 1w
