

THE ATLAS BLOCK DESTROYED BY FIRE.

to rub a little ammonia on their bruises and put on dry clothing in place of their dripping wet apparel. Nearly every man was drenched to the skin while their eyes, hair and beards were filled with soot and burnt pieces of wood. Many of the boys were compelled to work incessantly for hours with their clothing soaked with ice cold water and white volumes of black smoke swept over them and blinded and stifled them. Every man on the department from the oldest man down to the last appointee declares that it was the hardest fire they ever had to fight.

COURT PAPERS BURNED.

Valuable Judicial Records Go Up in the Conflagration.

As a result of the disastrous fire of this morning the files in many cases pending in the district court and also in estates in the probate division are now incomplete. The records in the Atlas block had in their possession the files in about 125 cases, and about 37 estates now in probate in the court, and it is highly improbable that any of the files escaped the conflagration. Some of the papers are very valuable and cannot be replaced, while others have been recorded in the county clerk's office and are not lost.

ONE FIREMAN HURT.

Louis Watts the Only Man Who Was Seriously Injured.

The only fireman to sustain any material injury was Louis Watts and Albert E. Williams of station No. 1. About 3 o'clock Watts was engaged in pulling a line of hose through the alley when he slipped and fell heavily to the ground. He was injured in the leg, but to what extent is not known. Dr. Giesy attended him and Watts returned to department headquarters.

HAD NARROW ESCAPE.

Chief Devine and Men Nearly Crushed by Falling Wall.

Chief Devine and some of his men had a narrow escape from death to death when the wall fell at about 4:10 this morning. The men were standing in the alleyway west of the building when a shower of bricks and burning wood fell upon them. Their helmets saved them from serious injury and possible death. Chief Devine, who had been on the roof, was nearly crushed by the falling wall. He was rescued by the firemen and returned to the ground.

moving furniture from his apartment, also shared in the sensation when the bricks came through the skylight, landing with a crash and a roar within five feet of where they were running.

B. Heymann, the real estate man, was also busy in the hall at this time removing his safe. He left his job and joined the rush for the stairs. Among the heavy things that fell in the Atlas block were Chapman & Tripp, the dentists. Mr. Tripp this morning stated that he had over $10,000 worth of dental supplies stored in the building, and his library and furniture amounted to another $2,000, the whole being insured for $2,000.

One of the tragic features of the fire was the frantic effort of Attorney John B. Winson to secure his papers from his office on the second floor of the Atlas block. He was early on the scene and offered any man $500 who would save his papers and records. He did not save a thing.

Mrs. McConnell, a clerk in Walker Bros. Dry Goods company, had just furnished handsome apartments in the Central block. She was awakened by the shouting of the firemen, and escaped just in time before the wall fell in, bringing the roof with it.

Quite a number of typewriters have been lost in the fire. The Atlas block was a storehouse of valuable instruments in the big fire.

J. E. Darner, the attorney, claims to be the first man from the outside who was in the Central block. He had his library and a desk full of mining reports and briefs. John A. Hunt, the mining man, was included among those who had a desk in the same office and he lost all.

The guests at the Cullen were up betimes and many of the more venturesome dressed and went across the street to assist in fighting the flames. These who had front rooms remained up all night watching the fire. The stock of the Salt Lake Fire Insurance company, together with Judge John B. Winson's papers, were in the Central block. Both lost everything, including mining records and a valuable law library. No insurance.

Dr. Jones of the Atlas block reduced his insurance from $1,000 to $500 last week. He lost $2,000. Dr. Beatty left his policy for fire insurance lapse this week. He lost everything, including his law library, medical library, health records and interesting data on smallpox.

Tuesday is "powder day" at the Salt Lake Hardware company. The company, with the exception of two cans of dynamite, lost everything. The Atlas block fell on top of Riley joined the stampede. Total loss.

MINING MEN ARE HIT HARD BY THE FIRE

Numbered among the tenants of the Atlas and Central blocks were a large number of mining men, mining engineers and brokers. The doomed buildings were also the headquarters for a number of mining companies. Some of them have sustained losses upon which it would be difficult to place a money value; for many records representing years of work are destroyed, and cannot be duplicated. Other tenants of the buildings will not attempt to give out an estimate until they know whether the valuables contained in the iron safes, which were tumbling into the basements, without the heat of the fearful blaze.

The South Swansea Mining company has lost all of its maps, plans, models and notes, and has been forced to re-examine all the records of the company dating back to the time of its incorporation are burned. The stock certificates, containing the names of the corporation are in the safe, and it is supposed they will be recovered. Secretary W. H. Sarsaparilla said that the office fixtures were insured only for a small amount. The Silver Park, Sea Swan, Silver Hill and Exeter Mining companies had offices with the South Swansea and not a vestige of their stock books or records of any sort remains.

One of the heaviest losses among the mining fraternity located in the Atlas block was the well known mining engineer, George H. Robinson, who had rooms on the third floor; here he kept many valuable records in the shape of reports on mines, maps, for which a friend of his said, he believed he would not have taken $10,000 cash. It is hard to say, he said, just what value he would put on them. Only a few days ago Mr. Robinson, who is in Montana, sent from Butte some new instruments, valued at $2,000. In the shipment was a transit, one of the instruments only arrived a day or so ago, just in time to be caught in the fire.

In the same suite of rooms was the office of J. W. Heywood, the Utah representative of the Western Sugar Refining company. All the records of his transactions for that concern since 1891 went in smoke. Mr. Heywood, treasurer of the Pacific Mining and Development company, which owns the Yampa mine at Bingham, also of the Argonaut Mining company, and also of the Western Utah Mining company of Mercur. The records of these companies were completely destroyed.

MR. VANDEVENTER'S SUCCESSOR

Much Speculation in Interior Department as to Who It Will Be —Judge Hayes of Ogden Mentioned—May Come From Wyoming—If From Utah Senator Kearns May Dictate.

(Special to the "News.")

Washington, D. C., Feb. 11.—The Star says: "There is considerable speculation at the interior department over the successor of Asst. Atty. Gen. Vandeventer, recently nominated for a second term at judge. So far, however, the president has not determined upon any one. Several names have been suggested, among them a Mr. Hayes, a Utah lawyer, but none of them has received any serious consideration. Judge Vandeventer is a Wyoming man and in the ordinary course of events his successor would be chosen from among the men from his state who have the necessary qualifications, and the high legal caliber essential to the office he undoubtedly would get the place."

TRYING TO SETTLE WITH GERMANY AND ITALY

Washington, Feb. 11.—Having reached an agreement with the British government, the United States is endeavoring to close up the negotiations with Germany and Italy. A misunderstanding which has arisen in the German foreign office undoubtedly is at the bottom of the delay. Extensively it was supposed that the preliminary articles of the protocol as prepared here before the advent of Baron von Sternberg provided for the prompt payment of the full sum claimed in the original ultimatum, namely, $34,000, the result of the negotiations being that the last proposition being that in place of a clear cash payment of the sum above named, as required by the ultimatum, the protocol would require the immediate payment of $27,500 for personal claims and then provide for the application of 20 per cent of the customs revenues at Port Cabello and La Guayra until the remainder of the $34,000 was paid.

Mr. Bowen was unable to see any difference between such a demand and a straight demand for preferential treatment, and he argued that after paying the allies on this basis there would be nothing left for the other and non-coercing powers. It is believed that he succeeded in impressing his views upon the allied representatives here, and it was understood that this stage of the negotiations had been closed and the subject could not be reopened at this point. The Berlin foreign office is supposed to have differed and so the exchanges going on are directed to making the situation clear to the office.

SNOW STORM A HEAVY ONE.

Late This Afternoon Six Inches Had Fallen in Salt Lake, With

An Estimated Fall of Twice That Much in the Mountains—Other States Similarly Affected.

There is a great snowstorm on today, in fact the heaviest of the season for the time in which the snowfall has occurred. The morning opened cloudy and threatening, and at 10:30 a. m. the storm set in in good earnest, so that by 4 p. m. the weather office estimated that six inches had fallen, with a fall in the mountains of twice that much. The weather reports stated that southern Idaho has had a heavy fall of snow also, the fall there preceding the fall in Utah, and the storm extending over all of Wyoming. The mercury is tolerably well up, registering 53 this morning, and mounting higher later.

The snow is wet and for that reason apt to do considerable damage to the telegraph and telephone wires. The weather office expects clearing weather tomorrow.

TERMS MUST BE AGREEABLE TO ALLIES.

London, Feb. 11.—Minister Bovey's formal acceptance of the British protocol is not believed here to be likely to hasten to any great extent the conclusion of the Venezuelan negotiations. The Associated Press, however, says that the allies' ambassadors have been strictly enjoined not to sign any protocols until all three powers are satisfied that the terms, when these signatures will be simultaneous.

CONTINUANCE IN THE BROWN CASE

In the city court this morning Judge Diehl granted a continuance in the case against Arthur Brown. A stay of proceedings was asked for by County Attorney Westervelt, but was hotly resisted by Mr. Brown's attorneys, who stoutly contended for their technical rights under the statutes, which provide for the speedy trial of one who is charged with adultery. The court, however, was disposed to think that the county attorney had a valid reason for wishing a continuance, and it was therefore granted. The time of the hearing will be fixed just as soon as Mr. Westervelt and defendant's attorneys can agree upon the matter.

Mr. Brown entered the court room, accompanied by his attorneys, Col. M. Kaighn, Sam King, A. L. Barnes and Soren Christensen. A few minutes later Mrs. Brown entered and took a seat on the opposite side of the room. A stream of spectators continued to pour in, and at the close of the controversy, the court room was crowded.

DAMAGED BY THE FIRE.

When the case was called, Mr. Westervelt stated to the court that the state was not prepared to go ahead with the case; that the fire in the Atlas block had destroyed some of his notes and memoranda, pertaining to the case, which he had in his office there. Moreover his partner was out of the city, leaving to him the sole responsibility of looking after the loss that had been occasioned by the fire.

Colone Kaighn, in a brief speech resisting the motion for a continuance, stated that while he deplored the loss Mr. Westervelt had suffered by the fire, he did not feel disposed to allow the case to be continued; and he would firmly but respectfully insist upon a hearing.

Judge Diehl replied that he felt he would not be violating his oath of office by granting the continuance; that the case had been pending for two months and this was the first time counsel for the defense had urged a speedy hearing.

Attorney Barnes took issue with the court in relation to the length of time the case had been pending, affirming that he knew nothing of the complaint until he heard it read in court a few days since, at which time the judge set the date for the hearing at the present time.

Judge Diehl, however, announced that a continuance would be granted, whereupon Attorney Sam King took the floor and delivered a long and heated harangue in opposition to the continuance. There was absolutely no reason for granting the continuance and he demanded the right of a speedy trial, which his client had under the statutes.

AN "ULTERIOR MOTIVE."

Mr. Westervelt, in reply to Mr. King, said that he felt he had been sufficient reason to justify a continuance. "I overheard a remark," he said, "that Colonel Kaighn made in a stage whisper, to the effect that I had an ulterior motive in asking for a continuance. Now when I see the insistence of counsel for a speedy hearing, when the real substantial rights and liberties of their client are so touched, it suggests to my mind there may be an ulterior motive on the other side."

Mr. King said he was not charging an "ulterior motive," but he thought the fact that he had been granted the same as the county attorney, and he was there to insist upon it.

Judge Diehl broke into Mr. King's argument by stating, "If you gentlemen think you can come into the court and drive the state to trial whether the state is prepared or not, you are mistaken. If the defendant were in prison, it would be a different matter, but he has his liberty and the continuance will be granted."

Mr. King then asked that the hearing be set for tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock. Mr. Westervelt said the same difficulties in his way would still exist, and added that he could not see why the attorneys on the other side should insist on driving him to the trial unprepared.

It was finally agreed that the attorneys would meet some time during the afternoon and settle upon a date for the hearing, and when an agreement is reached, so notify the court.

MRS. BRADLEY'S TOO.

The time of hearing the case of Mrs. Bradley is also indefinite. Mr. Soren X. Christensen explained to the court this morning that the date would be fixed as soon as Judge King returns from Coaldale.

SET FOR THE 19TH.

The cases against Arthur Brown and Mrs. Bradley, charged with adultery, have finally been set for hearing by Judge Diehl. The three cases against the ex-actor will be heard on the 19th. The cases against Mrs. Bradley were set for the 23rd.

AMUSEMENTS.

A SAD BEREAVEMENT.

Hyrum Brimhall of the Second ward has again been called upon by the dread reaper, death, his beloved wife having passed away yesterday morning at 1:30 a. m. of influenza. Mrs. Brimhall gave birth to a baby girl and shortly after inflammation of the bowels set in, from which she never recovered. She leaves three small children, all girls. Deceased was the daughter of Mrs. Andrew Jensen of Ephraim and sister of Mrs. A. C. Nelson, also of H. Y. Jensen of the presidency of the South Salt Lake Stake.

Mr. Brimhall has been called upon to part with his wife, his first having died about 10 years ago, and last June he had the misfortune to be burned out by the fire at Mercur.
