EIGHT JURORS FOR WALKER CASE

Satisfactory Progress Made in Securing Arbiters of Fate of Slayer of Dr. Beers.

ESTATE OF MRS. ANN MARTIN.

James Blakely, a Baggage Man, Hurt—Obsequies of Mrs. M. A. Mortenson—Funeral Announcements.

Ogden, Dec. 5.—Eight jurors have been accepted by both sides up to closing time of the second district court last evening in the murder trial against Fred S. Walker, the alleged slayer of Dr. Beers. The securing of a jury is progressing as rapidly as could reasonably be expected, after the great publicity given the murder through the press at the inquest and preliminary hearing. Out of the hundred summonses subpoenaed, less than a third have been called into the jury box to be questioned by the attorneys touching their qualifications to act as jurors in the case.

The grounds on which most of the jurors have been excused, is that they have heard many of the details of the affair and have formed an opinion, and it would take considerable evidence to remove. Several peremptory challenges have been exercised by both sides. The attorneys hope to have a complete jury of 12 men by tonight, so that the taking of testimony may be commenced tomorrow.

The jurors accepted up to last evening are: H. Brown, Charles G. Christensen, L. J. Taylor, Samuel Siler, Joseph E. Storey, William Wheeler, David Farland and J. J. Hutchins. The defendant is taking a great deal

When searched nothing of an incriminating nature was found on him. The police believe he is the man who has been doing a land office business the past week in the pickpocket line. He will be held pending further investigation.

THE DESERET NEWS.

MORELAND, IDAHO.

Banquet and Ball Given in Honor of Retiring Bishops—Wedding.

Special Correspondence.

Moreland, Ida., Nov. 29.—Thanksgiving day a party was given in the ward hall in honor of the retiring bishopric. Beginning at 2 p. m. a program consisting of songs, speeches and recitations, was rendered, after which tables were arranged the length of the room, and all sat down to a sumptuous repast, and the way turkey, goose, duck, and chicken disappeared was a marvel. At 8 p. m. all who felt so disposed enjoyed a social hop, until 12, when the party closed. A pretty feature of the occasion was the presentation of a large oak rocker to each of the members of the retiring bishopric as a token of the esteem in which they are held. John Wray made the presentation speech and the three recipients responded feelingly.

THANKSGIVING WEDDING.

Another feature of Thanksgiving was the marriage of Miss Grace Hatch to Philip J. Kirchgastner. President Jas. Duckworth performing the ceremony which made them one.

Ideal autumn weather has prevailed here and as a result the farmers are well up with their fall work, plowing being the order of the day, as all the best are now harvesting and at the factory, except what are piled at the loading stations, and they are being sent to the factory as fast as they can be loaded on the cars.

PHENOMENAL PROSPERITY.

Crops Abundant and Money Plentiful—Politics—New Arrivals.

Special Correspondence.

Cardston, Alberta, Canada, Nov. 26.—Ben May and wife, Ben Wood and wife, Thomas A. Law and wife, and R. W. Pilling and wife are all happy over the arrival of a baby boy to each home, while girls were just as warmly welcomed at the homes of E. M. Woolf and E. L. Jensen.

As an evidence of the busy season enjoyed here, the writer, on the road to his work, observed no less than seven teams threshing outside hard to work on the stacks of grain. This means much to the district, more especially since the weather has remained ideal for the completion of the grain task the harvest set for the good people.

The Conservative party delegates, in its recent convention at Lethbridge, unanimously tendered the nomination as member in parliament to Hon. C. A. Magrath, whom many of the "News" readers know as well. The Liberals meet in convention this evening and from all appearances, Mr. W. O. Simmons will be their next bearer. The election will be held some time during the winter, or early spring and will give seven members to Alberta, a rapid growth since the elections in 1906, when Hon. Frank Oliver, now minister of the interior, represented the whole territory. But this is a fair illustration of the actual development going on. What will it be in 10 years more? Business in general keeps apace with the growth mentioned.

No man here finds it necessary to beg a bank manager or cashier to allow him to draw a small portion of his deposits. Everybody seems to have money. The Indians are accumulating their "trusty" money so that now $1 and $2 bills are plentiful as "scrip" used to be.

Wheat is selling for a good price, and oats more so in proportion, with the result that many farmers are paying off their indebtedness for lands and implements and looking around for more land to buy, to raise more wheat and oats, to get more money to buy more land, etc., as Apostle Grant so aptly puts it.

WHISTLER DRAWINGS.

Five Recently Brought to Light and Added to West Point Museum.

New York, Dec. 5.—To the treasures that have been gathered at the military academy at West Point there have been added five early drawings by J. McNeill Whistler which only recently were brought to light. After being forgotten for more than 30 years, the drawings now hang in the library at the academy.

James Abbott McNeill Whistler entered the military academy in 1851 when he was a boy of 16. He showed little aptitude for a military life, but had already developed a remarkable talent for drawing. The records of the academy show that in that branch he easily led his class. One of the instructors in drawing at the time was Lieut. Absalom Baird, who encouraged young Whistler in his art. Out of gratitude the boy, who was to become perhaps the greatest of American artists, presented to his instructor several of his sketches. These Lieut. Baird put away in a scrapbook containing various memorabilia of West Point. Lieut. Baird served in the Civil war and reached the rank of brigadier general before he died. The sketches were found a short time ago in the attic of his widow's home and were presented to the academy by Gen. Baird's son, Capt. William Baird, retired.
