

THE COLONY IS HOWARD BOUND

Salt Lazers Are Deserting the Ocean Beaches of Southern California.

SAN DIEGO THEOSOPHISTS.

Great Institute That Has Been Enriched by Several Millions of Dollars by Devotees.

Special Correspondence.

Long Beach, Cal., Sept. 5.—The end of this week sees Long Beach practically deserted by the large colony of Salt Lazers who have spent a delightful summer at the resort.

Mrs. Anthony Godde and children and Miss Genevieve Knowlton, who were among the first comers, will be the last to go, leaving on the 7th to join Mr. Godde at Caliente and accompanying him home.

Mr. and Mrs. Golden Kimball and family intended to come home this week, but are detained by sickness in the family, which, however, promises to be of short duration, so that their return will probably date within the near future.

Mrs. E. Lewis, who has spent the past two months with Mrs. Joseph Taylor, returns to Salt Lake this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Carter and Mr. and Mrs. Egbert Roberts, formerly of Salt Lake, have taken up their residence at Long Beach for an indefinite time.

Mrs. Elizabeth Dunbar and Miss Moll Dunbar were visitors at Long Beach recently and were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Golden Kimball. Mrs. Dunbar is located in Los Angeles at the St. Lawrence apartment house, near St. James park, the most delightful residence section in the city. Mrs. Dunbar may decide to reside there permanently.

Mrs. E. Kendrick, formerly Miss Effie Russell of Salt Lake, is another well known home girl who resides in the southern metropolis. She has a cosy home on Forty-fourth street, but still professes a preference for her native city.

State Auditor and Mrs. Charles Tingey and family are located on Green street, Los Angeles, for an indefinite period.

The recent girl created by Madame Catherine Tingey, leader of the Theosophical movement in America, made a visit to her home doubly interesting to a little party of Salt Lazers who recently made the trip to San Diego, where her great theosophical institute is located. It is situated on the Point Loma isthmus upon an eminence commanding a view of the beautiful San Diego harbor and occupying several hundred acres, the novitiates in the religion occupying tents or tiny cottages at the foot of the hill, and ascending to higher positions as they gain the higher degrees. At the top of the central crest is situated the temple, and when the theosophical student reaches this pinnacle he is a guru, and it is said that whoever the title may be for a finished candidate for degrees. Every candidate before obtaining membership must give up all his earthly belongings to the society, and it is said that it has already been enriched by these voluntary sacrificial offerings to the amount of several million dollars. The tent, or hut, of a wealthy Salt Lake magnate was pointed out, who has become interested in the cult to the degree of turning over to Madame Tingey property valued at over a million dollars as an earnest of his belief in the principles. He, like the poorest of them, has had to begin "at the foot of the hill" and owns no more of worldly goods than a beggar.

Another woman in San Diego, or rather in its vicinity, whose ability, cleverness or native magnetism has kept about her a large following is a genuine gypsy princess who claims to be the sovereign of 13 gypsy tribes. She lives at La Jolla, a little seaside resort, and many pilgrims stop at the unpicturesque cottage where she is studying for the summer, waiting for an audience. A passing glimpse of her was caught from the roadway as she stood on the porch—a very picturesque figure in her short skirt and girdle of many colors.

La Jolla, in fact, abounds in picturesque objects. There is a great canyon there which is reached by a long tunnelled staircase cut through the cliff. It can also be reached from the sea at low tide, but the danger, even at that period, is so great that the entrance is rarely hazarded. The guide tells the story of a young bride, who came to La Jolla for their honeymoon. It was shortly before the completion of the tunnel, and the groom, determined to explore the cave, declared his intention of entering with the tide. Both bride and groom were bathing in the surf, and when the water began to recede, the bride determined to follow him. There was a long period of anxious waiting, then the brother, by the means of ropes, descended through the tunnel excavation to the cave. He saw no sign of a living soul; but above him in the darkness suddenly appeared a figure in white draperies. It was the sister in her bridal gown, and today the guide shows in a crevice of the high wall this ghostly figure in its clinging draperies floated on the sandstone beach parties after parties found the bodies of the bride couple, washed far back into the side cave.

A more marvelous and perhaps reliable tale told of La Jolla was that of the seismic disturbance there at the time of San Francisco's great earthquake. As the guide stood on the cliff pointing out the entrance to the cave, the sea suddenly receded for a distance of about a block, remained stationary there 40 minutes then rolled back to its place, leaving, however, a margin of several inches more of beach line than before. The only theory advanced was that in the general disturbance a vast crevice might have opened in the sea, sucking the water back. The state biological society which has a station at this point, reports that the tide since the earthquake has never since reached the former point of its height on this beach.

Much valuable data, by the way, have been gathered by the society at this place, and the station is considered so important that monetary endowments amounting to several hundred thousands of dollars have been made for the erection of a great institute or laboratory there. With this and the wireless telegraph station at Lower, to say nothing of the great multi-million endowed theosophical institute all in the near vicinity, San Diego promises to become a mecca for both the scientifically and religiously inclined as well as for the more pleasure-seeker, who may haunt its environs for climate and bathing.

Long Beach, however, remains the ideal rest and bathing resort; and it is almost as common to hear there as in Salt Lake, superlative expressions ending something like this: "Yes, it's a delightful place. I really wouldn't mind living here; sometime I'm coming back."

MURDEROUS ASSAULT.

Ute Indian's Face Slashed to Ribbons By a Negro Last Night.

Little Moon, a Ute Indian from Skull valley, was murdered assaulted by a negro about 10:30 last night. The Indian was found in an unconscious condition lying in a ditch on Seventh West and Third South street. The patrol wagon answered to the call for assistance and took Little Moon to police headquarters. The Indian was covered with blood and presented a horrible sight.

Dr. C. M. Benedict was summoned to attend to the injured Indian and found just 23 cuts which needed immediate attention. It took the physician about two hours to do the sewing. The cuts had evidently been inflicted with a sharp knife.

Little Moon said he met a Spanish speaking negro named "Jim," and that his new friend filled him up on whiskey and then declared he was going to kill him. The negro attacked the Indian and slashed him until the Ute was unconscious. The negro then robbed his victim of $5 and a revolver.

HE WAS MWHIRTERED.

Another Case of a Bogus Officer Robbing a Stranger.

Another case of a bogus officer robbing a stranger has been called to the attention of the police by an Italian named John Murray, from Mackay, Ida. Murray claims he lost $100. He says he met an Italian friend who took him about town to see the sights. The "friend" took Murray down State street and into a dark doorway where two other men were. One of the two had a beard and a star on his chest and was an officer. The "officer" said he had a warrant for Murray's arrest and proceeded to search him. The bogus officer took $100 and then coolly walked off the street with the money. Murray said the men told him to wait a few moments. He did. Then he discovered that he had been robbed and at once complained to the police.

FARMERS PROSPERITY.

Prodigious Increase in the Value of This Year's Crops.

Upward of one thousand millions of dollars more than last year will be the American farmers' earnings in 1907, according to the figures of the U. S. department of agriculture. The production of this year, will be about 10 per cent less in quantity than in 1906, which was the bumper season. But the crops of 1907 will fully equal the average yields for five years prior to last season, says the Orange Judd Farmer.

The preliminary review of the crops of the year, to be published this week by Orange Judd Farmer, also indicates a prodigious increase in the quantity and increased price of the staples this season. It will not over $200,000,000 more to the farmers than last year, while their total gains may be about twice as much.

The farmers' income for the five years ending with 1906 promises to be greater by over 25,000 millions of dollars than the same period in 1905. As the vast industrial prosperity of the past five years has been based upon the agricultural revival, which characterized 1904-7, the Orange Judd Farmer predicts an even better era of good times now than in the recent past because of these marvelous gains in agriculture.

"The farmer is now in a healthy position as he is today—financially, socially, politically, mentally, spiritually. The increase in the value of his real estate has been prodigious. He over-looks money than ever before. He has greater assets than ever. Again, the farmer's wants are greater. He is 'in the market' for more than better breeding stock, farm implements, household goods and other merchandise. He recognizes the extra profit that accrues from the use of better equipment and better methods in his business and in his home."

The wheat crop this year will approximate 625,000,000 bushels, 150,000,000 less than last year. Corn promises to be within 5 per cent as much as last year, and will be two or three exceptions the nearest yield in our history.

The yield of oats will be about 12 per cent less than last year, but there will be nearly the usual quantity of rye, barley, buckwheat, flaxseed and potatoes. The hay crop will exceed last year's a great deal. Orange Judd Farmer says the cotton crop will be around 12,000,000 bales. Apples will be much more plentiful than last year.

The increase in the value of these crops per unit of measurement makes the total value of each crop this year considerable larger than last year. Consumption of farm products more than keeps pace with production. The supply of grain and cotton is less per capita for this two years than for the corresponding period of ten years back. Export demand promises to absorb at fair prices every pound of surplus meat, grain, cotton, etc. that the American people can spare. The grain importing nations of Europe have only moderate crops, and must import more food products than usual. It is important to note that the farmers are getting good prices direct from the market. The hay crop will exceed last year's a great deal. Orange Judd Farmer says the cotton crop will be around 12,000,000 bales. Apples will be much more plentiful than last year.

Many people say (and it is true) that when they eat Grape-Nuts they seem able to digest not only that food but other kinds which formerly made trouble when eaten without Grape-Nuts.

Chew!!
"There's a reason" for it.

If your teeth are fit, chew, chew, until the food is liquid and insists on being swallowed.

If teeth are faulty, soften Grape-Nuts with cream, or hot or cold milk and allow to stand a minute soaking.

"There's a reason" as follows: Grape-Nuts food is in the form of hard and crisp granules, intended to be ground up by the teeth. That work not only preserves the teeth, but brings down the saliva so necessary in the primary work of digestion.

Many people say (and it is true) that when they eat Grape-Nuts they seem able to digest not only that food but other kinds which formerly made trouble when eaten without Grape-Nuts.

SIX DECREEES WERE GRANTED

Half a Dozen Decrees Handed Down by Judge Morse in Thirty Minutes.

ALL WERE DESERTED WIVES.

Case Against R. E. Anderson Dismissed as Couple Settled Their Differences Out of Court.

About 30 minutes was all that was required by Judge Morse yesterday afternoon to hear the evidence in six divorce cases and grant that many decrees. Mrs. Sue Horton was divorced from Ira C. Horton on the ground of desertion. They were married in Rochester, Minn., in 1887 and defendant deserted his wife in 1903. He is a traveling man and has supported his wife since the desertion, but refuses to live with her. She was also allowed $3 per month alimony.

Margaret Dodson was given a divorce from J. M. Dodson on the grounds of desertion and non-support. She testified that she married defendant at Laramie, Wyo., on March 13, 1901, and that he left her one year and five months ago and has ever since failed to support her.

Plano solo—Mrs. A. A. Kerr; Vocal selection—Mrs. H. M. Dinwoody; aria—Meyerbeer; Vocal selections—Mr. Brines (French, German and English).

Desertion and failure to support are the grounds on which Anna Anderson was divorced from Albert E. Anderson, whom she married in 1905. She told the court that her husband was a gambler and had deserted her on Jan. 1, 1906, and she has been compelled to support herself since then.

Della M. Moore declared that Lewis H. Moore had deserted her three years ago and had not contributed anything to her support since then. They were married on March 7, 1898. She was given a divorce.

HE NEVER CAME BACK.

Jennie P. Nicholson told the court that her husband, James H. Nicholson, left her in August, 1905, claiming that he was going to Boise, Ida., to report the National Irrigation congress for one of the Salt Lake papers and did not come back. She was granted a divorce and the custody of their child. They were married on June 14, 1899.

For three years Mrs. Emma Danvers lived happily with her husband, but living because of the fact that her husband, F. R. Daniels, deserted her and has failed to support her ever since. She was granted a divorce and the custody of their child. They were married on Jan. 1, 1906.

Estimates for work on public improvements were approved by the board to the amount of $41,461.50, of which P. J. Moran will receive $46,880.62.

LAST SAD RITES.

Funeral of Miss Betty Williams At The Family Residence.

The funeral of Betty Williams, daughter of Hon. W. N. and Mrs. Charles Smith Williams, was held at noon yesterday from the family residence, 27 North West Tenth street. The services were presided over by Bishop Franklin S. Tingey, of the Seventeenth ward, and a double quartet from the ward choir rendered music for the occasion. The house was altogether too small to accommodate the many who gathered in memory of the young woman, who had been so unexpectedly called.

President Anthon H. Lund, Joseph P. Smith, Elders George Albert Smith, Charles B. Felt, and Bishop Tingey, spoke comforting words to the bereaved family, and dwelt upon the different phases of life and death. Elder D. L. Davis offered the opening prayer, and Elder Walter J. Lewis pronounced the benediction.

The big drag, "City of Salt Lake," conveyed about 20 of the schoolmates of the deceased to the family cemetery. The interment took place, the grave being dedicated by Elder Hugh Watson.

PUBLIC SCHOOL CROWDED.

Registration to Date Shows 14,000 Pupils Already at Work.

From official reports of registration at the various public schools of Salt Lake during the first week of the school year, although the lists do not include all the pupils entered, it is shown that 14,000 boys and girls have already entered upon the new school year. Some districts gave the names enrolled up to and including Friday, while others gave no returns after the middle of the week. So the figures already given are really in excess of the grand total indicated.

The showing is a splendid one, especially in view of the fact that the school year was so much earlier than in former years. Next week will witness a marked increase in attendance. Following is the enrollment in the various districts, including the high school:

MAIN STREET TO BE RESURFACED

Question Discussed by the Board Of Public Works Last Night.

ESTIMATED COST IS $32,000.

J. P. O'Neill of Ogden Gets Contract For Sidewalks in Extension No. 89—Estimates for Work.

The question of resurfacing Main street with asphalt from South Temple to Fourth South street was discussed by the board of public works last night and it was decided to urge the city council to authorize the work at once. It is estimated that the improvement will cost $32,000 and it is the plan to remove all the stone blocks from the sides of the street and from between the car tracks and lay the entire surface in asphalt. It is also proposed to put in cement gutters along the street in place of the present stone block gutters.

Work on repaving the intersections of Main street down to Third South will soon be completed, but the board is of the opinion that it would be bad policy to patch up the paving, but that the whole street for the four blocks should be resurfaced. The only thing that will stand in the way of the improvement at this probability is the lack of funds and that may be enough to defeat it for this year.

THREE BIDS SUBMITTED.

There were three bids submitted for laying the sidewalks in extension No. 89, which was given to the Utah Fire-proofing company two years ago but was left uncompleted by it. The district included all the street where sidewalks are not already laid between Canyon road and the reservation and South Temple and Third avenues. J. P. O'Neill of Ogden was the lowest bidder and the contract was awarded to him. His bid was 19 cents a square foot for a total of $52,210.90. S. Birch bid 22.10 cents per square foot for a total of $61,224, while J. T. Harlan bid 19.5 cents per square foot, a total of $52,623.30.

The board will recommend to the council that the sidewalk work on Main street be replaced with 6-inch mains. The street is now being paved and it is necessary to lay the pipes so the board will endeavor to have the large pipes put in as the small ones are inadequate to supply the necessary water to consumers in that locality.

Estimates for work on public improvements were approved by the board to the amount of $41,461.50, of which P. J. Moran will receive $46,880.62.

C.B. FIZER.

M. R. C. B. FIZER, Mt. Sterling, Ky., writes:

"I have suffered with kidney and other trouble for ten years past. Last March I commenced using Peruna and continued for three months. I have not used it since, nor have I felt a pain."

"I believe that I am well and I therefore give my highest commendation to the curative qualities of Peruna."

Per-na For Kidney Trouble.

Mrs. Geo. H. Simser, Grant, Ontario, Can., writes:

"I had not been well for about four years. I had kidney trouble, and, in fact, felt badly nearly all the time. This summer I got so very bad I thought I would try Peruna, so I wrote to you and began at once to take Peruna and Manalin."

"I took only two bottles of Peruna and one of Manalin, and now I feel better than I have for some time."

"I feel that Peruna and Manalin cured me and made a different woman of me altogether. I bless the day I picked up the little book and read of your Peruna."
