

posedly than I have seen municipal dignitaries do in England when they were permitted to approach the throne.

I mention this little incident to show that, however despotic the government of this country may be in theory, it is much ameliorated in practice by the personal deportment of people in authority, from the emperor on his throne, the fountain of honor, favor and fortune, down to the humble "bootishnik"—generally pronounced boot-jack by early students in Slavonic—the Russian policeman, who tells you about fifteen times a day that it is not permitted to smoke in the street, and politely points out the announcement to that effect in the French language, which is hung up in his little guard house. I have now read it so often that it is completely imprinted on my memory but I always find that a few civil nods and winks—beyond that, as Albert Smith says, the conversation is apt to flag—and in extreme cases a cigar or five coopecks, gets me out of the difficulty, and appeases the outraged dignity of the law.

In the late emperor's time the prohibition was rigidly enforced, but the present czar smokes himself, and has walked through the streets with a cigar, and his loyal subjects have not been slow in following his example. At present on fume pretty generally in the northern capital.

The empress, who followed her august spouse into the church, is a tall, lady-like woman, but beyond that nothing remarkable. Her toilette was in excellent taste, very similar to that of the Empress Eugenie, whose figure is not unlike that of the czarina.

The young archdukes are all fine hearty little fellows, give the salute with true military precision, and look quite smart in their tiny uniforms, each being of course colonel of a regiment. The czar himself wore the dress of the Gardes a Cheval, one of the plainest in the service.—[St. Petersburg correspondent of the Daily News.]

A GOOD INVESTMENT.—A benevolent old gentleman used to give away wood to the poor by the cord, in order, as he said, to have it recorded above.

How can a man who has no wings be said to be "winged" in an affair of honor? Because in fighting a duel he makes a goose of himself.

There are two reasons why we don't trust a man: one because we don't know him, and the other because we do.

FOR SALE,

A FARM lying between the county and territorial roads, on both sides of Little Cottonwood, some 10 miles south of the city, containing 300 acres of excellent farming land, which will be sold entire or in lots to suit purchasers.

NOTICE.

FIVE Acres of Land for sale, immediately south of the church farm, one half of it rich and loamy, the other half what is termed adobe land, which raises moderate crops of wheat. From a spring on the lot above any quantity of water can be obtained. Have hauled a load of posts for fencing on the lot and on the north line there is a good ditch. I have also set out a few currant cuttings, which are doing well. It is a corner lot, has a clayey subsoil and I consider would be a desirable place for an orchard. Terms cheap for pay on the P. E. DESERET STORE

AND EXCHANGE

FOR HOME MANUFACTURES,

PRODUCE

AND HOME MANUFACTURED GOODS

Will be received for Sale and Exchange.

Manufacturers, take courage; all you want is a market for the products of your labor.

Farmers, be wise; watch the spirit of the Prophet, keep his counsel, and exchange your grain for home manufactures only, except such indispensable articles as have not as yet been manufactured in the Territory, and to meet those deficiencies, a considerable stock of State goods of a certain class will be kept on hand for a time.

It would be ridiculous to mention what class of Home Manufactures will be required for Sale, or what quantity; for the fact is, we want every article from a mouse trap to a steam-engine, and the quantity unlimited.

Good, fat beef CATTLE taken in exchange for Goods. The cattle are wanted in order to procure fat for the Soap Factory. Holders of stock, won't you assist in this important branch of Home Manufactures? Some have prophesied you will not; I say you will, for there are yet many righteous men in Israel.

Endeavor to communicate with me, and make your arrangements as early as possible.

HERDING.

THE undersigned have established a HERD GROUND in Rush Valley, and are prepared to take stock to herd; and we feel confident in saying that the range is equal to any in the Territory.

The vast amount of Stock lost heretofore through the negligence of herdsmen, and the severity of the weather in other valleys has induced us to locate said herd ground, and enter into the business of herding for the benefit of the people—said valley having proved the best and safest range for stock the past winter there was in the Territory. And we shall hold ourselves responsible to parties for all losses through our neglect of stock placed in our charge.

The convenient location of said valley to G. S. L. City will enable us to receive stock on the 1st and 3d Mondays of each month, at the Estray Pound in said city.
