DEATH OF AN OLD FRIEND.

Layton, Utah, Jan. 4.—The elders who have labored in the West Virginia conference will be grieved to hear of the death of Mary Guthrie, which occurred Dec. 19, 1997. Her death was due to the infirmaties of old age, she being in her S8th year. Deceased is survived by her husband, John Guthrie, Sr., of Charleston, W. Va., who is in his 90th year, nine children and 31 grandchildren. Her children are: Dr. Alexander Guthrie of Neosho, Mo., M. Harriet Bonham, of Clinton, Utah, Nathan Guthrie of Institute, W. Va., F. J. Guthrie of Layton, Utah, Stephen, Virginia, Paulina, and W. G. Guthrie who all live at the old homestead at Kanawha Two Mile.

The death of Mary Guthrie was the first to occur in the family for 61 years, and the only one to occur in the old home which was built 58 years ago.

A FAIR-MINDED COMMUNTY.

On two or three occasions during the past year, Liahona, the Elders' Journal, has spoken of the people of the town of Independence, Mo., as being an unusually religious, and at the same time a very fair-minded community, and as manifesting a very friendly feeling towards the people from Utah who have located here.

The passage of time indicates that these conditions will prove permanent, says the Liahona, and all of the Utah people in the town, without an exception, we believe, are well pleased with their neighbors and surroundings generall it Independence is a nice, with their neighbors and surroundings generall independence is a nice, quiet little city, pleasant to reside in, and favorable for rearing and educating a family. It has an excellent school system and is well governed. But it is not a good place for poor people to settle in unless they first secure employment, which is likely to be somewhat difficult to do.

secure employment, which is likely to be somewhat difficult to do.

There is a strong and growing branch of the Church here, a good Sunday school, a thriving Relief society, and a Mutual Improvement association, which has a membership of half a hundred or more. All of the elders and saints here feel much encouraged by the favorable prospects which are presented before them at the opening of another year. This brief notice of conditions here is given for the information of thousands of our readers who are deeply interested in "Jack. son county."

The eyes of man and the higher animals have important differences. Prof. Heine, at the German Naturalists' congress, pointed out that the human eye is normally at rest for an infinite distance, accommodation being accomplished by angular muscles in the socket that make the hall more convex. In ages and all mamcles in the socket that make the ball more convex. In apes and all mammalia and birgs, as well as in some amphibia, the mechanism is the same. Birds have an advantage, as their striped muscular system enables them to make rapid changes, keeping fast moving images in focus. Reptiles, and fishes, give quick adjustment by drawing back the lens instead of deforming it. The bigger the animal the poorer its accommodation. Among very inferior invertebrates are found very high eye mechanism, and some mollusks have eye adjustment com-parable to that of highly developed birds. In some respects—vision, sight, etc .- man is surpassed by other

On recently fusing a little tantalum powder, Slemens and Halske placed it in a kind of Crookes' tube instead of an electric furnace. On the anode the metal powder received the bombardment of particles from the cathode, and was guickly fused. A magnet deflected the tiny stream of bindles, and made it act upon any desired part first of the mass of metal exposed at the aclode. exposed at the aclode.

Of 235 bore-holes in the Witwaters-rand area, 45 go below 3,000 feet. Most of these are in bedded strata, with a dip, and are not vertical. J. Kitchin, a London engineer, reports that 22 boreholes have an average inclina-tion of 440 feet at a depth of 2,000 feet, and an extreme of 2,370 feet in a bore-hole 4,200 feet deep.

For many experiments now it is necessary to exclude all outside sound. What is endorsed by Prof. S. I. Franz as the one absolutely noiseless room as the one absolutely noiseless room is a room about eight feet square and high on the top floor of the physiological laboratory of the University of Utrecht. Its walls are about 11 inches thick. From the inside these are made up of successive layers of horse-hair felt, porous stone, dead air, wood partition, ground cork composition, and a plastered surface. The ceiling, though somewhat simpler made, has similar layers. The boards of the floor were sawed and the joints filled with lead to stop vibration, a layer of lead was then covered over all to the thickness of more than an inch. to the thickness of more than an inch, and over this in turn is used a carpet nearly hair an inch in thickness, and sometimes a second carpet. A small window opens into a little connected room with a roof-window, the two window opens into a little connected room with a roof-window, the two windows supplying both sunlight and ventilation. The door is double, the outer part accurately fitted with feit, and the inner part composed of three layers with an air space. In the noise-less room sensations vary, sometimes including a variety of body sounds, sometimes a feeling of pressure. The shell held to the ear no longer seems to give forth sound, the tones for which the shell is resonant being absent.

The great abundance of life in the ground is again shown by A. E. Hick-mott, a gardener of Reading, Eng. To improve his garden he made 30 de-pressions in the ground, an inch or two pressions in the ground, an inch or two deep, pressing a cabbage or lettuce leaf into each, and covering them with pieces of board, moistening in dry weather. In one day he caught 376 slugs, and from July to the middle of November a total of 14,470. Hensen, a German naturalist, placed the earthworms of an acre at 55,000 but if this garden has 60 square yards it must have supplied slugs at the rate of 1,-150,000 to the acre.

my Discovery scutally cured I want you to test it without one cent expense to yourself. Remember, am not trying to sell you a trus, but I offer you
m absolute, perfect and permanent cure that means freedom from pain and suffering, a largely ncreased physical and mental vigor, a fuller enoyment of life's blessings and years of comfort and satisfaction added to the length of your life.
Don't send any money, simply fill out the coupon below, indicate on the diagram the location of the rupture, and mail it to me. Don't neglect thi important matter a single day or continue to be tortured any longer by cheap, ready-made trusses.
My remarkable offer is the fairest ever made and should be taken advantage of immediately by all rupture sufferers.
