THEATRICAL.—Schiller's powerful drama of "The Robbers" was received with great favor by the audience yesterday evening, and the performance may be considered one of the best given here this season. Mr. McCullough gave us a masterly delineation of Charles de Moor. His dignified, noble bearing, superior declamation, finished and graceful movements and the ardor he displayed, won him the admiration of all present. Madame Scheller played the small but beautiful part of Amelia, and a more finished rendition of the true and devoted bride of Charles de Moor, devoted even to him when she finds out that her lover is a robber, cannot well be imagined. Her two songs "O happy be thy dreams" and the flower song from "Faust," which she sang with exquisite expression and feeling, met with a rapturous encore. The Francis de Moor of Mr. Waldron created a deep impression. It was the very essence of villainy, and we have never seen the part so truthfully rendered before. His "Iago" and his "Francis" are two companion pictures, worthy the touch of a Rembrandt or Rubens. Mr. McKenzie's "Old de Moor" found a responsive echo in the hearts of the audience. He portrayed the character with touching fidelity. Mr. Hardie's appearance as "Switzer" elicited general admiration, and he also acted the part well. Mr. Margott's "Spiegelberg" was a trifle overdone, but it created great hilarity among the audience.

This evening one of Shakespeare's greatest master pieces "Richard III" will be performed by the great star combination and the entire strength of the company. Richard III. Mr. McCullough. Richmond, Mr. Waldron. Lady Anne, Madame Scheller. Queen Elizabeth, Nellie Colebrook.

On Monday next another Shakespeare night—Macbeth. Mr. Lawrence Barratt, the famous tragedian and comedian is expected to arrive in Salt Lake City to-day or to-morrow and we trust he may be persuaded to give us at least one of his great performances.

WORTH REMEMBERING.—The Denver Tribune, of the 28th ult., says "The detective officers tell us that since the hanging of Musgrove on Monday last about all of the suspicious characters whom they have been watching, have suddenly departed. Good riddance to them says everybody." Hanging seems to be very effective in that quarter.

SANDWICH ISLANDS.—By letter from Elder George Nebeker, of Laie, to Elder James Lawson, of this city, we learn that during the past season the brethren have been busy putting up buildings and machinery for the manufacture of sugar, and that they have every requisite for the manufacture of a No. 1 article. On the island of Hawaii they had raised the heaviest crop of cane raised on the island. Bro. Nebeker's letter was dated on the 21st of October, and he says, that in a few days from that date, they expected to commence harvesting their crop. The elders were prosecuting their labors among the natives, and the meetings at Laie were well attended. Business, generally was dull.

TENTH WARD LECTURE.—On Tuesday evening next, Elder James Phillips will deliver a lecture in the 10th Ward school-house, upon "Descriptive Geography." These lectures are designed for the amusement and instruction of the citizens in the eastern part of our city, and are deserving of the attendance of those residing thereabouts.

WEATHER ITEM.—By Deseret Telegraph we learn that the weather this morning at Logan was clear and from; Provo, sun shining very bright, pleasant; Nephi, cold and cloudy, heavy snow-storm last night; Mt. Pleasant, partially clear, and quite cold, snow fell last evening about two inches; Cove Creek, cold and clear, about four inches of snow fell last night; Beaver, clear, but very windy and cold, snowed quite hard last night; Cedar City, clear but blowing very hard, snowed about three inches last night; Jaker, clear and windy; St. George, windy, clear and cold. Thermometer 54.

APPRECIATIVE.—At the close of a song by "Miss Clara," during a concert given recently by the Bell Ringers at Virginia, Nevada, a ten cent piece was thrown upon the stage, as a mark of his admiration, by an enthusiastic admirer of that young lady's vocal powers.

"STRAWBERRY PLANTING."—Under this head the Helena Herald of the 28th ult., says "Parties who are said to know what they are about, are preparing ground on the table-land north of the city, below the Big Ditch, with the view of raising strawberries on an extensive scale. For some time past the ground has been secured, and they are to be planted in the ground before snow melts. The Montana market promises to have a plentiful home supply of this delicious fruit another season."

TRY IT.—The Helena Herald says "a lady friend of ours, who has suffered much with sick headache, says she finds relief in the following simple prescription: Two spoonfuls of finely powdered charcoal in half a tumbler of water. It cures it in fifteen minutes."

PROWLER AROUND.—Last evening, Bro. Stewart, of Beaver, having business on East Temple street, left his wagon, containing, among other articles, a sack of sugar and a package of books, between Jennings' warehouse and the Meat Market. He was away about twenty minutes, and when he returned he found that the sugar and books had been stolen. No trace of the thief has been obtained.

Time was in the history of our city, when any amount of valuables could have been left on our streets, with perfect safety, for any length of time, either night or day. But those halcyon days have "gone from our gaze," for a time at least, and our citizens, in this country especially, must be cautious, remembering that there is more than considerable of "civilization" around just now.

RETURNED.—The indomitable and indefatigable "Fred," of the firm of Crony & Co., arrived home early this morning from Bryan, to which place he started about three weeks ago, for the purpose of forwarding freight lying there. All who entrusted Mr. Parris with commissions will be pleased to hear that his success has been greater than his most sanguine expectations led him to anticipate. He says that freight from Omaha is now being pushed rapidly forward to the terminus.

SUDDEN DEATH.—The Cheyenne Leader of the 1st instant says that on the evening previous, a man named Wm. Mitchell died suddenly at the Minnesota House in the city of Cheyenne. A coroner's inquest was held on the body, the verdict being that the deceased came to his death by too freely imbibing intoxicating drinks.

Special Notices.
