

LI HUNG CHANG'S END WAS QUIET.

Controversy Between Foreign and Chinese Doctors.

HAD NO EFFECT ON PATIENT

Burial Will be at Place of His Birth
—Many Messages of Sympathy—
No Signs of Mourning.

Pekin, Nov. 7.—The end of Li Hung Chang was quiet. His vitality slowly ebbed. For a time he lost consciousness, but he showed great tenacity, rallied at midnight, became semi-conscious, partook of nourishment and appeared to recognize his relatives. The foreign doctors left him early yesterday, saying that nothing more could be done. His personal physician, Dr. Watt, then took charge. The controversy between the foreign and Chinese doctors had no effect on the patient, because he was already beyond hope of recovery.

The flames of the paper effigies of horses burned in the courtyard of the yamen to carry his spirit to heaven told the crowd of officials who were gathered in the narrow street outside that the end had come.

Soon afterward a procession appeared, bearing a costly coffin of teakwood, beautifully lacquered. This coffin Li Hung Chang took on his trip around the world, and he brought it from Canton when he went to Pekin to settle the Boxer troubles. Since that time it has been kept in a temple. The body will be placed in the coffin tomorrow morning with the customary rites.

On Sunday there will be a ceremonial corresponding to a lying in state, and the Chinese officials will pay their respects. A separate day will be designated for the ministers of the powers. Interment will be at the birthplace of the deceased statesman, a little village in the province of Anhui. The day has not yet been decided upon.

The ministers of the powers are personally sending messages of sympathy. The first letter received at the Chinese foreign office came this morning from Mr. Conger, the United States minister, saying that Secy. Hay had instructed him to tender the regrets of President Roosevelt and the United States government at the imminent death of the viceroy.

There are no signs of mourning in the city, although the populace is much excited. The ministers of the powers consider Yuan Shi Kai the strongest man in China after Li Hung Chang, and they think his presence here would have a good influence on the court, but they fear the results of removing him from the province of Shan Tung, the most turbulent province in the empire and the seat of the Boxer movement.

Yuan Shi Kai has controlled the province with an iron hand. The situation there is particularly delicate on account of the friction with the Germans, and the substitution of a man with less tact would doubtless cause uprising and conflict between the Chinese and Germans.

The death of Li Hung Chang is doubly regretted because he was the only influential Chinaman who could deal with the foreign governments with an appreciation of the foreign point of view. Officials attached to Li's household informed the correspondent of the Associated Press today that the Russian minister, Paul Lousar, called early in the morning and strenuously endeavored to have the seal of Li Hung Chang attached to the Manchurian convention before he died. It is impossible to verify this statement from other Chinese sources.

EARLY'S LAST ILLNESS.
New York, Nov. 8.—One of the most intimate friends of Li Hung Chang in this country is Dr. Louis Seaman, of this city. Dr. Seaman, who was formerly a surgeon in the United States army, serving in Porto Rico and the Philippines, spent some time in China during the war of 1899. So close did the army surgeon approach the distinguished Chinese general that a friendship sprang from the doctor's father and Earl Li that at one time he was invited to accept of the hospitality of the viceroy's palace "for a year."

Speaking of the earl's last illness, Dr. Seaman said:
"When I said good-bye to Earl Li last March I did not expect that he was so soon to leave his people. He was a very old man and had been suffering from stomach trouble, dyspepsia and indigestion all his life. It was because he took little or no exercise. In China it is against the dignity of a man to be seen walking, and about all the Earl Li did was to sit in his sedan chair. I tried to argue him into that for the sake of his health he must take walks or other exercise, but in this respect he could not be reformed."
"I do not believe that Li would have died had Dr. Mark been in attendance as usual. Dr. Mark is an exceedingly able physician. But at the time of Li's death he was away with Prince Chuan, who went to Germany on a diplomatic mission for the Germans. Li, when left alone, rarely took any care of himself and it was only by constant vigilance on the part of Dr. Mark that he was kept alive to the ripe old age that he was permitted to attain."

"In stature Li Hung Chang was a veritable giant. His physique was splendid, all except his legs which were undeveloped and thin for want of exercise. They had become atrophied from lack of use."
"The incident which brought us together closer than ever before was when we were discussing the rights of the United States to the Philippines. Li arguing that by right the islands belonged to China. Finally he said that he wanted to know what right the United States had more than any other robber to enter the islands. I answered him briefly, calling his attention to the efforts of Russia, England, Germany, France and Italy to split China, and said: 'I should think, your excellency, you had enough bad eggs in your own basket without wishing for another country that is steeped in war.' The answer he liked, and from that moment he became even more than ever a charming host."

INTEREST IN LI LONG LOST.
New York, Nov. 8.—The personality of Li Hung Chang, says the Berlin correspondent of the London Times and the New York Times, had long ceased to excite any interest in Germany. The public and the official world had discovered that they had been his dupes at the time of his visit in 1896. Because of his title of viceroy Earl Li was treated with almost royal honors in Germany, which probably astonished the wily old mandarin himself. His hosts hoped that on his return to China he would secure large orders for ambitious German manufacturers.

MINISTER WU NOT ADVISED.
Washington, Nov. 7.—Minister Wu Ting Fang has not yet been informed

FAMOUS IRISHMEN TO TOUR THE UNITED STATES.
JOHN E. REDMOND, leader of the Nationalists in the British parliament; Patrick A. McHugh and Thomas O'Donnell, fellow members of the house of commons, have just begun a six weeks' tour of the United States, during which they will explain the objects of the United Irish league. Mr. Redmond declares that home rule has not been abandoned.

by his government of the death of Li Hung Chang and, while crossing, of course, the information conveyed by Minister Conger to the state department. In the interest of perfect safety he has cabled to Pekin for confirmation of the news before taking any action on the subject at Washington.

"China has suffered a great loss by the death of Li Hung Chang," said Mr. Wu today, "and the position he held in Chinese affairs will be a most difficult one for China to fill. He was a great man; he was also a good man, and practically devoted his life to the betterment of the empire and to doing good."

Secy. Hay sent for Mr. Rockhill this morning and had a talk with him over the Chinese situation as affected by the death of Li Hung Chang. Mr. Rockhill, having just returned from Pekin, is better posted perhaps than any person connected with the state department now in Washington.

The officials do not expect any cabinet disturbance in China. A new viceroy will be chosen. The names most prominently mentioned as possible successors of Li Hung Chang are Yuan Shi Kai, the present governor of Shan Tung, and Prince Ching himself, who has been associated with Li Hung Chang as one of the two Chinese plenipotentiaries. Neither of the two great southern viceroys, those of Nankin and Hankow, could be induced to relinquish his post, even to accept the viceroyalty of Chi Li, next to the throne.

It is a source of anxiety here that some person of reactionary tendencies may be appointed to fill Li's place. That would be a more serious matter than almost any other appointment, in view of the fact that the viceroy of Chi Li necessarily will come into frequent and close contact with the legation in regard to the military commanders left by the powers to connect Pekin with the sea.

Minister Wu was a protégé of Li Hung Chang. His friends here fear that to the death of his friend and protector he has exposed himself to attacks of many enemies in the Chinese court which his liberal policies have created. Mr. Wu for some time was Earl Li's legal adviser in foreign affairs and he supervised the construction of the first Chinese railway.

On receipt of official confirmation of the death of Li Hung Chang from the Chinese government, the Berlin correspondent of the London Times and the New York Times says both the Cologne Gazette and the Marine Rundschau contradict the British news which have been appearing in various German journals.

The Cologne Gazette refutes the assertions that the British naval officer, who is effective and that the gunners are inefficient.

The Marine Rundschau declares that any attempt to mislead German opinion in this perilous manner deserves to be repudiated.

A GIGANTIC WATERWAY.
Russia May Construct One from Riga to Kherson.

New York, Nov. 8.—According to the Odessa correspondent of the London Times and the New York Times, the Russian government is considering the construction of a gigantic waterway from Riga, in the north to Kherson, near the mouth of the Dnieper on the Black Sea. It is believed that large sums have already been spent at Kherson, which is eventually to be the terminus of a grand canal system joining the Baltic and the Black Sea.

Delegates to Am. Labor Congress.
New York, Nov. 8.—A dispatch to the London Times and the New York Times from Liverpool says that the trade unionists there held a meeting last night to bid farewell to the delegates chosen to attend the American labor congress. Eric Tillet, in a speech, said they were going to tell the American workmen that the same forces have been at work degrading them as those in England and concluding by saying that the fact that they were pitting themselves against their comrades in the old country would react with the effect of a boomerang upon themselves.

M. DE LANSAN CONDEMNED.
For Abolishing Compulsory Attendance at Mass on Man of War.

New York, Nov. 8.—The Paris correspondent of the London Times and the New York Times condemns M. de Lansan, the French minister of marine, for his order abolishing compulsory attendance at mass on men of war. Some time ago M. de Lansan forbade the draping of naval flags with crepe on Good Friday. He is accused of degrading the fleet. His action, however, fills the radicals, socialists and anti-clericals with joy.

The Gauls criticize the minister's order particularly as it comes just at the time when the French are demanding of Turkey the non-taxation of the French religious communities in the orient and the reconstruction and restoration of churches, convents and schools.

Accounts of Harper & Bros. Approved.
New York, Nov. 8.—Francis C. Canine as referee, has made his report in the supreme court approving the accounts of the Norton Trust company, receiver of Harper & Bros., publishers. The business of the company was bought by the new firm of the same name in September, 1900. The receiver collected $1,651,481. Claims were presented by forty-seven creditors aggregating $2,004,203, and they were allowed. The new corporation held $1,999,077. The balance in the hands of the receiver which is available for distribution is $9,571.

New Cracker Combine Possible.
New York, Nov. 8.—Another attempt is being made to form an association among the independent cracker bakers of the country. Local dealers have received notice of a meeting called for Monday next in Cincinnati. Some significance is attached to this movement in certain quarters because of rumors of a possible "break" war here, similar to that going on in several western cities. It is said here that the Union Biscuit company of St. Louis is interested in the proposed Cincinnati meeting.

Greco-Romanian Rapprochement.
New York, Nov. 8.—The Vienna correspondent of the London Times and the New York Times, commenting on the meeting of the king of the Hellenes and Emperor Francis Joseph says that since the Greco-Romanian rapprochement, under the auspices of Austria-Hungary, the Balkan peninsula has been less at the mercy of the unscrupulous agencies who would bring about a European breakdown of the status quo would undoubtedly find them prepared.

In regard to Crete, says the correspondent, the present settlement is not meant to last for ever. Means will be found to make the condition tolerable for the high commissioner and the Cretans until a union with Greece will be possible with less risk of occasioning disturbances than is the case at the present time.

J. H. Hammond Settles in New York.
New York, Nov. 8.—According to the Tribune, John Hays Hammond, the mining engineer who had an unpleasant experience in South Africa at the hands of President Kruger's forces, is to make his home in this city. He will reside on Riverside drive.

Killed While Duck Hunting.
New York, Nov. 8.—Dr. M. Spalter, of this city, was accidentally killed in Long Island Sound, off New Rochelle, N. Y., by Dr. Edward E. Tull, also of this city, while duck hunting. Dr. Tull was passing a gun to Dr. Spalter when in some manner it was discharged. Dr. Spalter received the load of shot in the head and dying instantly. Dr. Spalter was about 27 years of age. He came from Keene, N. H.

A GIRL'S TALE.
With a Reason for Molesting the Father.

"We have tried for a long time to persuade papa that perhaps his diet had something to do with his ill feelings, he used to laugh good naturedly and say 'my girls, I've been used to eating and drinking ever since I was a boy, I was told that way, no, I fear some change has taken place in my body and I shall never be well again.'"

We often suggested that he leave off coffee and tobacco, but he urged that they did not hurt him and were a comfort, so we acquiesced. Until one day sister insisted on making the coffee. Postum Food Coffee and it was made that way for about 10 days until papa seemed brighter and complained less of his head.

"That's it!" sister exclaimed, and from that day she served Postum alone without any coffee.

Papa never detected the difference for we have learned the secret of making Postum to give it a prime, crisp flavor, it is easy enough, just allow it to continue boiling 15 minutes, counting from the time boiling commences, not from the time it is placed on stove.

Well the dear old soul seemed day by day to take on new life, he began to stay at the office later and was full of fun when he came home in the evening.

The proof is plain enough that, morning after morning, year in and year out, we had been feeding our dear old governor with coffee that is really a strong liquid drug and it was gradually but surely killing him.

When it was partially removed he got a little better and when it was entirely removed and the pure food coffee, Postum, served, his recovery was rapid. We don't fool Papa on many things, but we just had to do this time for he was steadily and surely leaving us and we love the dear old man too much to leave anything undone that will keep him here.

It is woman's privilege you know to tease, cajole and beg, then 'finesse' if the dear old hard headed things won't listen to reason."

GAME THIS AFTERNOON.
All Halls Will Play National Guard Eleven at Walker's.

It is between students and soldiers at Walker's field this afternoon and, of course, each team is sure to win. Manager Hicks says his soldiers cannot be beaten by the Collegians, and Manager Gueymard does not believe his men will lose.

While it is admitted the boys in blue have the better of it in pounds, the Collegians claim better coaching and more snap and ginger. Both teams have met defeat on the gridiron this year and All Halls has gained one victory.

Christy, who was injured in the Y. M. C. A. A. D. W. C. game a week ago, has recovered and will be with the guards today.

FOOTBALL IN OGDEN.
Fine Training Quarters for High School Piskin Chasers.

Ogden has two excellent teams, the Home Guards and the splendid little high school team. The former team is made up of an aggregation of old high school players and others interested in football. The high school team is composed of all registered high school pupils. It is strictly a school team. The latter team is fast making its season's record. So far, it is good. The former team will yet be heard from. They are larger and heavier than the high school boys, but they are drilled and a good coach. Their first game is with the National Guard team at Salt Lake today. Geiger is captain.

Training quarters for the high school team have been completed at Glenwood park. Hot and cold baths are provided, and every convenience is supplied. Every afternoon at 3:30 the team begins work, and from that on until 5:30 when they leave for home, they are put through a series of "drills" and "put them in the best physical condition. After signal practice of some 30 minutes, the two teams (first and second high school) are brought together for a serious and swift struggle lasting some 20 minutes, in which all the new plays are worked out. Then the first team has a few minutes practice in punting and kicking the ball, after which a run of three miles is indulged in by every member of both teams. This is for the purpose of giving them "wind." Then they are sent to the baths, when, after a bath and a "rub-down" they are exercised for the day. Any man absenting himself from daily practice finds his place filled at once by any man on the team failing to keep up his lessons at school is dropped from the team. Three credits is allowed each man for regular and systematic drill in physical exercise.—Ogden Standard.

BUCKERS DEFEAT SUMMERS.
"Dutch Oliver" Seemed to be the Whole Thing Again.

"Dutch Oliver" again made his presence felt in a game of football last evening on Seventh South. "Dutch" got in a fight the other night and narrowly escaped a ride in the patrol wagon. "Dutch" is the star player for the Diamond Bickers and scored the first touchdown against the Summers in yesterday afternoon's game. The teams lined up as follows:

DR. PRICE'S Cream Baking Powder

The difference of cost between a good and a poor baking powder would not amount for a family's supply to one dollar a year. The poor powder would cause doctors' bills many times this.

Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder is the most economical in the end, because it goes further in leavening and insures perfect, wholesome food.

Used always in making the biscuit and cake it saves both health and money. Made from pure, grape cream of tartar, most healthful of fruit acids.

NOTE.—You cannot, if you value good health, afford to use cheap, low-grade baking powders. They are mostly, in spite of the pure food laws, made from alum, which endangers the health. All physicians will tell you that such powders in food are injurious.

James C. Leary's fine driving horse Turk has been purchased by John C. Lynch for $500. The animal has a record of 2:25 and promises to do better. He was purchased by Mr. Leary several months ago and has been greatly admired by horsemen of the city. The animal was bred on J. Y. Rice's farm near Brigham City. Mahomet was his sire and his dam was a brood mare owned by A. C. Beckwith.

AMUSEMENTS.
Last night was a screaming one at the Salt Lake Theater; yet it was not devoid of a great deal of interest. It served to illustrate for one thing, how rapidly the taste of the public has changed. It is only a few years ago since all classes of theater-goers would have rallied and enthused over "Sporting Life." It belongs to the class of which "The Romany Rye," "Youth," and "The Lights of London" were such conspicuous examples, and few plays made more money in their day than those which, yet if produced today, they would run chances of being laughed at, that is by up-to-date theater-goers. They would appeal to the galleries, of course, as heartily as ever, and there is even a big downtown section which likes to be thrilled by their hair lifting developments, is evidenced by the big turnout last night. It was generally, however, a gathering not often drawn to that part of the theater. At 3 o'clock in the afternoon, the advance sale was so light that the management feared all records for empty benches would be broken, but the night sale rolled up like a Republican tidal wave, and the box office must have told something like a thousand dollar tale when the curtain rose.

"Sporting Life" was just as well done as plays of that class ever were in Salt Lake, and the scenic part of it was admirable. The hero was a trifle bulky, the villain was just a little more intense than usual, the cockney comedian and his true love, thrown upon the stage to occupy the attention of the audience whenever the stage carpenters needed time to set the stage behind them, were just what they always were, and the happy woman, a sister of Nance O'Neill, by the way, tried to give her famous sister cards and snafes, and perished in the attempt; still it would have taken a Jeffereys Lewis to have made of the role what the author designed it, and Miss Lombson came fairly well through the fiery ordeal. Needless to say, the galleries almost tore up the benches in their enthusiasm, while the few regular theater goers who were scattered through the house got the full worth of their money, in amusedly watching the curdling unfolding of the play. Its stay was limited to one night, though we do not doubt that it would have drawn just such another audience if it could have remained longer.

The Grand was almost deserted last night, the fact being that its patrons went over in a body to the rival house. These in attendance, however, saw a pleasantly rendered drama, not at all as wild and wild as its name, "The Daughter of the Diamond King," might suggest. The story is quite interesting and the various parts were filled by people who were considerably above the average of the popular priced traveling attractions. A number of good specialties were introduced, the foremost of which was a song by Miss Kempton, entitled "Lahoi" and a traito solo by Miss Wynn. The same bill goes for the remainder of the week and now that "Sporting Life" is out of the way, a resumption of good business may be looked for.

At the Theater tonight Eugene Blair appears in a new dramatization of Charles Reade's noted novel "Peg Woffington."

The sale for "Theodora," in which Mrs. Brune appears Monday, is now on at the Theater. Mrs. Brune is the actress who is better known under her maiden name of Charlotte Tittel.

All next week Miss Johnstone Bennett, who made her big American hit in the comedy of "Jane," appears at the Grand in "A Female Drummer." The advance sale is now on.
