

REV. FISH TALKED ON INDEPENDENCE

Discourse at Unity Church on Religious Social and Political Freedom

GOSHEN USES BLUE PENCIL.

Tells How Newspapers Ought to be Run—Dean Eddie on Church and State.

In a discourse yesterday morning, in Unity church, by Rev. W. H. Fish, Jr., spoke on "Religious, Social and Political Independence." In the course of his remarks the speaker said:

"We hear much just now of the evils of church dictation, and no doubt there is in this community a special danger which needs to be carefully guarded against. But this 'boss' rule from which the whole country is suffering is a more serious evil still. It is made possible by that tyranny of the majority and that sheep-like following of party leaders which are nowhere else so in evidence as here. I know no country," said De Toqueville, "one of the most careful and in the main one of the most sympathetic students of our institutions, in which there is so little true independence of mind as in America. In that immense crowd which thronged the avenues to power in the United States, I found very few men who displayed any of that manly candor and that masculine independence of opinion which frequently distinguished the Americans in former times, and which constitutes the leading feature in distinguished characters, wherever they may be found."

"One main source of our difficulties must not be forgotten. It is not a foreigner, but a patriotic American who says, 'The spoils system is the hideous mother from which the political machine, with its brood of self-seeking, clamorous, dangerous party henchmen, steadily draws its protection and its nourishment.' I believe this is absolutely true. When we make through work of civil service reform, when we manage the business of the government on sound business principles and condition all appointments to administrative office, not on partisan activity, but on honesty and competency, patriotism will again take its proper place in the life of the nation. Let us not be party success but the good of the country, which we shall then, at least far more largely than now, have at heart. We have become so accustomed to the evils of our present condition that we do not realize how serious they are; we do not consider how far we have departed from the methods of early days. What the country needs most of all, perhaps, is a return to the ideals and methods of an earlier and, in this respect, a better day."

"But what can we do about it? We can work so far as we have opportunity for a thorough going reform of What Drives so Many People to This Dark Path, and Why.

If a man—before taking a step made possible only by brooding and despair—would consider that his feeling of darkness is only a question of nerves—he would be saved.

For, the depression leading to self destruction is truly a disease of the nerves. The cure is Dr. Miles' Nerve.

It is a nerve medicine for weak nerves and can be depended upon to make you well.

No matter what form of nerve trouble you may be suffering from, you can depend on Dr. Miles' Nerve.

It will do what no other medicine or treatment may be able to do for you—save you from that black hour of brooding, which so many of us dread.

"I had several attacks of nervous epasms, and for a long time could get no relief. I saw Dr. Miles' Nerve advertised and bought a bottle. After using the first bottle I was much better, and when I had taken six bottles was entirely cured. I have never been troubled since."—MRS. W. A. BIRD, Stillmore, Ga.

the civil service. That seems to me to be a duty clearly incumbent upon us who have the good of our country really at heart. And meanwhile we can declare our individual independence of all party or ecclesiastical domination which seeks to interfere with our liberty of private judgment and our freedom of individual action in political affairs; we can support, that is, we are bound to support, on those candidates for office who favor the principles in which we believe and are, at the same time, men of high personal character, entirely without regard to the church or party labels which may be attached to them.

"Independents are not powerless, even though they may be in a small minority. To secure their votes the great parties are often compelled to raise their standards and exercise greater care in regard to the character of their candidates. Moreover, it is to be remembered that no earnest effort for truth and right is altogether lost. Bear Washington's words in mind: 'If,' he said of a memorable occasion, 'to please the people we offer what we ourselves disapprove, how can we afterward defend our work? Let us raise a standard to which the wise and the honest will repair; the event is in the hand of God.'"

WOMEN AND NEWSPAPERS.

In his discourse yesterday morning, Rev. E. J. Goshen of the First Congregational church maintained that women and newspapers had acquired marked extensions of privileges which imposed upon them a corresponding increase of responsibilities. Newspapers, men, in particular, in failing to grasp the importance of this and to realize their proper obligations, fell very short of the opportunities for good presented to them. The speaker deprecated the promiscuity of so many papers to make a display of criminal intelligence, whose often horrifying details find their way into homes to the demoralization of youth. It is the duty of papers to educate people to higher things; and while newspapers should have freedom, their idea of what freedom really means is often wrong.

In speaking of women, Mr. Goshen called attention to the fact that with increased wealth and leisure came opportunities for mental and moral improvement. These must be improved or those who neglect opportunities will deteriorate. If four afternoons in the week are to be devoted to frivolities, it were better that women continue as in times before wealth and leisure came, to carry the yoke of labor in the homes.

CHURCH AND STATE.

Dean Eddie preached in St. Mark's Episcopal cathedral last evening on "The Separation of Church and State."

The speaker said in part:

"This is one of the cardinal principles of the United States, which is at the same time the most liberal of all countries in the support of the church. We thank God for this separation of church and state as for one of our most precious possessions. Are the men who have come forward in Salt Lake City, in the State of Utah, asking for political office, for the confidence of the people—are they men who love the people? Are they men of ability? Are they men who fear God? Are they men of truth? Are they men who hate covetousness?"

"Then if they are," he went on, "almost any political platform will be safe in their hands. The interests of this commonwealth will be safe, the public interest of all the people of the United States may safely be entrusted to such men. All these characteristics should be the endowments of every man who is elected to public office. The claim to office of a candidate should be his ability for the duties belonging to that office. They should all be men of ability. The question we should ask is not, what are his promises? But, what has he done to show his ability? We must be able to point to the office holders as examples to our children of all the many qualities."

"Let us see to it that, whatever nomination or support a man has, he must over and above that, be a man, a real man. Let us show that unless he has a clean record, such men can not hold office in this community."

Ladies literary club, the University club, and the Latter-day Saints' University were mentioned as having asked for blocks of season tickets.

Prof. Maude May Babcock spoke in behalf of the lecture course. "Ever since I came west," she said, "12 years ago, I have felt the want of a course like this. There is an intellectual hunger in the minds of all who have once enjoyed hearing such lectures as these, that has been unsatisfied in Salt Lake."

G. Q. Morris, in behalf of the committee, stated that there would be no complimentary tickets issued—that even the committee itself would buy its own tickets, as that practice was absolutely necessary to the first year's movement. He said that the season ticket averaged 23 cents for each lecture, which was a minimum charge, it being the desire of the committee to make the lectures within the reach of the greatest possible number of people, so that their educational value could be the more widely felt.

The date of Jacob Rills' lecture on "The Battle With the Slum" was fixed for Tuesday evening, Nov. 22, in Barrett hall.

LOWELL SCHOOL CLOSED.

Pupils to Have a Short Vacation on Account of Slim Attendance.

The pupils at the Lowell school are to have a few days vacation this week, as the result of the smallpox scare in that part of the city. The order closing the school was issued yesterday by Oscar Moyle, president of the board of education, after inspecting the attendance report of Principal Bradford. The reason assigned was that so many children were absent that the school work was demoralized, and that if the third of the pupils in attendance were to go ahead with their work, confusion would result when the rest returned to find themselves several days behind. The danger from smallpox was not considered in the matter, as it was thought that there was no more danger in school than in running around the streets. The absence of half of the pupils compelled the closing, but it is thought that the end of the week will see enough pupils ready to return to successfully resume work.

TWENTIETH WARD FAIR.

Fine Exposition of the Handwork of Local Church People.

For some time past the members of the Twentieth ward have had in mind the giving of a local fair or exposition such as they gave two years ago. All preliminary arrangements have been concluded and the different committees named. The latter have been industriously at work and the reports thus far made are of a most encouraging character to the ward authorities. The purpose of the fair is to raise money to defray the expenses connected with the conduct of the meetinghouse, the amusement hall, etc. A wide local interest is being taken and a pronounced success is looked for. The date of the opening of the fair will be Wednesday, Nov. 20. It will continue for three days.

BUGLE BLASTS AT

There are dress parades every evening from 4 to 5 p. m., except on Saturdays and Sundays.

Lieut. Sloan of H company has returned from a month's leave of absence. Capt. S. D. Sturgis of the artillery has returned after a 60 days' absence, at St. Paul, Minn.
