Rotterdam, Holland .-- We are willing to concede the fact that we are but a small place over here, and usually known as the land of ditches and wooden shoes, but we feel at the present time quite large and could lift our heads aloft and shout with joy as loud, we believe, as even the largest of them. Never befor in the history of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints has any foreign mission been bonored with a visit from the president of the Church during his presidency, and, therefore, it is not strange that the Netherlands mission, including the lands of Holland and Belgium, should feel jubilant in being able to boast of having been honored with the first vis-

President Alex Nibley, accompanied by Elder Laurence Y. Thatcher, went to Antwerp to await the arrival of the 5. S. Vaderland from the Red Star

Line, President Nibley expecting his father and mother and two sisters to arrive on that boat. It was Tuesday morning, about 6 o'clock, on Aug. 7 1906, that the great boat began to near port, and as she dew nearer and the party on board was spied, curiosity arose as to whom the gray-bearded man who seemed to be so friendly with them could be, but they were not long held in suspense, for as the boat anchored it revealed the fact that not only President Nibley's parents and two sisters-Hon. C. W. Nibley and wife, and two daughters, Annie and Allcewere on board, but also President Joseph F. Smith and party were memhers of the party. It was, indeed, a surprise, but a very happy one. After a short time spent in Antworp to recruit, the party continued its journey direct to Rotterdam, arriving about noon. A visit was made to the old Pligrim church in Delftshaven in the outskirts of Rotterdam, and then the party returned, visiting the mission office. Here they found elders anxiously awaiting their arrival, although the coming of the president was not a surprise to them, they having received word by them, they having received word by mail the same day that he was on his way to Europe. The meeting, how-ever, was a very happy one. A telegram was sent to President He-ber J. Grant at Liverpool as the boat reased Decer so that the following passed Dover, so that the following morning, Wednesday, the 8th, he also horming, wednesday, the sth, he also arrived in Rotterdam and joined the happy party. The journey was then continued to Amsterdam, where the day was spent in visiting places of in-ternat the Pilter terest, the Rijks museum being among them, wherein is kept Rembrant's famous masterpiece, The Night famous masterpiece, "The Night Watch," as also many other paintings of note. At s o'clock in the evening a meeting was held in the hall in De Wittenstraat 109-111. The elders had lost no time during the day in notify-ing all the saints and friends of the special meeting to be held, and the re-sult was that the hall was well filled, and everybody anxiously awaited the arrival of President Smith and party. There were also saints and elders from surrounding places present, and it would be useless to endeavor to por-tray the expression that beared in tray the expression that beamed in every countenance when the party ar-rived, and again at the close of the meeting when it was announced that the visiting brethren and sisters would stand at the door, and that all desiring to clasp their hands would be granted that privilege. Thursday morning, Aug. 9, the party left for The Hague, and upon their ar-rival there President Smith was made happy by the arrival of his son, Al-vin F., who had come over from Lon-don and was there as the train pulled into the station. Among the places visited in The Hague was the House in the Woods, where the world's farmer the Woods, where the world's famous peace congress was held, and the queen's palace, and an old prison where are kept instruments of torture used in torturing to death those who de-parted from the orthodox bellef. Among these is found a large iron table which was made red hot and the prisoner was forced to walk across same barefooted-if guilty, his feet would be burned, if innocent, his feet would not be burned; and as the guide told us who could talk a little English, "This all happened in the good old summer times." Schev-ening, the beautiful sea resort, was also visited, after which the party returned to Rotterdam, where meeting was held at 8 p. m. in hall Excelsior, St. Janat § p. m. in hall Excelsion, St. Jan-straat 15. Here was a congregation of about 400 saints and friends, including many saints from neighboring branches. There were also 31 elders from this mission in attendance, and three from the mission office. After the close of the meeting, Presi-dent Grant returned to England, while the remainder of the party remained in Rotterdam until the following morn-ing, when they left to visit further on the continent, President Alex Nibley of this mission accompanying them. It is needless to mention the happi-It is needless to mention the happi-ness of our president, Alex Nibley, and Elder Alvin F. Smith, at being able to meet their parents in this land, and, indeed, it did seem that all the elders were participants of their pleas-ure, for all seemed greatly delighted at being able to meet friends from their "Mountain home so dear." The visit "Mountain home so dear." The visit was not only greatly apprecited by the elders, but saints came from far and near to be able to see and hear the man whom the Lord has placed as a watchman over His work upon this earth, and to be granted the privilege of clasping his hand is something that our good people in this part of the Lord's vineyard will never forget. We reel that the good done by this visit will be felt throughout the mission. President Smith enjoyed very much his visit and was delighted at seeing so many saints in this country and s many children. The rest of the party also seemed well satisfied with the country as well as the people.

the Lord had revealed through His Prophet Joseph, among which was the work for the salvation of the dead. Frest, Heber J. Grant sang a solo.

Come go with me across the sea." Elder C. W. Nibley spoke of his acuaintance with the leaders of the Church, and that he knew them to be good, honorable men and that their lives were an example to the people He told of the indebtedness of the Amrican and English people to the Dutch people for the freedom they now en-

The visiting sisters then occupied a few moments of the time expressing rew moments of the time expressing their pleasure at being able to meet with the people, and of visiting their beautiful country. They bore strong testimonies to the truthfulness of the work of the Latterday Saints Prest. Alex Nibley then made a few closing remarks, and benediction was presented by Fides LaCoread Bich pronounced by Elder LeGrand Rich-Prest. Alexander Nibley acted as interpreter for all the speakers, with the exception of his father, Prest, Wells L. Brimhall Interpreting for him, IN ROTTERDAM.

Report of a meeting in Roiterdam, held Aug. 9, 1906. President Clyde A. Hammond called the meeting to or-der at 8 p. m., and the congregation sang "Leid Ons, Groote Meester," (201ds as D. then dreat Meester," (Guide us, O thou Great Jedovah). Prayer was offered by Elder Le Grand Richards, after which the choir saug an English song, "God Be With You." After President Alex Nibley had nade a few remarks of announcement. President Heber J. Grant spoke for a short time on the work that had been accomplished in this mission, and of his appreciation of the faithfulnes the elders in carrying out his wishes and plans.

Elder C. W. Nibley exhorted the saints to be diligent in keeping the commandments of the Lord, and to follow their leaders, and to do all within their power to make their neighbors acquainted with the eternal truth, so that when they should come before the judgment seat of God, they could not say that we have the could not say to us, "You knew the truth and you failed to tell me of it. I would have gladly accepted it had I known. You have deprived me of the blessings by not having warned me."

Elder Alvin F. Smith then spoke few words of encouragement to the brethren and sisters, and hore testi-mony to the divinity of the latter-day and to the mission of the Prophet Joseph. President Joseph F. Smith expressed

He spoke of the requirements made of the elders that they should live circumspect lives, pure asd unspotted from the sins of the world. He spoke of the love that should exist in families, and said, "Let us exercise that love and charity that forgiveth and that will bring to us the affection of those with whom we are associated that we may be united in the bond of that greatest law of God, to love God with all our hearts and like unto it, our neighbor as ourselves. He spoke of the work for the dead without which we cannot be made perfect. Also exhorted the brethren and sisters to keep the Word of Wisdom. He hoped the time would soon com-
