

DRUGGED AND PUT INTO A SLAVE PEN

Essie Hulbert of Salt Lake Rescued by the Denver Police.

WAS STOLEN A SECOND TIME.

Girl of Seventeen, Who Was Married But Seven Months, Victim of The Macquerens.

Introduced by a mutual friend to two supposedly respectable young men, who later proved to be members of the notorious Macquerens society, and who dragged her and placed her in a house of ill fame at Twelfth and Blake streets, Denver, Colo., Mrs. Essie Hulbert, a beautiful 17-year-old wife of but seven months, and who is said to have been before marriage Miss Jessie Capron of Salt Lake, was rescued by Police Serg. Sturges and Patrolman Carney last night, to prevent her transportation to the underworld of New Orleans.

This is the third story printed in the Denver Post. Dilettante inquiry fails to establish the identity of the young man further than the fact that there was a Mrs. Adelaide Capron, a housekeeper at St. Marks hospital a year ago. Capron is given as the name of the young woman's relatives in Salt Lake. No other person of that name appears in the city directory of the past two years.

The Post goes on to state that unwilling to let their prey escape them, the man who abducted the young woman made a second attempt to steal her after she had been released to her husband, Harry Hulbert, an employee of Flood's market, but this was also frustrated, and Mrs. Hulbert is now hid in the city jail, together with Marie Smith, in whose house she was kept a captive. The men succeeded in making their escape.

SAW A STRANGE FACE.

The plan to abduct young Mrs. Hulbert and force her into a life of shame was frustrated through the watchfulness of Serg. Sturges and Patrolman Carney. They were passing along the street when they noticed at the window of one of the "cribs" a face they had never seen before. Entering the house they questioned the young woman. The minute she responded to their first question they found that she was suffering from the effects of some drug, for she spoke in a rambling fashion, and made an answer entirely inconsistent with the question addressed to her. From her manner of speech the officers concluded that she was not used to such a place, and that her presence there was the result of underhand work. She was taken to the city jail and there identified as Mrs. Hulbert. Hulbert had requested the police to make a search for her.

DRUGGED BY TWO MEN.

As soon as her identity became known Hulbert was communicated with. He called at police headquarters and to him she told a harrowing story of having been drugged by two young men, placed in the house and ordered not to show her face at the window on pain of severe punishment. She said she had overheard the two men and a woman living in the house planning to take her to New Orleans and heard one of the men say that the tickets had already been purchased and the trunk checked.

Determined to escape, she watched her chance, and when the Smith woman left the house for a short visit she tried to get out. Unsuccessful in this, she seated herself in the front window. The policemen, passing the place, saw her and entered.

IN THE SAME HOUSE.

Chief Delaney ordered her released to her husband and then sent officers to search for the two men. Three hours later, when Serg. Sturges and Patrolman Carney went back to the house from which they had rescued the girl, hoping to find the men hiding there, they found instead Mrs. Hulbert. She had been given another dose of some drug and was in a much more condition than when first arrested. She and the woman running the house were sent to jail. As yet she has been unable to give a clear account of how she got into the house the second time.

Mrs. Hulbert is an unusually beautiful young woman of the brunette type and is very shapely. She was married to Harry Hulbert at Hastings, Neb., seven months ago, and the couple came to this city five weeks ago. Before her marriage she was Miss Jessie Capron. Her relatives live in Salt Lake City.

Hulbert is almost on the verge of insanity as a result of the attempt to abduct his wife. He has given up his employment and is devoting all his time in aiding the police in search for the men who attempted to abduct her.

EIGHTY-SIXTH ANNIVERSARY.

Pleasing Observance in Celebration of Birthday of Bishop R. T. Burton.

At his country home on South State street last night Robert T. Burton met with four generations of his family to celebrate his eighty-sixth anniversary. The program consisted of vocal and instrumental numbers rendered by members of the family, many of whom have marked talent. In the evening dinner was served in the large dining-room, which had been beautifully decorated in ornate and colorful figures "86" hanging from one wall in chrysanthemums.

Bishop Burton, who is still active in his duties, and one of the presiding bishops of the Church, came to Utah in 1888, and as still owns the home on West First street where he drove his private schooner and settled to begin building his first home. He early distinguished himself in frontier warfare by being one of the cavaliers who did not flinch while chasing an Indian fort at the mouth of Provo canyon. He was then a private in the frontier militia but he was soon promoted to the rank of captain and was in the saddle for the most part of a score of years preceding the establishment of permanent peace with the Indians. He has since been devoted to the work which brought him as a pioneer to Salt Lake valley, and most of his later life has been devoted to service to the Church.

SECOND AVENUE TROUBLES.

People Are Asked to Pay for 10 Feet More Paving Than They Got.

From present indications there is trouble developing for the city administration in the collection of paving taxes on Second avenue between Canyon Road and B street. The macadamized paving is now finished and many of the people taxed for the improvement are desirous of paying their bills and obtaining a settlement. The width of the paved road between these two points is 30 feet, and the original assessment was made on a basis of 40 feet. The natural assumption of the property owners was that they would receive credit for the difference. When they presented themselves at the treasurer's office they were informed that they would be expected to pay the tax just as if a 40-foot pavement, as originally intended, had been laid. Naturally the property owners refused to make the payment, and there the matter rests. What the next step will be is difficult to say, as there is sure to be trouble if the city insists on collecting a tax on a 40-foot pavement, where only one of 30-feet has been laid.

Secy. H. S. Ensign Returns from a Visit to Boise, Idaho.

H. S. Ensign, secretary of the Utah state fair, returned today from a visit to the fair at Boise, Idaho, where he went to pick up ideas for the next Utah state exhibit, and to make arrangements for some of their cattle and sheep to be brought here for the next fair. Mr. Ensign says the principal exhibits were the cattle and sheep, though all the interest was monopolized by the horse racing. The fruit exhibit was strong but there did not seem to be much attempt in the way of general exhibits. Boise is especially beautiful at this time of the year, and roses were seen blooming everywhere. He was also struck by the high prices for fruit. Prices were even more expensive than those in Salt Lake, and on the street bananas were selling at 50 cents a dozen, while in Salt Lake the same fruit hung out are 16 and 25 cents.

Violating the license ordinance by selling "jewelry" without a license. The allegation was that Randolph had sold a "phony" ring. Randolph assumed an air of injured innocence and made an earnest plea to the court.

"It was like this," said he. "I was in Ogden yesterday and met a poor fellow on the street. He had a ring to sell and I bought it. When I got to Salt Lake I went broke and tried to sell the ring. Its the honest truth that I only had one ring and it was mine."

At this point Assistant City Atty. P. J. Daly quietly arose, produced a small tobacco snuff from which he took three gaudy rings which were taken from the defendant. When Randolph saw the rings his face was at first expressionless, then it turned red, white and a sort of green.

"Oh Lord, Oh pshaw!" said he. "I forgot all about 'em. I don't know where I got 'em. I'm guilty all right and I know it all off with me now." Randolph was given 15 days in jail.

Burglar Who Drank Loaded Whisky Defers His Arraignment.

S. E. Daley, the alleged burglar captured yesterday morning as a result of drinking a quantity of whisky containing knockout drops, was arraigned in the criminal division of the city court this morning on two complaints charging him with burglary in the second degree. Daley was not ready to plead and took until Monday morning for that purpose.

Daley is the man who is charged with breaking into the Great American Tea company's office and later in the office of J. J. Egan in the latter place he discovered a bottle of whisky and proceeded to drink liberally of the same. The whisky contained knockout drops and Daley was soon rendered unconscious and was in that condition when Officer Simpson found the fellow.

"DOINGS" AT HIGH SCHOOL.

Junior Class Gives Party Which Seeks Try to Break Up.

Last evening in the "Eaton Gym," the junior class of the Salt Lake High school gave a very successful class party. This party was a "get acquainted" affair for juniors only. The "gym" was decorated with American flags, red and black bunting and a great many pennants from the different schools throughout the union. The patrons were: Mrs. L. H. Gray, Mrs. Paen, Mrs. Walter Jennings and Prof. Eaton.

As an open statement of the Junior class was invited to this party the seniors felt very much slighted and attempted to break up the fun. They had gangs of fellows all over the city trying to catch juniors and take them to the gym. A gang was sent up Canyon Road after the junior class president, Moyle Gray. They caught him, but after a fierce fight, Gray got away and went after his girl, remaining there some time in order to have a few repairs made on his torn trousers and a few buttons sewed on his coat.

Gray wasn't the only one caught. A bunch of seniors was stationed at the main entrance of the "gym," and every junior that came in was seized by the seniors, who painted their class numerals, '08, on the unsuspecting junior's physiognomy. Any junior going without a girl was severely and neatly painted on his forehead with the numerals on his cheek.

FROM JAIL TO HOSPITAL.

William Potter, arrested last night on the charge of vagrancy who was sent to the hospital instead of to jail. Potter was very ill when taken to headquarters and this morning Dr. Paul found the man suffering from a high fever. The case against him was dismissed and it is understood the unfortunate man will be sent to the hospital for treatment.

GOOD BOOKS FOR THE HOLIDAYS.

The work of preparing high class books that will suit the tastes of young and old for the coming holidays is now going on at the Deseret News Book store.

Several years of experience have demonstrated to the satisfaction of the management that the demand for the best literature at Christmas time is steadily growing. To meet this demand, one that ought to be encouraged in all ways, the Book Store has decided to devote the space holiday used for toys and holiday bric a brac entirely to books. Books, therefore, of the best grade, will form the big feature of the Deseret News establishment during holiday time.

Shipments have already begun to arrive, and arrangements have been made with such standard publishing houses as Harper Brothers, McMillan & Co., Dodd Mead & Co., Scribner's, Little & Brown, and many others for their standard works. Even though it is a little early yet, people who want to select books for their friends can have them set aside and securely held until near the holiday dates.

In the meantime the public is invited to inspect the large, rare and beautiful stock of standard literature which the establishment has received and is daily receiving for the holiday trade.

CLIMAX OF THE FOOTBALL SEASON

For Utah Gridirons It Occurs at Cumings Field This Afternoon.

PRESTIGE HANGS IN BALANCE.

Defeat of Utah Means Elimination From Contest for Intermountain Championship.

This afternoon patrons of football are seeing the greatest game of the season to be played on the local gridiron. Victory for Utah means an opportunity to meet the University of Colorado for the Intermountain championship, while if Golden wins, the Colorado desire, which is very strong, to eliminate Utah from the list of big western teams, and humiliate the school which has beaten such large scores from their best offerings, will be satisfied.

The Golden team spent this morning at signal practice in the Kenyon quarters, while Coach Ellsworth visited the local team, and looked over the football field. In appearance the Golden squad is composed of men worthy to win a football game, and if the Utah team is victorious it can count the victory well worth the winner over the best trained men yet lined up to oppose Maddock and his men on Cumings field. Utah at present has a claim on the Intermountain championship through having defeated Boulder last year, after Boulder had played a high game for students with Golden, a former assistant coach at Boulder is here to watch the game for the benefit of his institution. In 1902 he was captain of the Boulder aggregation and an effort was made to have him named as an official today.

He was not selected, however, Bassett, Teetzel and Santachi being chosen as umpire, referee and head linesman respectively.

Last night a rally was held down town that went to extreme limits of rowdiness, breaking into theaters by side doors to give a yell, and creating a condition of "rough house" in general through the business district. Following the plan of a business housewife yesterday, the action was more extreme phases.

He disappeared, but today was seen in a saloon at 66 east First south, with friends of Houghton. They tried to effect a settlement, but the accused man put up a fight and afterwards ran.
