MRS. DOWNEY RETURNS.

LYNCH AND KING
BOUND OVER.Alleged Slayers of George Prouse to Stand Trial for Their Lives.

DISTINGUISHED VISITOR.

Just how Distinguished, However, it is Impossible to Learn.Captain S. Rowland Timson came to town yesterday from the east and adjourned to the Knutford.
A moment later the legend "Common Mrs. Rowland Timson and W. F.
Cooper, Berkhamsted, England," informed the hotel register in truly typical chaperone affected by the average Briton.Just who Captain Timson is will have to remain among the mysteries of His Highness the Chancery.He is a tall, thin man with a very small stature, a ruddy complexion, an incipient mustache most fervently waxed, and with a most imperial deportment. Whether Captain Timson holds a commission in the Queen's Household Brigade or the Berkshire militia or a command upon a boat on the River Thames, Alabam cannot be told.Just who Captain Timson is will have to remain among the mysteries of His Highness the Chancery.The first witness was Chief of Police Hilton who testified that he found a handkerchief answering to the description of those that were in evidence in his desk in his office. On inquiring he learned that it had been placed there by Sergeant Burbridge, and that it had been found hanging over a chandelier in the Headquarters' saloon.Chief of Police, a waiter testified that he knew King; that he first met him in Spokane, where the latter won some money in a gambling game. King then went to Seattle, Washington. When he next met King in Salt Lake, the latter part of August, he said, he had met him every day up to the time of the shooting. Witness testified that he and King, and two men named Dunbar and Norrell went into Kitty Hick's place on Commercial street, on the Sunday night preceding the shoot-
