During the exodus to Utah, Lysander was employed by the government in 1947 to furnish horses and mules for a 1947 to furnish horses and mules for a portion of the army, and in the spring of 1848 went with Gen. Wilson to Fort Hall, idaho, with settlers' goods. Later he was placed in command of the quarhe was placed in command of the quar-termaster's mail and returned to Kanes-ville, la., with mail. He then went to Utah in advance of the rest of his fa-ther's family and prepared a place for them when they arrived in 1848. He took the first government contract that was let in Utah and successfully sup-plied Johnston's army with thousands f tons of hay, coal and timber.

Dec. 2, 1855 he married Matilda Ellen Nay at Cedar Fort, Utah. He was a member of the city council at American Fork for two years, being in office when Fork for two years, being in office when in 1861, he was called on a four years' mission to settle "Dixle," in answer to which call he located at St. George in the fail of 1861, at which place he was a member of the High Council, and as such went with Jacob Hamblin on a mission to the Moqui Indians in Arimission to the should indians in Ari-gena. He returned from "Dixle" to Cedar Fort in 1855, where he resided until he moved to Wilford, Idaho, in 1855. He filed successively the offices of peacon, Teacher, Priest, Elder, Seventy and High Priest. He crossed the plains from Utah to the Missouri river during the early days of Utah, 13 times efore the railroad came through. When Johnston's army was preparing to re-turn east he furnished it with most of the animals and much of its equipment for the journey. He was also engaged to a great extent in California during early days, and traveled over this western country considerably. Elder Dayton was a faithful Latterday Saint and enjoyed the gifts and blessings of the spirit and has an untarpished reputation among all his many acquaintances here. A few days after the recent death of his wife he took cold and passed off suddenly Dec. 14, 1905. The funeral services, which were largely attended, were held in the Wilford meetinghouse Sunday afternoon, pec, 17. The speakers were Joshua Hawkes, Isaac Packer, O. K. Meservy and Bishop S. SN. Orme, the former two being old associates of the deceased, who spoke in glowing terms of the life and character of the deceased. He was buried in the Wilford cemetery. Elder Dayton was one of Joseph Smith's body guard and was intimately acquainted with every one of the three witnesses and also the eight witnesses is the Book of Mormon and with every nember of the First Quorum of Twelve Apostles and every one of the Presi-dent's of the Church and all the aposties down to the time of his removal to Elder Dayton and Matilda his wife were the parents of nine children, only five of whom survive them, they are alse survived by 26 grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

MOCCASIN RANCH. ANDREW JENSON'S ITINERARY Visit to Settlements of Southern Utah

Special Correspondence, Moccasin Ranch, Mohave Co., Ari-Moccasin Ranch, Mohave Co., Ari-zona, Dec. 6.--For the purpose of mak-ing an extended tour of the Fanguiten, Kanab, St. George, Parowan, Beaver and Millard stakes of Zion, in the in-terest of Church history, I left Salt Lake City, on the 18th ultimo, After spending a pleasant Suplay in Manti and visiting Stirling, Mayneid, Fayette, and Gunnisoz, I continued the journey by train to Marysvale, where there is a small branch of the Church belong-ing to the Sevier stake, presided over ing to the Sevier stake, presided over by Elder Black. Samuel L. Page, the branch cierk, hired a carriage and sent me on to Junction (20 miles), the county seat of Plute county. I found this part of the country covered with snow and ice as the result of a recent snowstorm, but was much surprised at the improvements made in the village the improvements made in the village of Junction since my last visit in 1892. The fine court house, and the magnifi-cent schoolhouse recently erected here would do honor to almost any county in Utah. John Morrell is Bishohp of the Junction ward, which was organ-ized a few years ago, when the old ward of that name was divided into two and the new village of Kingston, which is pleasantly situated at the mouth of the canyon through which the east branch of Sevier river emerges the east branch of Sevier river emerges into the lower valley was organized as a new ward. I found many improve-ments also made in Circleville—that historical settlement which figured so prominently in the so-called Black Hawk war in 1865 and following years.

I was shown the place where a young woman hid from the Indians by getting into a spring and standing in water to into a spring and standing in water to her neck for six hours in the cold month of November; she saved her life, though she never fully recovered from the effects of the terrible ordeal. On the same occasion' four of our brethren were killed by the Indians in the immediate vicinity of Circleville, James E. Peterson is the present Bish-op of Circleville ward op of Circleville ward. After attending the quarterly conference at this place with Elders Hy-rum M. Smith and Rulon S. Wells, I traveled with Bishop James B. Hey-wood, of Panguitch, about 30 miles to Panguitch, where we arrived in the midst of a blinding snow storm—a ter-ific blizzard, the like of which has not been witnessed for many years, even in this upper country. Panguitch is an interesting town, but lacks most of the modern improve-ments with which nearly all other im-portant places in Utah are blessed. It has neither telegraph, telephone nor aterworks, and vet many of its inhabitants are wealthy and progressive. Continuing the journey from Pan-guitch on the 29th and traveling about 18 miles with Elder Daniel B. Clark, we reached the new town of Hatch, which is situated about a mile below the junction of Mammoth and Asay's junction of Mammoth and Asay's creeks, these two streams forming the Sevier river proper. The town of Hatch is only two years old, but the people are already ocmfortably housed and feel hopeful of their future prosperity. Formerly the people lived scattered about on their ranches, though one previous attempt had been made to build a town a mile above, where the Panguitch people had built a reservoir at the junction of the two creeks alrady mentioned; but after some $15,000 had been spent on the reservoir, the dam broke and the flood caused thereby nearly washed away the en-tire town. The present village is built on higher lands

Philadelphian Exhibited Wonderful Skill in Avoiding' Punishment And in Landing Blows.

Mechanics' Pavilion. San Francisco. Dec. 20.-Robert Fitzsimmons collapsed at the close of the thirtcenth round of his fight with Jack O'Brien tonight. He had fought hard, but nature could no longer stand the strain, and after the gong rang for the close of the thirteenth round he walked to his corner and sat in his chair. Then his head fell over on his breast, his whole body collapsed and the fighting wonder of the age was "all in." Referee Graney saw his condition and awarded the fight to O'Brien.

While punched in the face and badly While punched in the face and badly cut up and several times in jeopardy, Fitzsimmons always managed to come to and resume the hight. Just at the close of the thirteenth round he landed a left on O'Brien's stomach, but the Philade-phia man came back with a similar blow and followed it with a light left to the jaw. The gong rang for the close of the round and Fitzsimmons walked to his corner. As he sat down he said to Re-feree Graney: "Eddle, he hit me in the stomach and it is all over." Then his head sank and Bob Fitzsimmons was de-fereated.

Referee Graney said: "Fitzsimmons showed his class. O'Brien is a wonderful boxer, but the other man stood up and took his punishment. Occasionally he showed a flash of his old-time form, but his strength could not last."

CONTEST BY ROUNDS.

In the first round not more than four blows were exchanged. O'Brien content-ed himself with dancing about with Fitz-simmons following, but seidom attempting to land. simmons following, but seidom attempting to land. In the second round Fitzsimmons erouched low, and after O'Brien had missed left for the face he whipped his left and right to the face and Fitzsim-mons partially landed a straight left and right to the face and head. Fitz drove O'Brien into a corner and O'Brien clever-ly ducked a hard left intended for the jaw. In the break that followe Fitz goto a light uppercut to the face. O'Brien suddenly shot his left to the face, o'Brien wadenly shot his left to the face. The suddenly shot his right and left to the face and O'Brien countered with a short-arm left as the bell rang. Round 3-As O'Brien backed away Fitz caught him with a hard left uppercut to the faw and a moment later shot his left to the face. Fitz drove his left hard to the solar plexus, and, mixing it, worked his left to the face. O'Brien hust as the bell rang, shot a straight left that caught Fitz on the nose and sent him to the floor. the farmers, sheep and cattlemen happy. HONORED FIONEER DEAD.

In the morning of the 30th, Thanks-giving day, Bishop Ramus Lynn of Hatch took us to the top of the moun-tain-the rim of the basin, where the altitude is 8,000 feet and where the ground was covered with nearly two feet of snow. On the summit, 12 miles from Hatch, we were met by a sleigh sent out by Bishop Graham D. Mac-donald of Graham to meet us, and the ride was then continued down the steep incline into Long valley to Graham, seven miles from the summit. We ar-rived at Glendale in the evening, at the house of Bishop Royal J. Cutler, Jr., seven miles further down the valley. Of the three settlements in Long valley, Glendale is keeping up with the times. Orderville has witnessed some improvements of late years and built a beautiful meetinghouse, a social hall and a schoolhouse. Mount Carmel, which was nearly depopulated about three years ago, has received a new population and is nealry up to its for-mer standard. Hans C. Sorensen is the present Bishop of Mount Carmel and Henry W. Esplin still presides in Orderville. Our journey to Kanab across the mountains and down the canyons over the roughest roads imaginable, brought us to a warmer country. Instead of the carpet of snow which covered the upper valleys, the people of Kanab had the privilege of wending their way to conference through the mud and slush, as the snow which fell during the rethe show which ten during the re-cent storm had nearly all melted. In the hospitable home of President Ed-win D. Woolley we learned the par-ticulars of his great project of spanning the Colorado river with a cable and taking passengers across in a cage. This enterprise will be pushed through in the spring. We left Kanab this morning for Fredonia, which is situated in Coconino county, Ariz., seven miles south of Kanab. From there Bishop Asa W. Judd (late president of the Netherlands mission) took us through the hills and mission) took us through the hills and valleys to Moccasin Springs, 18 miles from Fredonia, where we are now spending an evening comfortably in the hospitable home of Elder Charles C. Heaton, the president of the little branch here, consisting of four families. Moccasin Springs is a cozy little cor-ner or cove with mountains on three sides and the desert on the other. Three months ago the place obtained local telephone connection, and tonight we are chatting pleasantly with our friends in Rockville and St. George (55 miles in Rockville and St. George (55 miles distant), and arranging our future itin-erary. To be able to do this at this isolated spot on the desert is certainly in-teresting. ANDREW JENSON. teresting.
