ELIZABETH JAMES KILLED AND heard of at Ashley, reached Salt Lake, looking pretty well worn. He says that thus far in his trip across the continent, the country between Leadville and this city is the roughest he has met with. Of 685 miles he travcled, he had to walk all but 30 or 40, because of sandy or rough toads. For four days he saw no sign of human habitation, and had to sleep ou the bare ground without shelter; he subsisted on the bread he brought with him, and was sometimes so unfortunate as to be without water to quench
