

SKIN GAME MEN CAUGHT IN DENVER

Sharps Who Engineered Gigantic
Hide Steal in Utah Are Apprehended.

LAST OF GANG NOW IN TOW.

The Chase Has Been a Long, Persistent
And Successful One—Much Credit
Is Due the Officers.

After weeks of continuous watching and working on various clues, James Gorman, the leader of the bounty fraud gang which operated so successfully in this county last fall and defrauded the state out of about $70,000, and his father-in-law, John Meyers, have both been arrested in Denver and are now being brought back to this city by Deputy Sheriff Joseph C. Sharps, assisted by Assistant County Attorney Willard Hanson. With the capture of these men, all of the members of the gang are now in custody. Much credit belongs to Sheriff Emery and his deputies and county Attorney Christensen and his assistants for their persistent efforts in planning and consummating the capture of the men who are believed to be responsible for the whole scheme.

TOOK TRIP TO EUROPE.
After the frauds had been exposed and some of the gang arrested, Gorman left the state and went to England. His wife remained in San Francisco with her father, John Meyers. Sheriff Emery got information to the effect that Gorman was in San Francisco and, believing that Gorman would join him there, he went to that city over two weeks ago to try and locate both men. He learned there that they had gone to Denver, so the sheriff immediately wired to this city and sent Deputy Sheriff Sharps to that city. The hope was that Gorman would be located there and they would arrive here with officers either tomorrow or Friday.

ARREST FOLLOWED.
When the two officials arrived in Denver they soon located Meyers, and had him under arrest but Gorman had left. They then waited for his return and met him at the depot as he alighted from the train there yesterday afternoon. Requisition papers have been sent for the return of both men and they will arrive here with officers either tomorrow or Friday.

LETTER TO WIFE.
While in San Francisco Sheriff Emery secured a copy of a letter written by Gorman to his wife which disclosed his plans and which was the means of helping the officers locate him. He told his wife in the letter that everything would soon be in shape in Denver so that she could go there, and that so far, they had not been suspected of anything. When their house was searched in Denver a large number of coyotes and other wild animal hides were found and it is thought that they were getting ready to open up operations there. Gorman and Meyers, it is said, furnished the hides and hired the other members of the gang to take care of the bounty. They kept from 50 to 60 per cent of the money received on these men and the remainder went to the other men. It is estimated that the share of the bounty money secured in this state amounted to $30,000 or more.

Growing Aches and Pains.
Mrs. Jessie Sumner, Bremont, Texas, writes April 15, 1905: "I have used Ballard's Snow Liniment in my family for three years. I would not be without it in the house. I have used it on my little girl for growing pains and aches in her knees. It cured her right away. I have also used it for frost bitten feet with good success. It is the best liniment I ever used." 25c, 50c, $1.00. Sold by Z. M. L. Drug Dept.

GOOD MAN GOES TO HIS REWARD.

Non-"Mormon" Publication Lauds
The Virtues of the Late President Albert Smith.

HEAD OF THE SAN LUIS STAKE.

Was a True Friend and Gained the Confidence and Respect of All His Associates.

The Ledger, a non-"Mormon" paper published at Antelope, Conchos county, Colorado, has the following account of the death of the late lamented Albert R. Smith, president of the San Luis stake:

At about 11 o'clock Wednesday night, (May 17) Albert R. Smith, president of the Mormon forces of the San Luis valley, passed away after a lingering illness of about four months. In February Mr. Smith was stricken with a severe attack of a gripe, bright disease set in and true to its relentless nature, swift and sure, it claimed its victim.

In the death of Albert R. Smith the Mormon people grieve for the loss of one of the best, if not the one superior, man. Nor in the loss alone that of the Church of which he was president. The deceased for some years has been looked upon as one of the foremost of Conchos county's men. Upon the retirement of his father, Elias S. Smith, from the stake presidency nearly a dozen years ago, Albert R. Smith was selected for the position. No one will ever know the trials through which he passed in the succeeding years. The colony was on the very verge of collapse owing to factional strife which possessed the people at that time. He assumed his duties with nearly half the people against him, a few years strife was most bitter but as time passed and the people began to realize that the young man, scarcely above 30 years of age, who was by a majority made their leader, was a man worthy of their confidence and good will. At the time of his death there was scarcely a member of the stake who could not take him by the hand and call him "friend." His first and only ambition in life was to serve his Church and people. As a friend none more true ever existed. As a leader he was firm as a rock and just. Never antagonistic, but as a defender the antagonist found him worthy of the sharpest steel. None but a good and great man could have carried himself through such trials and strife finally to perch upon the highest pinnacle of esteem of those over whom he presided.

The funeral will occur at the Manassas church, Utah, at 11 o'clock. The father and other relatives, besides prominent churchmen from Salt Lake will be present for the service. The funeral will be the largest ever held in southern Colorado.

The following tribute and account of the last moments of the deceased was kindly handed us by a close friend and admirer of the dead man:

"Our country is shocked to its very foundations by the death of one of its most honored citizens, Albert R. Smith, president of the San Luis stake of the church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, who peacefully and beautifully passed away at 11:30 p. m., May 17, 1905. His dissolution was the greatest ever witnessed by those who were present and was an end befitting a great, good man.

Conscious until his last breath he had the opportunity of aiding and sustaining his family and friends by beautiful counsel and instruction and like the broadminded man that he was, he improved the opportunity. "The change is coming," he said, "it seems to me but two steps to the other side. I can describe the sensations but not the change, for that is not yet here. Ah! My wife! You would not grieve if you but knew the grandeur of that through which I am passing. The first sensation is like a mild electric current. There comes a flash as of a lightning stroke and the passing seems like stepping from darkness into light. I used to think of the terror of death. There is no terror, no fear, but all in peace and grandeur. It is here."

He gathered his family to the left side of his bed. He bade all good bye with a hearty grasp and a "God bless you." "It's come, it's come, I commend myself to the Lord. If He has greater work for me there than here He will be done," and he breathed his last.

of his stake of Zion, succeeding his father, Elias S. Smith, Sr. Since his elevation to this position his sole life's labor has been in the interests of his people. For them he has laid down his life and has been killed within reach of the front of some of his laborers. Responsibility after responsibility has been heaped upon his shoulders until an iron constitution could no longer sustain a strain and total collapse was but the natural sequence.

He was married Jan. 15, 1886, to Irene U. Haskell, at Manassas, Colo. The people of the county sincerely mourn with her and their seven surviving children.

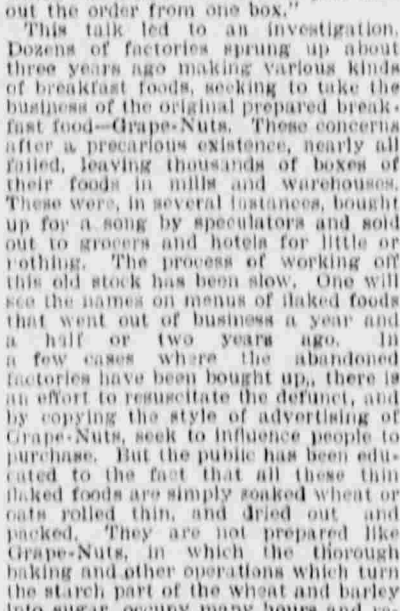

He was firm in character, resolute in purpose and charitable to a degree. Success was ever his aim. In his friendships he was firm as a rock. The community can little afford to lose him and his death is a disaster of which some of them little dream. We hope that some one may succeed him in the presidency of the stake who is worthy to take his place.

MEMORIAL TO HANS CHRISTIAN ANDERSEN.

The beautiful statue shown in the cut is in the royal garden at Copenhagen. It was erected by the government as a loving tribute to the memory of a man of whom Denmark is justly proud—Hans Christian Andersen—whose stories have been a joy to two generations of young folk of all lands. Andersen's fairly tales have been translated into almost every language, and they have enjoyed a popularity greater than that of any other stories of the kind ever written. The monument is an excellent example of modern art, and it has been given a prominent position in the king's garden, which is one of the public parks of the Danish capital.

HIGH GRADE WORK OF CITY SCHOOLS.

Eighth Grade Pupils Display a Gratifying Degree of Proficiency.

ARE NOW UNDERGOING TESTS.

Throughout the City General Average
In Spelling Was 90—Showing
In Other Subjects.

The pupils of the eighth grade in the city schools are now in the midst of final tests for promotion to the high school. Today examinations were held in all the schools on the subject of arithmetic and the final test in spelling was held last Friday. The result of that test was very gratifying to City Supt. of Schools Christensen, and the principals and teachers in general. Throughout the entire city the general average in spelling was about 90 and, as the test consisted of 50 words, the average is certainly very good.

The regulations observed in the city schools in regard to tests for promotion to the high school are not generally known to the public and hence part of the circular issued to the teachers and principals on that subject is reproduced herewith and is as follows:

An average of 70 per cent in the following studies, no subject to be below 60 per cent: Reading, penmanship, spelling, arithmetic, grammar, United States history.

The pupils' standing in the above subjects will be determined as indicated below:

Reading—By principal and teacher.
Penmanship—By principal and teacher.
Spelling—To be determined entirely by final test, Friday, May 12.

Arithmetic—Average of records on monthly reports for present semester, one-third; teacher's estimate based on class work, one-third; final written test, May 23, one-third.

English grammar—Average of records on monthly reports for present semester, one-third; teacher's estimate based on class work, one-third; final written test, May 25, one-third.

United States History—By principal and teacher.

A pupil having one minimum, but satisfying all other conditions may be promoted.

It will be seen that in reading, history and penmanship the standing of the pupils is left to the principal and the teacher to determine in whatever manner they choose. In the manner the standing of the pupil from month to month in these subjects is taken into consideration, and his general average throughout the present semester is generally the criterion.

In arithmetic and grammar the average record of the pupil for the three months of the present semester counts one-third, and the teacher's estimate based on class work counts one-third and the final written test makes up the other third. It will be seen that the pupil has a fair show to make up in one of the three points which he lacks in the others. It will also be seen that one minimum cannot prevent a pupil from being promoted. There are some pupils who fall away below the average on one particular subject yet on all others they are up to and above the average, and hence under the system in use here they are not kept back for one study.
