TO FIGHT FOR CUBA.

Senator Morgan Thinks the Rebels Will Receive Aid

IF THEY CAN HOLD OUT A YEAR.

Many Persons in This Country Willing to Fight for Cuban Liberation Were the Time Come.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 19.—Senator Morgan, of Alabama, chairman of the Senate foreign relations committee, has returned to Washington and will be on hand for the adjournment of Congress, and also to be present in the Senate when foreign complications arise.

"I do not know what is taking place," he said this American Press reporter, "but I will be said in the papers from time to time. I am, of course, interested in the situation in Cuba. If the insurrectionists are able to hold out for a year they will be in such a position that foreign powers will be compelled to recognize them as belligerents, and only in the way is this possible, and only in the way is it to be done, by spite of all efforts to the contrary, will the United States be compelled to take a hand in the matter. We must see to it that Cuba is not under our control, and there will be no way of keeping them out of it if the people who are interested in the matter show that they have any strength at home. For myself, I am inclined to view the uprising as without any particular feeling. I am glad to see that Cuba is trying to free herself from the Spanish yoke. It would be a great calamity to the country if we should be involved in a war for Cuba at present, and there will be no necessity for it if the people who are interested in the matter show that they have the strength at home to back up the movement. If they do not
