OGDEN NEWS. DGDEN, UTAH, - JUNE 22, 1901. MAY LEASE WATERWORKS. Proposition Discussed by Advisory Bonrd and Council Committee.

McCoy - Kaiser Assault Case; Latter Held Under Bonds -- Barn of Edward Boyed Burned.

A meeting of the advisory committee of business men and the waterworks committee of the city council was held last evening in the council chamber, as per call of A. T. Wright, president pro tem, who acted as chairman of the meeting. The waterworks question was discussed at some length. The discussion was mostly confined to the feasibility of leasing the system. Sidney Steven vigorously opposed the proposition, but the majority seemed to favor it upon the following proposition of it apon the following proposition of Mayor Browning: He reported that he had seen Messrs. Eccles, Dee and spencer of the water company, and the system could be leased for a period of time equal to the maturity of the bonds on the payment of $44,680, the sum at which the works had been offered to the city. Acting upon this, paniel Hamer introduced the following resolution Resolved, That this committee advise the city council to proceed at once and if possible lease the water system of its present owners, for the term of the bonds thereon, for the considera-tion of $44,680, to be paid at the time of the execution of the lease, said lease to give the city the option to purchase all the right, title and interest of the or sent owners at any time during the life of said lease for $10."

of deafness is traced to throat trouble; this is probably overstated but it is certainly true that more than half of all cases of poor hearing were caused by catarrh.

The catarrhal secretion in the lungs and throat finds its way into the Eustachian tube and by clogging it up very soon affects the hearing and the hardening of the secretion makes the loss of hearing permanent, unless the catarrh which caused the trouble is cured.

Those who are hard of hearing may think this a little far fetched, but any one at all observant must have noticed how a hard cold in the head will affect the hearing and that catarrh if long neglected will certainly impair the sense of hearing and ultimately cause deafness.

If the nose and throat are kept clear and free from the unhealthy secretions of catarrh, the hearing will at once greatly improve and anyone suffering from deafness and catarrh can satisfy themselves on this point by using a fifty cent box of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, a new catarrh cure, which in the past year has won the approval of thousands of catarrh sufferers as well as physicians, because it is in conveninet form to use, contains no cocaine or opiate and is as safe and pleasant for children as for their elders.

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets is a wholesome combination of Blood root, Guaiacol, Eucaluptol and similar antiseptics and they cure catarrh and catarrhal deafness by action upon the blood and mucous membrane of the nose and throat.

As one physician aptly expresses it; "You do not have to draw upon the imagination to dis-cover whether you are getting benefit from Stuart's Catarrh Tablets; improvement and relief are apparent from the first tablet taken.

All druggists sell and recommend them. They cost but fifty cents for full sized package and any catarrh sufferer who has wasted time and money on sprays, salves and powders will appreciate to the full the merit of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, It is much better than last year. Provo, Utah Co., June 22 .- The afternoon lecture delivered yesterday by Dr. Dewey was on the subject of Memory and Judgment." While they are two topics they are closely related, both by similarity and by contrast. The old idea of these mental factors was that they were single factors, but there are many phases which make up memory. In the first place there is organic and physiological memory in which things become adapted to their surroundings. There are many things which become a part of ourselvesglove-which we do not generally call fundamental of what we call memory. femory is generally considered as the ous reproduction of something which has previously gone into our exeriences.

Genuine remembering demands control of our past experiences, and mererepeating reminiscences from the mind being jogged by an external clue s an imperfect development, and things remembered in this way do not become a vital part of our working capital be-cause they do not become a part of purselves. Remembering is very close-y related to thinking and judgment. Psychologists have divided memory into various kinds; we seem to have memory for some things and not for quainted with many young men from Utah communities before coming here and had noted their earnest endeavors in the field of education. "SOME ELEMENTS IN CHARAC-TER.

The evening session opened with the The evening session opened with the assembly singing "The Star Spangled Banner." President Brimhall intro-duced Dr. Dewey, who, as usual, was greeted with applause. He annonuced that be would speak on "Some Ele-ments in Character from a Psycholog-ical Poirt of View." making the explanation that he could not cover the whole field of mind education in one lecture, and wanted it understood that he did not deny those things which he failed to affirm. When we say that the object of education is the formation of character we want that character to be something more than will cause us to lead a life of negative goodness; we want a life that is good for something; a character that means abilty to do something as well as to be highly developed intellectually or have a simply negative morality, and while Spencer has said that there is no relation between education and character, that education does not affect character, the truth is that nothing is educative unless it does affect the character. Three elements of education in the formation of character and how they should be inculcated in the mind of the child were taken up. First, the intellectual side, which is judgment, First, the sense of the value of things in their relation to one another and to the conditions of social life. This gives the child a sense of independence and ability to do their duty to themselves and to society by weighing and decid-ing questions for themselves, and not to be mere followers of others.

Next the power of execution, the disposition and tendency not to stop short of the desired end, to be positive, self-assertive and aggressive, and to be trained to do things now. The dis-position to make up the mind to do a thing "bye and bye" is responsible for much moral mischief. The emotional side should also be cultivated so that there may be a dell-cate susceptibility of feeling, respon-sive to the state of mind of others and sive to the state of mind of others and a sensibility to their needs: this will balance the executive qualities, which are apt to be hard and angular and inconsiderate in their expressions. The emotions should, however, be cultivated indirectly, rather than by trying to stir indirectly, rather than by trying to stir up emotional feelings before the time nature has set for the development of emotional feelings. The child should be surrounded by an atmosphere and environment which will arouse the con-

In conclusion Dr. Dewey pointed out that ide great advancement made in educational methods during the past fifty years should encourage the teach-ers and if they could not always get the best conditions not to make that an excuse for not doing the best they could under the circumstances. Every step forward that it is possible to take should be taken and by taking one step the way will be clear to take an-other, and with the spirit of education that is now existing everything desir-able will be brought about until the school becomes, as it should be ome for training beautiful and noble characters. Dr. Dewey and his two children left this morning for Salt Lake, where he will be joined by Mrs. Dewey, and go to California to deliver a course of lectures in the State University. His lectures in the State University. His lec-tures here have been highly appreci-nted by the teachers, and by all who have taken the advantage of the op-portunity to bear them. FIVE MEN DROWNED.

Lost in the Far North on the Stern Wheeler Anaconda,

Seattle, Wash., June 21 .- The steamship Jeanie arrived from Nome this morning with sixteen passengers. Word was received in Nome by J. Goodyear, of the Pacific Coast Steamship company which confirmed the drowning of William Small, Henry Avery, Thomas Capwell, Thomas Jones and Abe Appell. They left St. Michaels with the sternwheel steamer Anaconda and started for the Koskokwim, via Bristol bay, about the middle of July. Word came from a missionary at Bethel mission, which is near the mouth of the Koskok. that part of the hull of the Anaconda drifted on to the beach near the mission during the fall, which confirms the fear of their friends that they have all lost their lives.
