

ship, and have no idea that extreme steps will ever be taken in the matter of unseating Hayes."

Jackson, Mis.—According to instructions, a reporter called on Governor Stone, of Mississippi, today, and, after a few commonplaces, the Governor said: "While I may have my own private views on the subject I have no public opinion to express at this time. I am not prepared to say what the people of Mississippi think, as there has not been sufficient expression from them to warrant an opinion one way or another."

Austin, Texas.—Have interviewed Governor Hubbard as desired. He will be governed by the action of Texas legislators in Congress, believing that being present, and having all the facts before them, under the proposed investigation authorized by the Potter resolution, they will be, in conjunction with other democratic delegates from other States, the better judges of the course to be pursued. He would deprecate hasty and inconsiderate action, but will abide by and sustain the matured action of our representatives in Congress.

Nashville, Tenn.—Your correspondent solicited an interview with Governor Porter, of this State, today, and obtained the following declaration: The State of Maryland has declared, through her legislature, that due effect was not given to her vote, because the choice of the people was annulled by fraud stimulated by corrupting influences. When this allegation of fraud was made by one of the States no alternative was left Congress, in my judgment, but to investigate the charges. The country wants the truth, and will not be satisfied short of the fullest investigation. There is no danger of a condition of anarchy, and I am very certain that the investigation contemplated will have no injurious effect upon the business of the country.

Wheatland, Indiana.—Your correspondent interviewed Governor Williams, this afternoon, concerning the unseating of President Hayes. He said, in answer to a question: "He can be removed by impeachment for some act committed by him. In regard to the electoral commission, if I made an agreement, I should stick to it, as I suppose the democrats will do." He remarked, that if the office of government had created such a disturbance he would have resigned immediately.

Indianapolis, Ind.—Your correspondent sought an interview with ex-Governor Hendricks, this afternoon, on action of Congress in the adoption of Potter's investigation resolution. He declined peremptorily to be interviewed when the reporter first stated his errand; but finally among other things, he said: "I, in common with every citizen, will watch, with interest, the progress of the investigation ordered by Congress."

Springfield, Ills.—The passage of the Potter resolution by the Federal House of Representatives, yesterday, has been the general theme of discussion, to-day, especially at the capitol, and opinion is divided as to the wisdom of the act. The State officials generally deplore it, holding, as they do, that it is part of a deeply-laid scheme to unseat President Hayes, and that a serious attempt of that kind would precipitate the country into a revolution. Gov. Cullom deprecates any attempt to test the validity of the President's title to his office as one fraught with great mischief.

St. Paul, Minn.—Governor Pillsbury is of the opinion that any movement which looks to the unseating of Hayes, or which promises to disturb the settlement of the pre-idential question made by Congress, would be as unwise in the party which attempted it as it would be futile in its results. He believes that the people of this State, without distinction of party, would look with great disfavor on any such movement.

Des Moines, Iowa.—A correspondent of the Herald sought Governor Gear, at the Executive office, to-day, to get his views regarding the agitation of the President's title. He was surprised and shocked to think the question of ousting Hayes should be seriously thought of, and especially that aggressive action should be contemplated by Congress. The Governor said: "I regard Hayes as President de facto and de jure, and I will use the power of my office to maintain him as such to the last man and the last dollar."

Denver, Colorado.—Your correspondent, to-day, interviewed John

L. Routh, Governor of Colorado, upon the effort to unseat President Hayes. The governor's views, briefly stated, are, that as a commission was created by special act of Congress to canvass the electoral vote, and as the President's title to the office was passed upon and settled by that commission, which declared Hayes legally elected, there is no power, except through impeachment, revolution, or death, that can remove him.

St. Johnsbury, Vt.—Judge Poland says: "I did not think there was any need of an electoral commission. I believed the provisions of the constitution were complete for the purpose of determining who was elected president. But the commission was created by law, and acted in obedience thereto, and both houses of Congress think this conclusive, and I know of no power in Congress, under the constitution or laws, to overturn or override that decision by a new contest over the vote for electors in any particular State."

Little Rock, Ark.—Since the introduction of Potter's resolution, I have consulted several leading State officials, and while its object does not seem to be thoroughly understood by the public at large, the feeling unmistakably exists that the democrats in Congress should stamp with fraud the administration of Hayes. The democratic press of Arkansas is a unit in favor of the passage of the resolution. State politics is the all-absorbing topic. Gov. Miller is absent electioneering the State.

Carson, Nev.—The governor being absent, I have consulted judges and other State officials, and the principal business men of this city, and find it the unanimous opinion, irrespective of political bias, that any attempt to unseat the President would be unwise, impolitic, and calculated to promote rebellious sentiment. This seems to be the general opinion of the people of Nevada, and from knowledge, I pronounce the feeling to be reciprocated in the sister State of California.

Madison, Wis.—Governor Smith has been in Washington for two weeks and has not yet returned. Interviews with other State officials, leading politicians, and prominent citizens of all political parties, clearly indicate that any attempt to unseat President Hayes would meet with almost a universal protest in Wisconsin.

Austin, Texas.—The State Gazette, to-day, assumes that in the nature of things there is no well-formed public opinion of Texas on the subject of unseating Hayes; therefore, before the adoption of Potter's resolution, measures looking to that end were deprecated. The question now assumes a new phase in belief that the testimony exists of Hayes' usurpation. Should it appear that he was a party to the fraud, opinion favors his removal, and the election, by the House, of a new President.

Topeka, Kas.—Governor is absent. The people of Kansas are divided on the President's policy, but the great majority of them deprecate the present agitation concerning his title. They are convinced that this will create distrust in commercial circles, and have a depressing influence upon the business interests of the country.

Annapolis, Ind.—The Governor and Secretary of State were out of this, and I could therefore get no opinion from them. The people here take a lively interest in the investigation, but they are pursuing the even tenor of their way, and appear not to have very much apprehension as to Hayes remaining or Tilden becoming President.

Trenton, N. J.—Gov. McClellan is reported to have gone to Atlantic City, but a message from the latter place denies his presence there, and he is not to be found.

Salem, Oregon.—Gov. Chadwick is absent from the city, and his opinion could not, therefore, be obtained.

NEW YORK, 20.—The Herald's Southwest Harbor correspondent, who interviewed the men on the Cimbria, says it is quite evident that Russia intends to equip an Atlantic fleet, war or no war; and the announcement that Cramp has sold the State of California to the Russian government is hailed with delight by these officers, who are, of course, anxious to be released from their confinement on board the Cimbria, and tread decks of their own.

The World's Washington special, speaking of Randall's committee on the Potter resolution is considered here to be one of the very best committees Randall ever appointed. The republicans are not very enthusiastic over Cox, whom they regard as a cautious, conservative man, without the ability or boldness of Butler or Frye. Lapham they do not complain of, and on the whole the democrats and republicans very generally approve of the selection.

WASHINGTON, 20.—United States Minister Seward writes of the famine in China: That actual famine is pressing upon 15,000,000 people, while 60,000,000 are suffering more or less distress. The crops have been good immediately around the stricken districts, but as food can be transported only on wagons or pack animals, it cannot be taken thither in sufficient quantities to save the lives of the people.

In Tienzin, a house made of mats, for the accommodation of suffering women and children from the famine districts, was burned and 150 lives lost.

PHILADELPHIA, 20.—Speaker Randall left this city for Pittsburg, last night, to attend the democratic State convention. Before leaving, he decided upon the following as a select committee of 11 on the Potter resolution: Clarkson N. Potter, N. Y.; Wm. R. Morrison, Ills.; Eppa Hunton, Va.; John A. McMahon, Ohio; H. S. Blackburn, Kentucky; W. S. Stenger, Penna.; Thomas E. Cobb, Indiana (democrats); B. F. Butler, Mass.; Frank Hiseock, N. Y.; J. D. Cox, Ohio; Thomas B. Reed, Maine (republicans).

FOREIGN.

LONDON, 18.

The following is the text of the cotton masters resolution, at Manchester yesterday:

"This committee, having carefully considered the proposal made by Alderman Pickop, on behalf of the operatives, resolve to arrange for the mills being reopened immediately. The weavers, winders, warpers, loomers, etc., connected with the weaving department, and the spinners and card-room hands throughout the strike district agree to return to work at a reduction of ten per cent., and this committee will be prepared to meet the operatives in three months, or at any other time, in conformity with the usual mode of procedure. The papers carefully point out that it is operatives, not the masters, who surrender, and that the meaning of the resolution is that if the operatives return to work at the reduction now, they will receive better wages as soon as the employers feel that their trade can afford it and not sooner."

Never Taken in Vain.

There is no variety of disease affecting the throat or lungs in which HALE'S HONEY OF HOREHOUND AND TAR will not afford immediate relief, or which it will not eventually conquer. From simple hoarseness up to the hard ringing cough, oppression on the chest, and expectation of mucus, which denote the near approach or actual presence of consumption, it is the one unerring remedy. It does not merely mitigate or allay, it cures. There is no stage of pulmonary disease in which it is not eminently useful.

The Osborne Self Binder at work in the field.

LOS ANGELES COUNTY,
Cal., May 11, 1878.

M. Ayers, Esq., San Francisco, California:

DEAR SIR: Having to-day tried one of your Osborne Self Binding Reapers in a field of barley that was badly tangled and fallen, I find it a perfect success, not failing to bind a single bundle. After trying it to my entire satisfaction I have purchased and paid for it and cheerfully recommend it to any one having grain to cut.

Yours respectfully,
E. W. WORSHAM.
