

KNIGHTS GOING OVER SAN PEDRO

Salt Lake Route Busily Engaged In Booking Special Car
Parties.

FIRST TRAIN FRIDAY NEXT.

Quite a Number Will Step Over in Salt Lake En Route to Los Angeles.

The Salt Lake Route is busily engaged in booking special cars and special car parties with several special trains, all bringing Knights of Columbus delegates to the big convention to be held in Los Angeles during the early days of June.

Among the first special trains to arrive is one coming from Omaha, which will reach here Friday, June 2 at 5 p. m. On Saturday, June 3 the New England delegates will arrive by special train at 9 p. m. This train will consist of six standard Pullmans, with baggage car, and one of the elegant new diners of the Salt Lake Route. Special carload of Minnesota delegates will leave on June 4. This day will be quite a busy one as a special train with the New York state delegates leaves at 8 p. m. The train consisting of eight cars, and still another special with the New York City Knights, which consists of some of the most handsome cars known to the modern builder. This train will leave Salt Lake at 1:40 p. m. June 4, and arrive at Los Angeles at 5 p. m. June 5. This special is due to arrive in Los Angeles at 7 a. m. June 5, which is a very quick run.

AGREEMENT REACHED.

O. R. & N. and Northern Pacific Will Jointly Operate New Hill Road.

New York, May 26.—An agreement, ratification of which has just been exchanged by representatives of the Northern Pacific and Union Pacific executive committees, for the development of the New Hill road, the development of the New Hill road by the building of a joint line into the rich farming country on the borders of Idaho and Washington, involves the construction of about 300 miles of road.

When the New Hill Indian reservation was thrown open to the public some years ago the two systems began to build this territory, which since then has been claimed by each as belonging to it exclusively.

The Northern Pacific built a railroad branch from its main line down to Clearwater. The Union Pacific built a line as far as Pomeroy, in Washington, and ran a steamboat service up the Snake river into the Clearwater country.

Recently both systems sent surveyors into the country to map out more lines, and these surveying parties met. Each informed its superiors of the presence of the other and when the main offices head of it they tried to find out as much about the other's plans as possible. Mr. Harriman, for the Union Pacific, finally met Col. Lamont, representing the Northern Pacific, and they talked the matter over.

The result was that they agreed that the building of two lines was a needless expense. The result is an agreement just announced to build one line and use it jointly. It will run from Clearwater district to a point near Pomeroy, Wash. The main line will run along the North bank of the Snake from Lewiston to Riparia.

It is probable that a new company will be organized to do the work, and that, when the construction is completed the Union Pacific and the Northern Pacific will each lease one-half of the new road.

The above dispatch is correct as far as the main story is concerned, in the information forthcoming at Oregon Short Line headquarters this morning. Of course the Union Pacific does not extend to Idaho, much less to the state of Washington. By substituting Oregon Railway & Navigation company for Union Pacific the story would be complete. For some time past there has been war between the O. R. & N. and the Northern Pacific regarding the building of the line into the Nez Perce territory much upon the same lines as characterized the bloodless battle of the grade between the Oregon Short Line and the San Pedro in the vicinity of Caliente, Nev., some three years ago. Both lines claimed the territory and both have been using every means to head the other off. Now that the matter has been settled as it now appears the new road undoubtedly will open up and develop a very rich section of country.

President of the Utah Northern Pacific
Away at Birmingham.

Royal M. Bassett, from 1877 to 1889 president of the Utah Northern Pacific, died this week at Birmingham, Conn., at the ripe age of 76. It was he and associates who furnished a big part of the money to build the road which was subsequently acquired by the Oregon Short Line. While he never resided in Utah he made frequent trips out here and was well known among the old time business men of this city. For a number of years he was active in promoting and building new lines.

This change will undoubtedly meet with the approval of the many patrons of the popular train from this territory making, as it does, the most famous and fastest long distance train in the world, and in practically a class of its own.

ARE DULY THANKFUL.

Commercial Club Members Send Appreciative Letter to Los Angeles.

Manager Harris of the Commercial club will mail to the Los Angeles chamber of commerce the following letter of appreciation:

To the officers and members of the chamber of commerce, Los Angeles, Cal.—Members of the chamber of commerce of Salt Lake City desire us to express to you their appreciation of the magnificent entertainment received at your hotel during the recent Los Angeles-Salt Lake festivities in and around your wonderful city. They each confess their inability to find terms sufficiently giving to describe the cordial and generous attitude of your organization toward ours.

While they cannot attempt to give even a brief and summary account derived from their visit, they would be remiss were they to fail to mention the educational feature, in showing to find terms sufficiently giving to describe the cordial and generous attitude of your organization toward ours.

In the absence of adequate words in which to express to you their hearty and cordial acknowledgments of the many courtesies extended, let us assure you in simple gratitude, that each member of the commercial club joins us in a grateful and heartfelt "thank you." Very respectfully yours,

HEBER M. WELLS,
ELMER BARNHARTER,
JOSEPH F. CAIN,
J. W. HOUSTON,
B. S. WRIGHT,

The silver will come from Park City, the copper from Bingham, and the gold, from which the initial designs will be fashioned, from Mercury. The letter and mat will be enclosed in a mahogany frame.

THE MAYOR'S VETO

Is Directed Against Appropriation for Lowering Conduct.

Mayor Morris has vetoed the appropriation of $4,000 to P. J. Moran for lowering the Bell telephone company's conduit on east South Temple street.

The reason for the veto is because the bill has never been passed upon by the city engineer, such work being in his department, and hence the mayor contends that he should check up on the bill before it was passed by the council.

PUSHING CONVENTION.

Good Roads Men Believe Meeting Here

There was an enthusiastic meeting held last evening at the Commercial club, on the matter of good roads, when it was agreed to extensively advertise the coming convention of the National Good Roads association, to be held in this city June 2 and 3. All persons attending the various commencement exercises in this city at the dates of the convention are invited to attend it.

Col. W. H. Moore, president of the National Good Roads association, will make an address on the "Roads of the World" at one of the sessions, and there will be music at all of the sessions. The convention will be held in the Assembly hall.

SENIORS WERE SERIOUS.

Sentimental Music and Speeches Prevalent and a Banquet Followed.

Another well filled house greeted the second student meeting of graduation week at the Latter-day Saints' university last evening. It was the senior class night, and the graduating class presented a program of music and speeches mainly serious in character. This phase was a surprise to many in the audience, who evidently expected something more hilarious, after the manner of the junior program the night before. There was an admixture of humor in the proceedings, but the characteristic feature was the sentiment and feeling manifest toward the institution at the thought of leaving it. The allusion to the teachers, for instance, turned out to be complimentary in every case, before the speakers had finished. The songs were somewhat humorously worded, but the sweet melodies to which they were set, gave these also an air of seriousness that obscured the humor. The parting of each piece as duet, trio, or market was a pleasing feature, all the musical numbers being carefully rehearsed. The speeches showed a less thorough preparation in delivery but were spicy and well worded. The burying of the books, with R. Marchant's version of Ananya's funeral oration accompanying it, was the wildest piece of the evening, though the "Reuben and Rachel" duet by Noel Pratt and Smith that seemed to please the audience most of all. "Lighthouse Watch," by Noel Pratt and George Cannon was highly rendered.

The association did not work well, the electric current being so strong as to overheat the apparatus, and render the focusing almost impossible, so that the interesting feature had to be cut short. The delay in beginning was due to a second disappearance of the coffin intended for the burial scene—the "Hiram condenser." This time some of the "Preps" had stolen it, candles and all, and at 8 o'clock several seniors were scouring the town in search of candles, while others were improving a big to take the place of the coffin.

The juniors were present in a body and created much amusement by giving the performers through opera glasses made of large bottles. At the close of the program, the juniors conducted the seniors and the professors to a banquet at the Elmore-Holmes cafe, where a magnificent spread had been provided, and a veritable love-feast followed.

R. W. Young, Jr., engineered the affair and introduced Toastmaster Evans, who called appreciatively upon Seniors George Cannon and Charlotte Wetzel, Prof. Mills and Hinkley, and President Paul. The banquet was concluded by midnight.

The graduation or commencement exercises will be held tonight, commencing at 8 o'clock in Barratt hall, President Joseph F. Smith will speak to the graduates and President Anthony H. Lund will present the diplomas.

Don't miss the "Household on the Sixty." At the Grand Saturday evening, 8 p. m.

GONE TO HIS REWARD.

Impressive Services Over the Remains Of George Hamlin.

Funeral services over the remains of George Hamlin were held yesterday afternoon in the Second ward meeting-house, Counselor Frank Branting presiding. The musical numbers were furnished by Elder Robert Hildaway, who rendered with much feeling, "Comfort, O My Savior," "O My Father," and "The Beautiful City." The speakers were Elder A. Milton Moxley, President Hugh J. Cannon and Bishop Heber C. Iverson, who referred to the many noble qualities of the deceased, who had fought the good fight and had gone hence to receive his reward. The opening and closing prayers were offered respectively by Elders William G. Phillips and Frank Branting. There was a good attendance and many relatives and friends followed the remains to their last resting place in the city cemetery.
