WHY IT WAS DEEDED.

Schettler Tells Why He Gave Property To His Wives—Case Continued.

Owing to his slight acquaintance with the Schettler books and papers Trustee in Bankruptcy Gould B. Blakely yesterday afternoon requested, through his attorneys, that the case go over until Thursday April 27. Referee Charles Baldwin granted the request, and fixed 10 a. m. as the hour for continuing the examination of the bankrupt.

GEORGE HENRY SNELL.

The Little Boy Who Died as the Result of Falling from a Horse.

The above is an excellent likeness of little George Henry Snell, the nine-year-old boy who died at the hospital as the result of an accident in which one of his arms was broken by being thrown from a horse. His funeral will take place from the Eighteenth ward chapel at 1 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

Yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock Mr. Schettler was placed on the stand, and for a short time was queried in regard to the transfers he had made to his three wives, of property commonly believed to be behind the bank. The creditors were represented by Atty. C. B. Stewart, and Mr. Schettler by Will Ray of the firm of Rawlins & Ray. The questioning developed the fact Mr. Schettler had given deeds to his wives many years ago, although he admitted that the property had been kept on the records in his name, and that he had paid the taxes on it, until last year.

In explanation of the reason for making these transfers he stated that while employed in Zion's Savings Bank he had been struck over the head by a supposed robber, and so severely injured that he made the deeds to protect his family.

The meeting in the Seventh ward tomorrow night will be addressed by Elder John W. A large attendance is expected, and Bishop Platt extends a cordial invitation to all who desire to attend. The meetinghouse is No. 143 east Second South street.

In the notice of the late Beaver stake conference which appears in the Desert News of Wednesday, April 19, a significant feature was omitted. Besides the visiting speakers named, Elders George A. Smith and Seymour B. Young, the people of Beaver were favored with the presence of two representatives from the general board of the Primary association, Sisters Lula Greene Richards and Camilla J. Cobb. These sisters, together with some of the local Primary officers, took part in the Sunday afternoon services, placing before parents and the people in general the object of the labors among the little children. This was done with the view of awakening a deeper interest in the Primary work than is usually manifested. One who was present and who wrote this says: "May the noble efforts of our sisters in this great cause come to be recognized, appreciated and seconded by all who desire the advancement of good upon the earth."

TWENTY CENTS FOR UTAH WOOL.

Biggest Price Per Pound for Local Clip in More Than a Score Of Years.

THE DEAL MADE AT MILFORD.

The Price Still Soaring With Mutton Also Going Up—Outlook for Men With Sheep Very Rosy.

At Milford last night the Packard clip of 20,000 fleeces was sold to Eisenman Bros. of Boston for 20 cents a pound, or an increase of over 50 per cent above the price obtained by the same firm from the same sheep last season.

In announcing the sale this morning Mr. Ludwig Eisenman said to the "News": "The price we paid for that clip is the biggest that has been paid for Utah wool during the past 20 years."

In connection with the scramble for wool railroad freight agents report that in the case of some of the Wyoming wools that eastern buyers would not even look at last season they are all being snapped up around 10 cents, the buyers falling over themselves at that. The Eisenman forces were somewhat late in getting into the market here but since they have got down to work they are boosting prices in a fashion that is bringing dismay to competitors. An authority on the wool situation this morning said: "It is many a long year since Utah sheepmen saw such prosperity as they are now enjoying. Wool is hitting the ceiling while the price of mutton has also advanced, and the stockmen generally are enjoying good prices combined with very light losses."

"The present booming of the price on wool is due to the fact that all the heavy wools the world have been taken up and there is going to be a shortage this year. I look for one Boston firm of woolbuyers now operating in this intermediate section to clean up close upon $1,000,000 this year in their investments. There are many things to account for this shortage. The ranges are getting more restricted each year and there are less sheep running to pasture; there has been a big run on woolen fabrics during the past two years; the Boer war has had some effect on the market, but now Russia and Japan are putting out blankets, uniforms and clothing by the thousands of suits all the wool available is being snapped up."

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL.

Mr. and Mrs. J. U. Eldredge, Sr., announce the engagement of their daughter Lulabel to Mr. Chas. F. Carlson. The wedding will be one of the early June affairs, taking place on the 5th of that month.

The annual encampment of the Utah Pioneers will be held Monday, April 24, at 1:15 p. m. sharp, at Barratt hall. All descendants of pioneers who came to the valley before Jan. 1, 1833 are invited to attend and become members. Election of officers for the ensuing year will take place; also captains of companies will be commissioned. Caucuses were held Thursday, Friday and today (Saturday) at which captains were nominated to receive commissions, over the various companies that have been organized.

Last evening, the Misses Jessie Sears and Rita Felt entertained, at the home modestly chosen as the dinner for the Bowman. Twenty invited guests were present. A number of interesting games were played, after which a delicious supper was served. A musical program consisting of vocal and instrumental selections was rendered. Rooms prettily decorated in green and white blossoms.

Mrs. Morris L. Ritchie was unanimously elected, in honor of Miss Agnes of the Ladies' Literary club at the caucus of club members held yesterday afternoon. Candidates for all the other officers of the club were named, the election to be held May 12. The candidates for the various offices named yesterday are: First vice-president, Mrs. A. J. Hosmer; Mrs. J. H. Brown; Mrs. Charles H. McMahon; second vice-president, Mrs. A. H. Boxrud; Miss Ella Dukes; recording secretary, Miss Myra Sowles; Mrs. S. L. Baggis; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Oscar L. Cox; treasurer, Mrs. E. L. Oswald; Mrs. E. B. Critchlow; the incumbent, and Mrs. C. C. Dey; critic, Mrs. John Cain; historian, Miss Lin. Jessup; Mrs. L. E. Hall; librarian, Mrs. J. F. Grant; directors Mrs. Frank B. Stephens, Mrs. William H. Bantz, Mrs. G. V. Parmlee, Mrs. Aaron Keyser, Mrs. Samuel E. Fenton, Mrs. Hal W. Brown.

The state society, Daughters of the Revolution, met on the 19th, at 3 p. m., room 509 Templeton building, to celebrate the one hundred and thirtieth anniversary of the battle of Lexington. The hall was appropriately decorated with flags, flowers and patriotic pictures. The regent, Mrs. W. J. Deane, was in the chair. Mrs. Lewis M. Cannon, read in a clear and eloquent way the fine paper prepared by Mrs. Emily Wiley, subject, General Richard Henry Lee of Virginia. Discussion followed, after which Mr. Emily Y. Clawson gave a very comprehensive biographical sketch of General Benjamin Lincoln. Mrs. P. T. Farnsworth concluded the afternoon celebration by reading the Battle of Lexington, written by the historian, Bancroft.

Yesterday afternoon and evening Mr. and Mrs. Miland Pratt gave a dinner and later in the evening a musical and literary entertainment at their residence 565 south State, in honor of a party of friends, Rhode Island, and Boston capitalists, who are interested in a number of mining enterprises in this state. The eastern guests were Mr. Louis LeVine, Mr. Charles Pay, Mr. Charles Grant and Mr. W. Saugy, Apostle and Mrs. F. M. Lyman, Mrs. F. M. Lyman, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. John P. Meakin, Mrs. F. A. Robinson, of Fillmore; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pratt, Miss Nettie Raleigh, Mrs. Estelle Pratt, Mrs. Mary Thomas of Ogden, Mr. C. W. Bishop of Lincoln, Neb.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Roberts of 617 Sixth street, who were quietly married on the 20th ult., were tendered a reception by 100 or more of their friends Thursday evening. Delightful refreshments were served, and the evening was otherwise spent in the rendition of carrying out of a well arranged musical and literary program. Punch was also served, and the happy couple were the recipients of many beautiful and costly presents. The decorations showed much taste, and consisted of Henderson & Co. Both have many friends in Salt Lake and elsewhere, all of whom extend sincere congratulations and the best of wishes for future happiness.

The Daughters of the Confederacy will give a reception at the Kenyon on Friday, 25th from 3 till 12 p. m. If there are any old Confederates, their wives or descendants visiting in the city, if they will make it known to the committee, they will be received with genuine southern hospitality.

What Salt Lake City Is Doing

ATTRACTING THE ATTENTION OF ALL PEOPLE.

Salt Lake City will be one of the great western metropolises. No other city offers better inducements to the investor, as she is on the eve of her greatest prosperity.

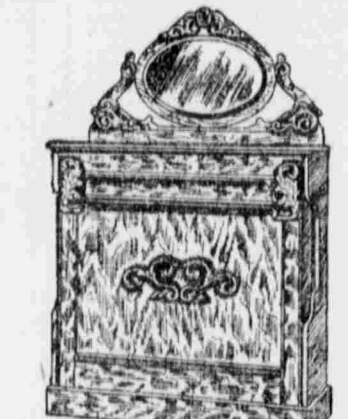

With three new railroads, now under construction, from the East and the West, will make Salt Lake City a great railroad center. With different industries, employing over 12,000 persons, with a production of $45,000,000 per year. Her jobbing trade for 1904 amounted to nearly $37,000,000. Mining product of the state $25,985,000; sugar production, 60,000,000 pounds; Utah product for 1904 amounted to over $35,000,000.

Salt Lake City and the whole state are enjoying great prosperity. Mining in Utah is in its infancy, and it is predicted that Bingham, Utah, will become another Butte in the production of copper. The future of Salt Lake City is assured, and she will be one of the largest cities of the West. With the three new railroads, two new depots and shops to cost $2,000,000, another new building costing $1,000,000, improvements at Fort Douglas $1,000,000 the buildings to be erected this year will be the greatest on record as many large blocks are to be built, and as the greatest resources of the state are all being developed, Salt Lake is on the eve of her greatest growth.

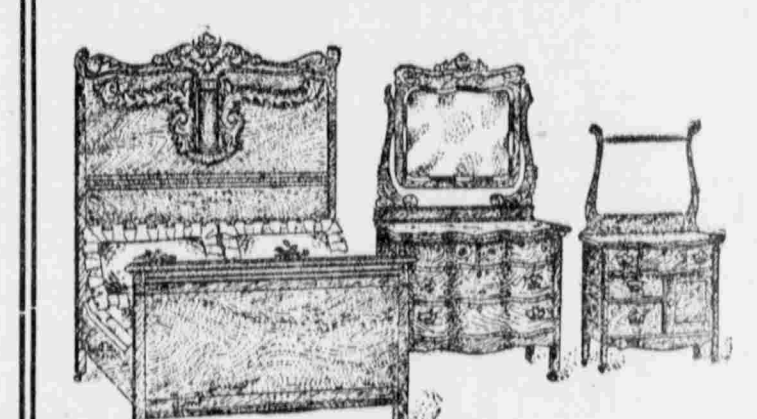

There is not a city in the country whose natural opportunities are greater today than those of Salt Lake. With the government engaged in the construction of the Strawberry Valley reservoir, which will open up thousands of acres tributary to Utah's capital, with the San Pedro Railway advertising this city everyday in the year as the "Salt Lake Route," with the mines emptying their treasures into our lap day by day, with the tentacles of our trade reaching into new fields, there is everything to uphold Salt Lake. The one factor needed to supplant these natural advantages is our own efforts—our harmonious co-operation in proclaiming our resources to those abroad and working together at home.
