

THE LATE MR. COOK.

We are pained to announce the sudden death of Mr Frederick Cook, who, for nearly two years past, has resided in this city, acting in the capacity of Assistant-Treasurer of the Overland Mail Company, and with which institution he has been for many years officially connected.

Mr. Cook left this city on the 29th of March, accompanied by Gov. Gilpin, of Colorado, and Gen. B. M. Hughes, of the "Overland Stage Line," for a visit to California, and had reached the City of Sacramento, on his return, when the accident occurred which resulted in his death.

While riding through the city, in company with Gov. Gilpin, on the morning of Tuesday, 28th ult., the horses took fright, overturning the carriage, injuring Mr. Cook in the region of the spine, and inflicting some injuries upon his companion. Every attention was shown the sufferers, and, throughout the night, Mr. Cook's symptoms were favorable to his recovery, but during the following morning it became evident that he could not survive. Although his limbs were paralyzed, he was able to speak, and expressed his convictions, as he had from the first, that his injuries would terminate fatally. He gave thoughtful directions in reference to his effects, and upon the subject of communicating his death to his friends in New York, and manifested the utmost calmness in view of his approaching dissolution. He retained the power of speech up to the hour of noon, and calmly breathed his last an hour later. His remains, inclosed in a metallic coffin, were conveyed to San Francisco on Friday, and will be sent by steamer to New York.

The loss of Mr. Cook is not merely a loss to the Company, whose vast business operations he so faithfully managed, but also to the community and to the world. He was a sincere and devoted Christian, a member of the Presbyterian organization known as the "Dutch Reformed Church," of New York city. He loved his religion, and lived it. Impressed with the excellencies and beauties of his own peculiar faith, he learned from it that large-hearted charity towards all mankind which concedes the right of every man to worship the Father according to the dictates of his own conscience. He had no sympathy with the cruel policy which would blot out of existence any of the various religious organizations, because at different shrines they kneel unto one God. He was outspoken and bold in his denunciations of private errors or public wrongs, and possessed that peculiar personal power and fearlessness which enabled him to vanquish the braggart and to handle official pitch without defilement. A devoted lover of his country, he did not attempt to conceal his contempt for the selfish conduct of those who see in war and bloodshed only the means of personal aggrandizement. The same directness and truthfulness characterized his business life. Liberal and openhanded in his personal charities, he was yet exacting and just in his business relations. If a suit was brought against the company for injury to person or property, he never failed to defend it successfully, for it was sure to be an unjust claim. Were it otherwise it would have been amply satisfied long before it could reach the court room.

After what we have said it is almost unnecessary for us to add, that Mr. Cook was highly respected here by every worthy member of the community, or that the hearts of our people beat heavily at the portals of his grave. Disloyalists might have hated him for his enthusiastic devotion to country, and disorganizers doubtless detested him for his inflexible opposition to schemes of villainy. If wickedness in high places trembled before his scathing denunciation, goodness and purity recognized in him a friend worthy of all veneration, respect and love.

We cannot better close our notice than by appending the following lines, written by Miss E. R. Snow, of this city, on the sad event which we have chronicled and addressed to one of Mr. Cook's friends:

Death's purple hand has struck a sudden blow!
From sorrow's fountain streams are made to flow!
And you, from one beloved, are called to part;
Ah! this is nature's titling of the heart!
You loved your friend—you prized his noble worth;
The loss of such, is loss to us, and earth;
When from our midst a man like him is borne,
We, as a people, feel and deeply mourn.
O'er such a loss deep sympathies will blend;
You mourn a brother, righteousness a friend;

Justice an advocate—humanity
An able counsel with a truthful plea.

A worthy man—deceit no resting place
Found in his heart, and cowardice no trace;
In memory's sacred archives he will live,
And to his name truth's speech will honor give.

Peace to his ashes: let his dust return
To dust again, while laurels grace his urn—
While he, the immortal from the mortal free,
Basks in the halo of eternity.

TRAINS FOR THE EAST.

During the past week all the teams have started which are going east this spring, to assist in gathering the poor wishing to emigrate to the peaceful vales of Deseret, and for the importation of merchandize and machinery, of which large quantities will be brought, if the expectations of the many, who have either gone or sent to purchase, shall be fully realized. More or less teams in each of the church trains have gone on private account—many to assist old friends who begin to recall to mind the sayings of the prophets and wish to enjoy a season of peace, after witnessing so many scenes of turmoil and war, as they have within the last two years.

The number of horse, mule and ox teams which have left for the frontiers within the last three weeks, we have no means of determining, but we are safe in saying that it exceeds that of any previous year. Capt. Preston's company, we believe, took the lead of the Church teams, and from latest accounts received from the companies it is believed that he has passed Fort Bridger before this time, and Capt. White with the rear train is supposed to have camped somewhere in Echo Canyon last night.

Bishop Hunter, who went out on the road as far as Echo to see that all things were in order and give the men some directions and advice after the companies were organized, makes a very favorable report in relation to the teams, wagons, and everything connected with their outfit. The several companies will travel as close together as circumstances will permit, and it is believed that they will make as good time in going and returning as any teams of the kind which ever crossed the plains.

WAR NEWS.—The army of the Potomac, as reported, commenced moving across the Rappahannock, on or about the 27th of April, since which rumor says much blood has been shed in the conflicts which have taken place between the Federals and Confederates. Great battles are reported to have been fought on Saturday, Sunday and Monday, the particulars of which will probably be received in the course of a few days. The Confederates are said to have come off second best, so far as reported.

Advertisements of every kind arranged for the papers.

BOOK-KEEPING.

Merchants and Tradesmen's Account Books started, or posted from time to time.

CORRESPONDENCE.

Letters on business matters, or domestic subjects, written and prepared for mailing to any part of America or Great Britain.

COPYING.

Law Deeds copied. Plays copied out into parts for Dramatic Societies, etc., etc.

ADVERTISING AND INTELLIGENCE DEPARTMENT.

The Advertisers also wish to call attention to the establishment of an Advertising Agency, on the principle of the register and intelligence offices, long since successfully established in other places. It is well known that persons in this city wishing to hire houses or buy property, have had to run through from 12 to 20 wards of this city and make a hundred inquiries to find out houses to let, or property to sell. Parties requiring labor done have gone with work unattended to, when scores of persons who could have done it were in the city unemployed, simply because they could not find them. Persons wishing to sell have had property left on their hands, and workmen have gone unemployed, or have been obliged to work at business out of their line, for want of a direct medium of communication between the seller and the buyer—the workman and the employer.

The Advertising Office will meet this want. Books will be opened for entering a full description of Houses and Land to Rent or Sell; also Hay, Grain, Stock, or any other kind of property to be disposed of. In these books, Artists, Workmen, or Domestic Servants can register the kind of labor they need; and Employers can advertise the number of hands they require.

Fifty cents will be charged for each insertion to last one calendar month. The book will be opened free for inspection to the public; but, in case of a trade being made, or employment, etc., being obtained through a reference from this office, twenty-five cents will be due. All Advertisements entered without charge till the 20th of May.

ADDENDUM.

Having been asked by a facetious friend, who was struck with the fewness of the above propositions, whether that was all we would offer to do; we reply, no, certainly not. Being filled with sublime sympathy for distressed humanity we very modestly offer to undertake the following:

BUSINESS EXTRAORDINARY!

Speeches prepared for bewildered stump orators and speechifiers in general. We also offer to assist, as faithful midwives, Executives in pain to be delivered of July glorifications. Having sent east a special messenger for materials this very year, we shall be able to manufacture any amount of gas to illuminate such joyful occasions. Orations prepared expressly for such times, spiced with "Glorious Washingtons," "Mount Vernons," and "starry banners" in boundless profusion; also a large amount of opening speeches, reserved expressly for new governors, tastefully touched up with "Wonderful people!" "Wonderful progress!" "Eternal ramparts!" and "snow-capped peaks!" We have, moreover, on hand a "genius of solitude" to loan out, which can be made to sit upon one of the aforesaid pikes, if occasion requires. Any amount of thanksgiving proclamations got up full of "angels of mercy," "burning scepters" and "gory wheels." Executive pardons cleverly butchered, lacking only the signature and the criminal's name, exchanged for the bare value of the foolscap. Crooked productions of Utah correspondents, for eastern or western papers, straightened and the usual backbone of lies extracted. More we cannot do for them, lest we share the fate of a certain gentleman living on the bench, who, undertaking to trench his ground and take out all the rocks, found to his horror that he had nothing left to put back again.

Here our modesty stops us, and have only to add that to hard up politicians and needy correspondents, our terms will be easy. 45-3 E. W. T. & E. L. T. H.

STRAYED MYSTERIOUSLY,
FROM the yard of the subscriber, Two Black EWES, on Tuesday last. Any information that will lead to their recovery will be rewarded.
