

by the formation of a Cabinet which American politicians desire should be good enough until after the vacations. At all events, in official quarters here, it is anticipated that the return of Gambetta to the foremost place in French politics and open responsibilities of power cannot be longer delayed.

CONSTANTINOPLE, 31.—An official denial of the reports that Arabi Pasha's papers reveal a correspondence involving the Sultan, the cabinets of Egypt and Turkey, and various other prominent persons, is received. Those near to the Sultan and authorized to speak for him, say he desires the early trial of Arabi, with open doors and no secrecy, and that he will not himself interfere with the judgment of the court, nor allow any one else to influence improperly its action.

It having come to the Sultan's ears yesterday that Earl Dufferin, the British Ambassador here, was about to make a trip to Egypt upon a secret and mysterious mission, he summoned a council of his ministers, which sat throughout the entire night.

Said Pasha, Prime minister, had an interview with Dufferin to-day, and asked for an explanation of his instructions. It is reported that the ambassador gave him assurance that his instructions from the British Government were that he should insist upon the maintenance of the suzerainty of the Sultan. Notwithstanding this pacific interpretation of the interview, there is much alarm in Turkish circles lest the mission may have a deeper meaning and a darker one for the Sublime Porte.

Paris, 31.—The press of this city discuss with much warmth the policy of England in Egypt. The Journal des Debats strongly protests against the annexation of Tunis to France, as it will afford an excuse to England to acquire Egypt.

The workmen of this city have singled out thirty leading Jewish master upholsterers and two small French firms in the same business, for boycotting for failing to raise the wages of their employees. No artisan will be allowed to work for the boycotted firms.
