that both the impeaching power and the power of expulsion are remedial only and not preventive.

Potter presented a dissenting report, denying the correctness of the conclusion that a man cannot be impeached or expelled for an act done before he was in office. He argued that the constitution was unsettled, but contended that under existing circumstances impeachment could not be followed by trial the decision of the House on the question would only be a determination of it as an abstract question. He thought now that the matter could only be left to public opinion.

Goodrich also presented dissenting views. He held the same opinion as Potter in regard to the jurisdiction of Congress, and believed that precedents could be found to sustain his view; if not, he was in favor of making a precedent.

At the conclusion of the reading of the reports Butler moved to lay the question referred to the committee on the table.

Poland desired to move to refer it to the judiciary committee.

Cox suggested that in that case, all of the report in reference to the expulsion of members be struck out as irrelevant.

Banks stigmatized the doctrine announced in the report as atrocious, and protested against the attempt to commit the House to them.

He declared that the committee had no right to discuss expulsion, which was in no way referred to it, and severely criticized the committee's action in imposing on the House an irrelevant and unjust argument of a question which did not belong to the resolution referred to it.

Butler defended the action of the committee, and moved to postpone the consideration of the subject till Wednesday next, which was agreed to, 134 to 70.

The river harbor appropriation bill was taken up, considered, amended and passed.

The deficiency appropriation bill was reported and postponed till tomorrow.

The rules were suspended and on the recommendation contained in the President's message of to-day on the bill to carry out the fishery provisions of the Washington Treaty was taken up, and an amendment was accepted providing that the act shall not take effect till July 1873, and that it should not apply to any articles therein mentioned as held in bond that day. The previous question was seconded, and a recess was taken till evening.

Evening Session.—The fishery bill was discussed by Banks in favor, and Conger, Willard and Butler in opposition, and passed, 135 to 40.

The Senate amendments to the naval appropriation bill were considered.

The House bill for the distribution tuted for the Senate bill, and various amendments were made.

day of the season.

LONDON, 24.—Letters from Madrid state that an Alphonso rising is anticipated, and there is great anxiety in consequence. The garrison at Madrid is said to be in a condition of insubordination, and the federals are pressing their policy.

Dispatches from Berlin say that the Russian Government is forwarding large reinforcements to Turkistan. The Khivese merchants are withdrawing from Orenberg for fear that a continuance of the Khivan war may bring them into bad relations. The Moscow Government hints that the establishment of a neutral government with Afghanistan, as intermediary between Great Britain and Russia, is in contemplation of collision between those powers.

MADRID, 24.—The government is reinforcing the troops opening against the Carlists, who contrive to burn railway stations and bridges. In an action at the heights of Miravalles, between the royal forces and the Carlists, the latter who numbered 1,500, fought with great stubbornness, but were finally repulsed.
Many republicans who have volunteered to assist in repelling the Car-lists have been supplied with arms.

LONDON.—Thomas Guthrie the author is dead.

The Russian government has advised to warrant the announcement that the Khivese will shortly sue for peace.

The negotiations for the settlement of the miners' demands in South Wales have failed, and a strike continues indefinitely. The disappointment is bitter, for thousands of families depended on the resumption of work. Gloom prevails in the mining districts.

In the House of Commons this evening John Bright took his seat for the first time since his prolonged illness, and was loudly cheered.

WASHINGTON, 24.—At the sitting of the Pomeroy committee this morning W. Simpson, a member of the Kansas Senate, was examined, but his testimony disclosed no offer of bribery made to him.

The Pomeroy committee have commenced the examination of witnesses for the defence.

NEW YORK, 24.—The Central American bank reports that Commodore Schreger proposed to make his line of survey of the Darien expedition to Bolivar river, and thence downward to the Atrato river, which is regarded as being favorable to the line of survey.

At Mott Haven, this morn., several stores were burned, loss $100,000.

At various points in New England the thermometer ranges 21 to 30 below zero.

LEAVENWORTH, Kan.—The friends of Caldwell are offering large bets that the Senate will reject the Caldwell bill.

CAMDEN, N. J.—A fire broke out this morning in the Pennsylvania R. R. oil shop, which spread to a row of ten houses, all of which are now burning. The flames are arising from Philadelphia.

Later, the fire is subdued, the loss will not exceed $25,000.

Chatham, president of the Wall Bank, has been arrested under an indictment for embezzlement.
Judge Hatchford fixed the bail at $30,000. An appeal was made for reduction.

The Poland committee of the Credit Mobilier will hold a special meeting to-morrow, to determine what to recommend to the House.

The reference to the Poland committee to-morrow on the expulsion resolution, the committee is disposed to allow all the time that can be given, but on account of the presented evidence, the committee will recommend the matter to be concluded to-morrow.

The Poland report relative to the Sioux city and Iowa falls road, under the resolution of the committee, will be submitted to the committee to-day or to-morrow. It is very short and implicates no member of Congress. The report recommends that the Sioux city resolution be laid on the table.

The Morrill special Credit Mobilier committee have heard all the testimony in reference to the charge against the Senators, and will proceed to prepare the report immediately to be presented this week.

The Ways and Means committee this a.m., examined A. H. Bryn-gton, a member of the House, who obtained an increase of subsidy to the Pacific mail steamship company.
He testified that he had no knowledge about the matter.

The Senate refused to lay aside the agricultural college bill to take up the Caldwell case, by yeas 22, nays 37.

to-day, accompanied by Attorney General Williams, and spent half an hour conferring with members of the Senate committee on Election regarding Louisiana matters.

Wm. H. Beck, a blind man and a notorious character residing in this city, has made a confession of murdering two girls, named Mary Henrichy and Catherine Glimmer, aged respectively 11 and 14 years, in June 1870, along the banks of the White river near this city. The murder created the most intense excitement at the time, but was surrounded by an apparent impenetrable mystery, and no possible clue could be obtained to the guilty party. Beck was arrested early this morning. He has become blind since the murder of the children.

It is said on Wall street to-day, that if Boutwell goes out of the treasury on the 4th of March, Henry Clews will be his successor, if he will accept.

In Oyer and Terminer to-day three members, Nixon, Morgan and Barker, were arraigned and pleaded not guilty, and were remanded to the Tombs to await trial.

usually severe, and travelling is
